Daniel T. Burdick, 79, of Alfred Station died Monday. His wife and a daughter survive.

Hon. Jesse S. Phillips made the presentation speech in behalf of the State of New York, at the dedication of the State Ceramic building at Alfred University this week, and delivered the keys to the building to Prof. C. F. Binns.

Floyd C. Vars went to Elmira yesterday where he will take a three months course in hand engraving at the Rees Engraving School.

Mrs. David Davis is enjoying a visit with friends in East Aurora and will also take in the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Barney and daughter of Middletown, Conn., are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Barney this week on their return from a visit to the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.

Miss Sylvia Hardy has completed the course of training as a nurse and graduated from the Syndenlam Hospital in New York City.

Charles Lynch is rebuilding the large barn on his farm below town that was unroofed and otherwise badly damaged in the severe wind storm that swept this locality a few days ago.

Lawrence Hunt is attending Old Home Week in Whitesville and from there will go to Elmira for a two weeks visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hunt.

Miss Reta Stearns and Miss Sewaine Dufus of Meadville, Pa., are visiting Mrs. C. W. Langworthy and Mrs. A. A. Shaw at Alfred this week.

Around a thousand people enjoyed Independence Day in Andover. The celebration opened at 9:30 a. m. with horse racing followed by a town basket picnic, patriotic program, baseball game, Odd Fellows drill team, sport races, band concert, fireworks and a grand Fourth of July dance at Harmony Hall.

J. H. Backus & Son, Editors

Raymond Thorne, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hervey Thorne drowned Saturday morning at Silver Lake. Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church Tuesday, the Rev. W. P. Trowbridge of Geneseo and Rev. J. W. Wright of Belmont officiating.

Mrs. Charles Church, 52, died Tuesday morning. Her husband, three sons, and four daughters survive. Services were held at the home Thursday with Rev. W. H. Smith officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwing B. Tillman are parents of a son, George Sherwood, born July 12.

E. P. Rogers and H. W. Boyd and family arrived in Andover Monday from Brownwood, Texas, where they have been working in the Texas Oil fields the past year.

The biggest waste of time is the time wasted in getting started.

VETERANS' News Letter

Raymond F. Shear, Reemployment Committeeman for the Bureau of Veterans' Reemployment Rights of the United States Department of Labor announces that the 1951 amendments to the Universal Military Training and Service Act (formerly the Selective Act of 1948) broaden the coverage of job protection to include persons who leave positions to enter military service but who are rejected and to reservists who enter military service for short tours of training duty only.

"Subsection 9 (g) (3) of the new act grants statutory leaves of absence to rejectess and reservists on training duty," Mr. Shear said. "Upon their rejection for military service or release from training duty, such employees shall, if they make application for reinstatement within 30 days following their release be reinstated in their former positions without reduction in their seniority status or pay, except as such reduction may be made for all employees similarly situated. This amendment applies only to persons who leave positions on or after June 19, 1951, the effective date of the Universal Military Training and Service Act.

Mr. Shear also pointed out that subsections 9 (g) (1) and (2) of the new act remove the "first enlistment" restriction and increase from 3 to 4 years the period a person entering or reentering the armed forces after June 24, 1948 may serve and have reemployment rights. "The amendments are retroactive" Mr. Shear said, "extending job protection to persons now in the military service who were not considered to have employment rights at the time they entered the armed forces because they accepted enlistment or tours of active duty in excess of 3 years.

Any person who desires assistance or additional information concerning the reemploymetn rights program should either contact Mr. Shear at the office of the Veterans' Service Agency, or Mr. Richard J. Dazimian in the Court House, Belment, New York. During July and August office hours are 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

July 31 Deadline for Filing Displaced Persons Assurances

July 31 is the last day for the filing of assurances by Americans who want to sponsor displaced persons for entrance into the United States, Comissioner Edward Corsi, Chairman of the New York State Displaced Persons Commission has announced.

Comissioner Corsi emphasized that a bill enacted on June 21, 1951, by the U. S. Senate, extending by six months the date of issuance of visas to displaced persons, also includes a cut-off date of July 31.

He explained that before a visa may be issued, each individual displaced persons must have an assurance of a job, adequate housing, transportation from the port of entry to a place of resettlement in the United States, and that the displaced persons will not become a public charge.

Commissioner Corsi emphasized also that neither the December 31 nor the July 31 deadline for displaced persons applies to refugees of Germanic origin forced by the Communists from their homes in Eastern Europe.

These German expellees are eligible for visas up to June 30, 1952.

