Better Health For Children

A Community Service Issued by Children's Hospital of Buffalo, N. Y.

The Children's Hospital of Buffalo opened its annual appeal for sustaining funds on Monday with the approval of the Citizens Appeal Review Committee. The campaign is being conducted by mail to eliminate personal solicitation. Enclosed in each letter is a folder describing three cases which are typical of those which make it necessary for the hospital to seek voluntary contribution.

During the first six months of the current fiscal year the deficit amounted to $46,962.00. During the same period a total of 5,937 patients were admitted. Many of these children were desperately ill with complicated conditions, others were admitted for the more commonplace sicknesses of childhood.

Because of the hospital's high standard of specialized child care frequently patients are referred from such far away places as Texas, Virginia, and Maine. These children usually suffer such comparatively rare conditions as acute leukemia, chronic nephritis or subdural hematoma. Such cases are commonly seen at Children's Hospital because of its research facilities which have enable the hospital not only to keep pace with rapid medical advances but to contribute to them.

A typical case was that of a ten month old baby who weighed only twelve pounds. She had survived since birth on a diet of cow's milk only and was suffering from chronic convulsions when admitted. Twenty-one complicated laboratory procedures were needed to diagnose her condition. She spent a total of nine months in the hospital, during which time she had three operations and sixty-one laboratory tests and studies. The cost of this baby's care amounts to nearly $4,000.00 none of which the hospital can collect because of circumstances beyond the parents' control.

There are hundreds of such children to whom Children's Hospital, the only completely pediatric hospital in this area, extends its life-saving, specialized services. In making its 1951 solicitation, the hospital reminds the public that although it is able to save children's lives, only voluntary contributions can convert this ability into reality. Only voluntary contributions can maintain the extension of services to indigent but none the less valuable children.

All contributions — large or small—will be welcome, and will be put to work for sick, crippled and injured children. Contributions should be addressed to the Sustaining Fund, Children's Hospital, 219 Bryant Street Buffalo 22. N. Y.

Quakers are gentle, calm folk. One such awoke one night to find a burglar systematically looting the house. Gun in hand, he quietly walked toward the man.

"Friend," he said, "I would not harm thee nor any man for the world, but thou standest where I am about to shoot."

The burglar fled.

Notice to Prespective Greenwood School Bus Users

Any resdents in the Greenwood Central School district, not living on the present bus routes, who anticipate sending children to school in September 1951, are requested to contact the Board of Education or school Principal by April 9. Failure to contact the board at this time may necessitate the child's walking to meet the bus.

The recently enacted teacher salary law will result in a payroll increase of about $4,500 and cost of transportation for next year will approximate $12,000 with another $4,300 tagged for retirement of bus bonds.

Total receipts for 1951-52 for school purposes will be about $115,000. A detailed budget will be presented at the annual school meeting, July 10, 1951.

D. FRANK, Principal

Funny thing about temper. You can't get rid of it by losing it.

70-YEAR GRANGE member has turned up over in Wayne County and been given a fair share of the honor due her. She is Clara Yeomans of Walworth Grange. We didn't say she was seventy years old, we said she has been a member for that length of time. We are not so foolish as to go around asking women's ages, but Clara must be 84 because one cannot become a Subordinate Grange member until 14. Anyway, her neighbors and friends are congratulating her, and a good many turned out for the reception in her honor.

There is at least one other older Grange member in the state and a woman in Pennsylvannia, last we knew holds the record at 73 years. Albert Cornell, former York Stater, whom many of you met at Elmira sessions last fall, is an active 89, with 72 years of service. If you know of any member with more years of membership, write us about it.

DAIRYMEN and others who are accustomed to listening to David Lawrence, editor of U. S. News & World Report, and a radio commentator of note, will be glad to know that their own, milk-producers-sponsored organization, American Dairy Ass'n, have secured his service for a broadcast over national NBC hook-up Sundays 3:30 to 3:45 Eastern Time. Harold M. Stanley, State Grange secretary, and president of American Dairy of N. Y., made the announcement following his return from a dairy industry rally at Chicago recently. The radio program, Mr. Stanley points out, is part of an extensive 1951 expansion of facilities to promote the sale of dairy products and fluid milk. A. D. A. carries on a vast program using radio, television, magazine and newspaper advertising.

COMMUNITY SERVICE projects are being reported all over the state, with a possible increase over last year. We understand that some Granges are trying these plans with their Goss Memorial Membership drive. This is a usual outcome, we mean an increase in membership: when once a Grange branches out into community service and discovers ready and willing prospective members. A contest plan worked out over in Chenango county will be forwarded to each Grange by the State Master. It may be the answer to your own problem of stirring up new members.

The Jones hadn't been getting along too well. It was 3:00 a. m., when George unsteadily reached the top of the stairs. His wife, opening the bedroom door, remarked, "So, home is the best place after all."

"Not so sure," said George, "but it's the only place open."

Egg Exhibit Gets Perfect Score

Belmont, Mar. 31—An exhibit of white eggs was scored at 100 per cent here Thursday evening in an egg quality and grading meeting.

Prof. H. E. Botsford of Cornell University said a dozen white eggs exhibited by Elizabeth Foster of Friendship was the first in his experience which could be scored 100 per cent.

The best dozen of brown eggs came from the Almond hennery of Nathan Hardy, scoring 97 per cent. The quality of the exhibit was excellent, says County Agricultural Agent Ira Blixt, the lowest score of all lots shown being 88 per cent.

Walking requires 290 per cent more energy than lying down.
