Auto Most Popular For Vacation Travel

The family automobile is far in the lead this summer as the most popular method of vacation travel in New York State with almost 82 out of every 100 tourists taking to the highways for vacation trips, according to C. D. Henderson, Executive Vice president of the New York State Automobile Dealers, Inc.

Motorists are expected to travel a total of some 10,536,000,000 miles in New York State this summer, consume about 702,400-000 gallons of gasoline and pay state gasoline taxes to the tune of $28,095,000, he said.

Sportsman To Hold Field Day On Hanging Bog

The Allegany County Federation of Sportsman's Clubs will hold a Field Day on the Hanging Bog Game Management Area of the New York State Conservation Department in the Town of New Hudson on Sunday, September 16. This event will be an outstanding sporting event for Western New York and the first of its kind in the area, reports Robert A. Reed, President of the Federation.

The events which will take place are designed to give every member of the family an opportunity to participate in the various sporting programs available in Allegany County. Some of the events to take place are listed as follows:

Skeet shoot, Slug shoot, bow and arrow, fly casting, trap shoot, contests for women and children, plug casting, log cutting, coon chase, bird dog field trail, small bore rifle shoot, equipment show, live game exhibit, fox trapping demonstration, law enforcement, soil and water conservation exhibit and demonstration on construction of ponds.

Wilson Kepter of Fillmore secretary-treasurer, is general chairman of the Field Day.

The Field Day will be open to the general public who are encouraged to come to the Bog and learn what is going on in the Game Management Area which will be the site of one of the Conservation Department's Conservation camps for boys.

The Bog is a natural game management area which was acquired by the Federal Government 1936-39 by purchase of idle and worn out lands which have been leased to the State of New York for a Game Management Propect.

Obliging

A young subaltern joined a guards' depot, his upper lip as yet unadorned with even the suspicion of down. The adjutant sent for him.

"You must grow a mustache," he advised.

"Yes, sir," he replied.

"And not one of those Chaplin affairs—a proper mustache."

"Yes, sir."

The interview was finished, but the subaltern did not move.

"Well, what more do you want?" the adjutant asked.

"Any particular color, sir?"

"HOT?"

Here's hot news about your next winter's coal!

IT'S ALWAYS WISE to get your next winter's coal in before cold weather starts, because you have your choice of the coal you want and naturally you get better service than you do when everyone else is buying at the same time.

But this year it is even smarter because Defense Transportation Administrator J. K. Knudson has issued a statement of interest to everyone who uses coal for heat. He points out that the mounting burden of defense traffic this Fall and Winter will make heavy demands upon the nation's transportation capacity. That means transportation for household coal and the cars available may be in short supply. Householders who are slow to order may have difficulty in getting their orders filled at the time that they need coal most.

The Erie Railroad suggests that you call your rail coal dealer right away and ask that he fill your coal bin. It may be hot outside now but alert folks will think of the cold winter not too far away. Call your coal dealer today!

HEALTH FOR ALL

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Allegany Health & Tuberculosis Association, 44 Schuyler St., Belmont, N. Y.

Checkup For School

His wardrobe may be in order, the new schoolbag complete with copybook, ruler, and pencil-case, yet your child may be far from properly prepared for school. A more important guestion than clothes or equipment, is "has your youngster had a pre-school medical examination?"

For many reasons, the parent-teachers associations, official health agencies, and such organizations as the voluntary tuberculosis associations affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association are stressing complete physcal examinations of children before they enter school.

First, through the pre-school examination, certain correctable defects and conditions which respond best to early treatment can be detected at an early stage, a factor often important in treatment. Typical are: overweight and underweight, decayed and infected teeth, defective vision and hearing, infected tonsils, speech defects; early rheumatic fever, early tuberculosis, and anemia.

Secondly, a child has his best chance of getting the most out of school when he is in good physical condition. High grades and good report cards generally are impossible if the child is out of school frequently with sore throats and toothaches or if he cannot see the blackboard or hear the teacher. Many children suffering from an undetected physical defect are unjustly labeled mentally show when the pre-school correction of some physical deformity or illness might have made him a scholastic star.

Finally, a pre-school examination is one of the most important a child will ever undergo because it comes at a crucial time in his life, a time when he is entering a whole new world. Things are difficult enough for him—suddenly changing from all-day play and sheltered life—without an extra handicap of physical inperfection that might easily be corrected. The child who is sent to school with the doctor's ok. has the best chance of being a good pupil, easy to get along with, and easy to adjust to the strange, new life of getting an education.