Employers or relatives who want to sponsor displaced persons should write immediately to the New York State Displaced Persons Commission, 80 Centre Street, New York City, to one of the voluntary religious or nationality agencies, or to the U.S. Displaced Persons Commission, Washington, D. C., for assurance forms.

Ordinarily George and Booker T. enjoyed more leisurely pursuits. Today they were discussing their individual prowess.

"It's about the strongest man they is in this town," said George.

"Yo' has got yourself a bet," said George darkly.

"All rightman," said Booker T., moving toward the wheel barrow, "get in."

Mites at Work on Maples

The small "blisters" found on the leaves of maple trees are the work of a tiny, almost microscopic mite, according to entomologists at the Experiment Station at Geneva.

Worried home owners are writing to the Station and sending in infested leaves from their maple trees, but actually there is nothing that can be done about the control of the pest at this season of the year say Station scientists. They add, however, that the feeding of these tiny insects will not seriously harm maple trees although it does disfigure the foliage.

The mites appear very early in the spring and begin feeding on the new tissues just as the buds open, it is explained. In most cases injury is noticeable on the upper surfaces of the leaves in the form of numerous small, reddish blisters or galls.

At this season the mites are imbedded in the galls and leaf tissues and cannot be reached with insecticides. Control can be accomplished only by the use of sprays applied while the trees are still dormant.

Lime-sulfur diluted at the rate of one part to nine to ten parts of water applied just as the first bud scales begin to seperate in the spring will give satisfactory control of the pest. One application is usually sufficient.

Old Folks May Need More Milk Than Children

Old folks may need more milk in the diet than do growing children, according to Dr. C. M. McCay, professor of nutrition at Cornell. A pint of milk a day, once accepted by nutritionists as adequate for adults, is not sufficient, he says. Research on foods that help to maintain bone and teeth in the later years of life shows that milk is one of the best aids.

Some older people may prefer cultured milks such as yogurt to other milk and cites a recent technical article from Denmark which concluded that cultured milks are valuable for elderly people.

"It is often forgotten that most of the testing of cultured milks has been done upon young people who have adepuate hydochloric acid in the stomach," says Dr. McCay. "Many older people lack this acid. The cultured milks not only provide acid for the stomach but introduce beneficial organisms into the intestinal tract. Yogurt, may be made at home from yogurt culture and reconstituted dry skim milk milk and so may be a cheap form of milk."

Discussing other research on proper nutrition for the aged, Dr. McCay says there is more and more evidence that underweight is an asset after middle life. Older people need low-calorie diets, but every calorie should be made to count in vitamin, mineral and protein content.

CARE has come out with a sensible idea characterisic of a fine movement. Care, you may remember, stands for Christian Rural Overseas Program and they have for several years been doing a splendid job of distributing food packages to the needy in other countries. It is under the direction of a working committee representing all the church organizations. Their original distribution was food packages, and you could designate where it went. Later they made seeds available to those who had some land to cultivate. Now, quite appropriately, they offer, for the same $10 per package, to send a package containing a pitchfork, mattock, weeding hoe and shovel. You may not be aware of it, but these are "modern" tools to many, and will certainly be appreciated. If you want to know all about it, write to CARE, New York City, for details. Or just send in your ten dollars and it will be taken care of.

COMMUNITY Service projects being carried on by busy Grangers are "ripening" and finishing touches being put on for judging. We hear that there were more entries than ever this year, and we are anxious to hear what the results have been after all the returns are in. This phase of Grange activity put us closer to the community than we could possibly be in any other way, in spite of the fact that Grange Halls are continually being used for Farm & Home activities, farm committee meetings, church suppers, community dances, card parties and other social affairs. In some sections of the state Grange halls are the busiest places in town.

Which reminds us that it's about time to have some of these "before and after" pictures of your Grange Hall and Homestead Improvement projects. Some of the newly decorated, painted and landscaped Halls are a fine sight to see.

WET Weather has slowed up "making hay" in many parts of the state. Some have lost their crops due to heavy rains. Not good news for bossy next winter. Growing crops, however, are benefitting, and barring accidents there will be a heavy yield of Wheat, corn, oats, barley, beans and peas. Fruit has been especially lush this year.

A new Cornell bulletin, E-813 Border Plantings and Outdoor Living Rooms, is now available free to New York State residents from the mailing room, Roberts Hall, Ithaca, N. Y.

To test the quality of finish on a piece of furniture, the surface can be rubbed with a finger until warm. If the surface becomes sticky or powders, then a poor finish has been used.

There never was a sermon yet that beat a good example.
