the number or name and neces sary information to the operator.

In Case of Fire Dial 3100

This will connect you with the proper authority who will turn in the alarm. BE SURE to give location of fire and your name. Do not dial operator as she is unable to turn in the alarm.

Police Calls Dial 3111

Intercepted Calls

Should you dial a number on which the telephone has been disconnected or changed you will receive a tick-tock signal. You should hang up briefly and then Dial 0 and ask for information.

Ringing Code

Your ring on your telephone will be one long ring which will be repeated at regular intervals until you answer your phone or the calling party hangs up.

Other Dialing Suggestions

Be careful not to turn the dial while talking. It will disconnect your line from the party you called.

Always listen for the dial tone. If you hear no dial tone ask if the line is being held. If no answer hang up briefly and try again.

Should you hear some one else dialing when you listen for dial tone, be courteous, tell them you have interrupted their call by mistake so they can dial over again after you hang up. If another party comes in while you are dialing the circuit will be broken and you will have to dial the number again. Explain that the line is in use, then hang up for a moment and redial the complete number.

Always be sure to replace the receiver a few seconds between calls.

Draft Registrants Can Enlist Under New 30-day Policy

The Department of Defense announced in a directive that Selective Service registrants that were classified by their local draft boards can enlist in either the U. S. Army or U. S. Air Force, and will not have to wait to be drafted. This new policy has been established only for a 30-day period beginning Thursday.

M. Sgt. Joe V. Sayon of the Olean Recruiting Station stated that previously those registrants that were given pre-induction notices to accomplish their physical and mental examinations, were unable to select the branch of service that they desired.

Once a registrant was pre-inducted by his local draft board, he had to await call for his induction according to requirements issued by Selective Service and he was then enlisted into the Army. Under this new policy, all registrants will have an opportunity for 30 days to volunteer for the Armed Forces and will be able to enlist immediately.

Voluteers are given their choice of three-year enlistment periods in the Regular Army as well as a shorter period of 21 months. Those who sign up for three years may have their choice of going into Airborne Troops if they desire. To enlist in the Air Force, volunteers must agree to serve four years.

"All Selective Service registrants, classified or otherwise, and those that have not received their notice to report for actual induction into the Army, may obtain full information concerning the advantages of voluntarily enlisting at the Army and Air Force Recruiting Station in Olean," Sgt. Sayon said.

Donkey Ball Game Here Next Tuesday

There will be a barrel of fun in store for ball fans next Tuesday evening, June 26, when the Tribune League and Octagon League ball teams play an exhibition Donkey Ball Game.

When a clown gets aboard a donkey at a circus and goes through a series of riotous motions to imitate an amateur rider the crowd invariably rolls with laughter. That is how funny it will be when 16 amateur riders (they won't be clowning either) climb aboard a band of skittish stubborn Texas burros and play donkey ball.

Now by simple arithmetic it can be figured that the ball game with amateur riders will be 16 times as funny as a lone clown. People who have seen the game agree.

The donkeys have been doing it for years, they play with the skill of Ty Cobb, act like Joe E. Brown and do everything but argue with the umpire. Their managers say that they would do that too but they are too busy arguing with their riders.

Letter to the Editor

Give the Guy the Info or They'll Hang Ya!

For proof, just read the third notice on the front of your new Telephone Directory" after it says "In case of fire, dial 3100." There you will see, in black-face print, the following; Always be Sure to Give Him All Necessary Information Before You Hang." As to whom 'they' refere to;—maybe it's Harrison—or the printer (?)—or most likely some of the firemen feel that way when you don't take time to tell'em where the fire is when you report one. Leastwise, it will be to no avail to dial operator, as she, faithful slave, can no longer help you.
