To George A. Wereley

I want to pay a tribute to one
A citizen in our Town
Who, when the hero's praises are sung
Will wear a golden crown.
He has been a hero amongst us
As he went along his way.
In all that he says or does
Let us for him pray.
He has always been so brave
In spite of the cross he bore.
Ore him a flag we should wave
For the cherry smile he wore.
No frown ever crossed his brow
As bravely his cross he carried.
And we can pay tribute now
And be glad that with us he tarried.
When we may complain of the little thi...
That may happy us now and then.
Just put yourself in his place
For just one little hour ...
And copy the smile upon his face
As your problems seem to tower.
No one knows the pain he's been through
As he lived from day to day.
And none of us ever knew
The hard path that before him lay.
Let's hope that in a better world
His cross will be thrown away.
And he will stand there with flag unfurled
As hero of the day.
So cheer up George the hardships that you have
May never harm you there.
For we know the place where you have gone
Will erase your pain and care.
Composed by Mrs. Glenn Skuse

Lt. James Lynch Visits Arabic Sheik

We are printing the following account of a trip made as guest of the Sheik of Kuwait, from an interesting letter sent by Lt. James P. Lynch to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Lynch:

1, March 1951
Ras Tanura
Persian Gulf

Dear all:

Just got back to refuel at Ras Tanura from Kuwait. We were gone about a week. I got ashore several times and went on some shopping parties. I picked up a couple of small Persian rugs and a few other articles.

The most outstanding event of the relaxtion period was my being invited along with five other officers, as a guest to dine with the Sheik of Kuwait. We left the ship about 11 and got to the dock around 11:30. Transportation met us and took us cross country for about 10 miles through the desert to the Sheik's Palace. It looked like a big night club. We were ushered from the car and into the palace between rows of armed guards to meet the Sheik. Each one greeted him personally and talked to him through an interpreter. No native women around at all but about 15 of his friends—political or relatives, made up his court. We met them all. A real strong, straight coffee was served, about an ounce to a serving. About 1 o'clock we were taken to the dining hall which was through the court yard. Water was poured on the right hand and dried. We sat on the floor with our legs under us. This room was about 15 feet wide and at least 100 feet long. I never saw a table so well laidet. We were versed before hand as to what to do when we ate—only with the right hand, no silverware or chairs. One just grabs what they want and throws it down. On the contrary, every-

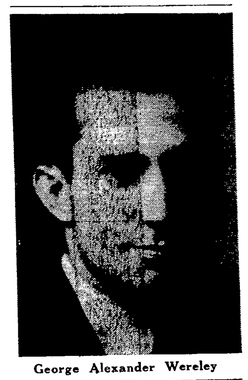
George Wereley Dies After Long Illness

George A. Wereley, linotype operator and printer at the Andover News office for the past 28 years, died at St. James Mercy hospital in Hornell at 12:40 Friday Morning, March 9, 1951, after 15 years of ill health caused by a throat ailment which necessitated the care of a specialist and several operations.

With his duties in the mechanical department at the News he also wrote a column for the News under the heading of "Wandering With Willie" and in 1946 he gathered the information and published, at his own expense, a historical book "My Album of Andover's Part in World War II," the only book of its kind known to be published in regard to those taking part in that war from a town of Andover's size.



George Alexander Wereley

Mr. Wereley was an exceptional workman and his years of conscientious effort on the News force is an unreplacable loss to us. During the years of his affliction his sheer grit and loyalty to his job, in which he had as much interest as if it were his own, brought him to the office day after day when others would not have made the effort.

George Alexander Wereley was born September 19, 1906 at North Lancaster, Ontario, Canada, the son of George C. and Flora C. MacDonald Wereley and came to Andover with his parents 32 years ago. He was married, May 9, 1928 to Berneata R. Snyder, whose vigilant care and attention was a great help to him in his affliction. He received his final naturalization papers for citizenship here in 1942.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wereley of Andover, three brothers, John and Dalton Wereley both of Elmira, Gordon Wereley of Friendship; and two sisters, Mrs. Isabelle Burger of Andover and Mrs. Florence Childs of Portville.

Mr. Wereley was a member of the Blessed Sacrament Church of Andover and the Holy Name Society. He was also a member of the Andover Fire Department, in which he served several years as chief and the Andover Rod & Gun Club.

A prayer service was held at the home at 9:30 Monday morning followed by services at the Blessed Sacrament Church at 10 o'clock, the Rev. John R. Shea officiating with interment in Gate of Heaven cemetery, Andover.

Floyd Farwell Dies Suddenly At Hospital

Floyd M. Farwell, 65, proprietor of Farwell's Barber Shop in Andover for the past 36 years, died suddenly about 9:30 Friday morning, March 9, 1951 at St. James Mercy hospital in Hornell. Mr. Farwell, who had not been in good health for some time, fell on the ice Sunday, January 14 fracturing his left wrist. The injured wrist was not doing as well as it should and he went to the hospital for treatment a day or so before where he unexpectedly passed away.

Mr. Farwell was born August 10, 1885 at Phillips Creek, the son of Frank and Delia McManus Farwell. He was married July 20, 1912 to Martha M. Beavers and came to Andover about two years later where he has since resided.

He is survived by his wife, a son Daniel Farwell of Rochester, two daughters Mrs. John Winslow and Mrs. James Gilbert, also of Rochester and five grandchildren.

Services were held Monday afternoon at the James B. Mulholland Funeral Home, the Rev. Albert N. Rogers, officiating. Burial, with Masonic rites in charge of Andover Lodge No. 558, was in Hillside cemetery, Andover.

DuBois' Seven Last Words to be Presented Sunday

The choirs of the Andover Presbyterian Church and the Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church, combined under the direction of George Holden, will sing the cantata "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Theodore DuBois Palm Sunday at the 10:30 service in the Andover Presbyterian Church according to Albert N. Rogers, supply pastor.

Soloists will include Mrs. George Holden and Mrs. Elmer Willard, sopranos, Fred M. Palmer and Kent Harder, baritones, and Elmer Willard and Mr. Rogers, tenors. Oscar Burdick, organist at the Alfred church, a graduate of the Milton College School of Music will accompany the choirs. Mr. Holten is music supervisor in Andover Central School.

The music of DuBois is highly descriptive and pictures the striking contrast between the words of Christ on the cross and the loud cries of the mob which mocked him. The composer was director of the Paris Conservatory from 1896 to 1924 and was widely honored for his work as teacher, organist and conductor. The text of the cantata is largely Scripture.

Members of the joint choir include with the soloists, Mrs. Jack Rosintoski, Mrs. Gertrude Kupp, Miss Rose Marie Emerson, Mrs. Bertha Hardy, Mrs. Radney Davis, Miss Rubie Clarke, Miss Rena Clarke, Miss Sandra Boswick, Mrs. Hugh Barlow, Mrs. Kenneth McClure, Mrs. Albert N. Rogers, Miss Elaine Schnautz, Mrs. Robert Lewis, Miss Dorothy Ormsby, Mrs. Frank Snyder, Miss Carol Briggs, Kenneth McClure and Edward Palmer.

The cantata will also be sung at the regular service Saturday in the Alfred Station church at 11:00 a. m. where Mr. Rogers is resident minister.
