Agricultural News

IRA BLIXT, County Agent

Feed Meetings

Ira Blixt, County Agricultural Agent, announced today that there will be two Feeds and Feeding Meetings for dairymen in Allegany County, held Tuesday and Wednesday, December 18th and 19th, at the Rushford and Canaseraga Central Schools respectively.

The agent stated that the program has been planned primarily for the purpose of informing dairymen how they might utilize their homegrown feeds to better advanage. He stated that one of the best ways that dairymen can cut the cost of production today is by producing more and better quality homegrown feeds and that with the use of newer methods it is entirely possible to produce higher amounts of their own feeds than they ever have before.

Mr. Blixt stated that the discussion will start at 10:30 A. M. with the topics, "Raising Dairy Heifers For Full Normal Growth" and "Feed Requirements of the Dairy Cow," by Prof. Robert Spalding, Animal Husbandry specialis of Cornell University. At 1:00 P. M., Fred Morris and a panel of farm experts, will discuss "How The Green Acres Program in Their Area Has Helped to Meet The Feed Requirements of the Dairy Herd." The same topic by Earl Howes and a panel of farm experts at the Canaseraga meeting. This will be followed by a discussion by Prof. Spaulding on "Adequate Daily Rations for the Dairy Cow."

November Milk Price Announced At $5.30

New York, Dec. 11 — Dairy farmers will be paid a uniform price of $5.30 per hundredweight for their November deliveries to pool-approved plants in the New York milkshed, it was announced here today by Dr. C. J. Blanford, Market Administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area. The uniform price in October was $4.89 per hundredweight. In November a year ago it was $5.09 per hundredweight.

Dr. Blanford also announced a producer butterfat differential for November of six cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

Announcement of the uniform price was made three days before the December 14th deadline to enable handlers to pay their producers for November milk before Christmas. Under the federal-state marketing orders, they would be required to make payment not later than December 25.

Dr. Blanford said that despite a six-pound increases in the average daily output per farm, November production was off 1,590,968 pounds, or 0,36 percent, from a year ago which was due to a drop of 1,216 producers in number supplying the market.

PUBLIC RELATIONS as between farmer and consumer was the subject of this column last week and since then we sat in on a Grange dinner in Ithaca to which were invited a number of top leaders in agriculture, economics, education, press and raido, who kicked the subject around some what, as Damon Runyon might have said.

We feel that more thought can be profitably spent on marketing and merchandising procedures to attract the buyer of food commodities. We've seen apples, cheeses, honey, chickens and other items sold at premium prices, and cheerfully bought, the going price on these staples was way down when handed out in a paper bag. The housewife who cusses the farmer when she tots up her grocery bill is being just as illogical as when she fights to grab that marked down little number at $8.95 in her milliners which probably has 25 per cent worth of material and a dollar and a half labor tied up in it. When we purchasee 32 whole some ounces if milk for 24 cents we protest about the price by blaming the dairy farmer, who was lucky if he received 7 cents. That same evening we may buy half a dozen 12-ounce bottles of beer for the same price per bottle, and never give the hop-grower or exhorbitant extra taxes a second thought. Consumers aren't interested in the farmers' problems, they want their desires catered to.

COMMUNITY SERVICE contest for 1952 entry blanks are available and your Grange should be planning projects now. We have seen a statement made by one of the national judges of the contest for 1951, J. K. Stern, president of the American Institute of Cooperation. He said he was more optimistic about the future of this country and in travelling from California to Massachusetts and from New York to Arkansas "we saw the pioneer spirit still at work in the U. S. -- hard working, unselfish people. Folks who believe that one should earn his own living who are willing to share with others, and who have a reverence for their Creator.

POMONA GRANGE representatives have been appointed to Rural Radio Network Advisory committees in each of the 51 upstate counties served by RRN. These committees invite all farmers to apply for County Food Production Awards, based on Output Units per Man. Blanks will be available January 1 at G. L. F. Service Agencies, Zenith Radio dealers and Rural Radio at Ithaca. Applications must be mailed in by January 15. Awards in each county include an FM-AM radio, five $15 credits towards a radio, and production certificates.
