Mr. Lyman C. Bentley is seriously ill with acute nephritis. His life at the present writing is almost despaired of. At one time he seemed to be improving but has been taken worse, and there is a question whether his powers of endurance will sustain him through this, the most severe attack he has ever had.
About a dozen Andover people went to Hornellsville Monday night to see the Old Homestead. Many more would have gone if they had not learned that manager Bird's announcement that train 5 would stop here was an unmitigated falsehood. Those who went came home the same night on an "extra" arrangement for the stopping of which was made by G. B. Richardson, Erie station agent at Andover. The thanks of our people are due to Mr. Richardson and the crew of the train, but Mr. Bird is not included.

We Don't Get Her "News."

We take the liberty of printing the following letter from Miss Belle Krusen, because it is too good to keep:
ANDOVER, N. Y., Sept. 19, '91.
EDITOR ANDOVER NEWS: I have received since I have been here but three papers. Think perhaps the reason I don't get them regularly is because I am bounded on the North by two women and six of the meanest, ugliest kids on earth; on the South by three acres of prairie dogs; on the West by 132 miles of barbed wire fencing; on the East by two fine sheep ranches with old bachelors as proprietors. If you can have the News reach me every week it will be a relief to me in my lonely hours.
Very Truly,
BELLE KRUSEN.
This appeal is surely sufficient to induce us to take special pains with Miss Krusen's paper, and she ought to have it if it is within the power of Mr. Wanamaker and the editor of the News to get it to her. We'll try to do our part.
A Fassett Club Organized.

Pursuant to call the Republicans of this town met at Prest's opera house last Saturday evening to form a Republican Club. The meeting was organized by electing W. B. Bundy temporary chairman and W. H. Phillips secretary. A motion was made and carried with great enthusiasm that the organization be called the Fassett Club of Andover. The following officers of the Club were then elected:
President—T. N. Boyd.
Vice Presidents—C. B. Lever, W. B. Bundy, J. C. Green, Jeremiah Clarke, U. W. Stratton, Frank Potter.
Secretary and Treasurer—W. H. Phillips.
Executive Committee—E. J. Atwood, H. D. Smith, James McGinty.
It was decided to hold the next meeting Thursday evening, Sept. 24.
D. D. Remington was elected leader of glee club, with power to make his own selection of singers.
It is expected definite arrangements will soon be made for campaign work, and we are requested to urge all Republicans to attend the next meeting and "get in line" for duty.

Death of Daniel Dexter.
The death of Daniel Dexter occurred at his residence in Elmira, on Monday, Sept. 21st, 1891.
Mr. Dexter was born in German Flats, Herkimer county, N. Y., in 1806. He selected farming as his occupation, and in the year 1839 settled in Independence, in this county. In the same year, he married Angelina Briggs, who died only four weeks ago, in Elmira. Judge Seymour Dexter is the only child who survives the parents.
The deceased was a successful farmer, and all who knew him held him in the highest esteem. He was a plain, unassuming, honorable and useful man. The remains will be taken to Independence, on Thursday morning, and the funeral services held in the church at that place, at 11 o'clock a. m. the same day.

The Alliance Pic Nic.
The picnic held in Maple Grove last Thursday under the auspices of Excelsior Alliance of Andover was attended by large crowds of people, and was a very successful affair. The Lanphear Valley Alliance attended in a body, with flying banners and decorated vehicles. West Greenwood, Elm Valley, Whitesville, Trapping Brook and other Alliances were well represented; in fact, the success of the picnic in point of number present was due in a great degree to our neighbors. Citizens of the village were also present in good number. A good sized portion of the crowd were ladies.
Mr. A. W. Litchard of Rushford, the principal speaker, delivered an address which was overflowing with good suggestions and pertinent points. The speech was listened to with close attention and evidently made a good impression on the audience. Brief speeches were also made by F. E. Hammond of Cuba, Geo. A. Scott of Belmont, A. L. Litchard of Rushford, S. D. Travis of Angelica, Walter Leonard of Spring Mills and B. C. White of Whitesville.
Members of the Lanphear Valley and Andover Alliances contributed to the success of the occasion by furnishing good vocal music.
The Andover Cornet Band was on hand and enlivened the exercises with good music.

A $7,000 Monument.
Foley Bros., of this city, have been awarded the contract, by Mrs. H. S. Butler, for a $7,000 monument to be placed on the Butler family plot in Mount View Cemetery. As indicated by the design, it will without doubt be the handsomest private monument in Western New York. It will be built of Barre (Vt.) granite, standing twenty-four feet high, surmounted by an emblematic figure of Western (B. I.) granite. Class Daily Times.

Prohibition Rally.

The first gun of the campaign will be fired by the Prohibitionists in Prest's opera house, Andover, N. Y., on Thursday evening, October 1. The meeting will be addressed by the Hon. A. G. Wolfenburger of Nebraska, one of their ablest speakers. Prof. Huckins of the same state will also be present and furnish some very fine vocal music.
Mr. Wolfenburger is one of the ablest platform orators in the country, and Prof. Huckins is said to be a fine singer. Let no one miss this opportunity for an evening's entertainment.

What Kind of a Bird is This?
C. A. Bird, Manager of the Hornellsville Opera House, sent a notice of Denman Thompson's play, "The Old Homestead," to the News last week, in which he advertised that train 5 would positively stop at Andover on Monday night of this week, to accommodate Andover people who desired to see the play. The editor of the News ascertained last Saturday, from officials of the railroad, that Mr. Bird had made no arrangements for the stopping of the train at Andover, and, further, that the stop could not be made. This information was obtained in time to prevent a number of our citizens from being "taken in" by Mr. Bird's promises. Just what Mr. Bird's intention was in making the announcement, it is difficult to conceive, unless it was a deliberate intent to deceive people in order to gain patronage for the show. A man in Mr. Bird's position ought to be above such things, but apparently he is not. How is this, Mr. Bird?
