HINSDALE, June 27, 1891
Mr. Deming: Dear Sir:
I thought I would drop you a few lines and thank you for Monarch's sale. The mare I shipped their colts except one, all strong, stout, smart and bay in color, and the best lot of colts you ever set eyes on and every mare that had a colt would have been brought back had I not stayed here and he would have had than he could have done.

ONLY $3,750 A YEAR FOR "BABY.

Referee Willis Thinks This a Sufficient Annual Income.

If Baby Whaley, whose precocious desires, in the opinion of his guardian, it will require $5,000 a year to satisfy, is not tolerably reasonable in his infantile demands he will marry a time-rily himself to sleep unsatisfied, as any ordinary baby might do who hasn't a fortune of $600,000 waiting for him. Referee Willis has decided that even a $500,000 baby ought to be reared in reasonable comfort on $3,750 a year until he is 14 years old. If the supreme court confirms the decision that least be the limit of expenditure which his guardian, Marie W. Chisholm, will be allowed to use in bringing up Francis M. Whaley, who is 2 years old. The allowance would have been considerably less but for the fact that the malarial climate of Edisto island, off the Carolina coast, where Mrs. Chisholm lives, makes it necessary that she should seek a northern summer resort for the child's benefit during four or five months of the year. The referee finds regarding the essential circumstances of the case:

"Prior to the death of the mother of the child he lived with his parents at 30 West Washington square, New York, and was surrounded by all the comforts and luxuries that their high social position and wealth warranted. Edisto island, the residence of the guardian, is a region subject to certain serious malarial disorders during the summer season. Strangers and others coming from other parts of the country remaining at that season are especially liable to contract such disorders, and it is therefore dangerous for such persons to remain there during the time from the first of June until the first frost, which occurs ordinarily during the month of November.

"Mrs. Chisholm and her husband thoroughly acclimated it has been their custom to remain during the entire year. With the infant coming from a totally different climate at the north it is a wholly different matter. For him to remain during the summer season would be extremely dangerous and likely to result in his illness from the causes named. For that reason it will be proper and necessary for Mrs. Chisholm and the infant to proceed every summer to some other more healthful region, and to remain away until the coming of frost renders it safe to take the infant back to Edisto island. The necessity for such travel and residence away from home will occasion considerable expense to Mrs. Chisholm.

"Mrs. Chisholm has cared for the infant since Oct. 10, 1889, the date of his mother's death, out of her own means, and with the exception of a recent payment of $500 by order of court she has not been reimbursed.
The referee therefore is of opinion that Mrs. Chisholm is a suitable person to be appointed as the temporary guardian of the child until he arrives at the age of 14 years, and that $3,750 is a suitable yearly allowance to make for the support, maintenance and education of the child. The referee also recommends that the sum of $1,134 be awarded to Mrs. Chisholm for expenses up to date in the care of the infant." -

Music with a Twenty-five Cent Dinner.
It is interesting to watch the development of the cheap restaurant in this city. Although there are hundreds of Italian and French restaurants here, where a table d'hôte dinner can be procured for fifty cents, yet the mass of the people do not know of the existence of such places and probably care less.
In the restaurants of the class alluded to the food is prepared in a different way to that which the majority of the clerks have been accustomed, and is consequently distasteful to them.
Laying aside this objection, however, the chief reason for the large patronage of the cheap restaurant is the matter of the expense involved. Very few mechanics or clerks can afford to pay fifty cents for a meal. The average meal check comes nearer to twenty-five cents.
Within the last year or two there have sprung up a class of restaurants where a perfectly satisfactory meal can be procured for a quarter of a dollar, with an evening paper and a toothpick thrown in. One of these adds music to the menu. It is decidedly pleasant to chew away on a chunk of Texas steer while your jaws are wagging with the delicious strains of the "Schubert Serenade" or "The Palms," played by the orchestra or to gulp down your coffee or tea to the rhythmic measures of the organ to the lamented McGinty.
Ernest Jarrold in New York Journal.

ARE YOU A DOOR BANGER?

Don't Say "No" Too Quickly, but Just Think Over Your Side.

"Are you a door banger?"
This question, addressed to every person with whom we came in contact would probably be met by an efficient negative, yet if they paused to cast a glance even half backward they would probably instantly regret that involuntary fib.

The art of door banging is one that apparently comes by divine right to every human being, and that art is more carefully developed than many other natural gifts that would, with proper cultivation, enable the happy possessor to make quite as much noise in the world and with less inconvenience and annoyance to others.

Most houses are peculiarly adapted for the display of the door banger's careless activity, a fact which the man who sets the fashion for portiers had doubtless in consideration when he first made up his mind to introduce that innovation. To him indeed it should be very grateful for the fewer doors there are the less likelihood of and opportunity for such wasteful disorder.

The man or woman who would not take your life, even under the greatest provocation, does not desire to impoverish your hearing, and the worst of this sort of thing is that we meet with it generally at the hands of those who are nearest and dearest.

The relative who is the first in the morning well, that is the one who has the best show at the door, and the manner of Mrs. Phosphor's part, a dim-house power, pressure, if they would guide your slumbers successfully through that reverberating bang. It is true that in sickness an effort is usually made to suppress this peculiar instinct, or to repress this native talent; but behold, when the sufferer is convalescent, the pent up energy once more displays itself in the direction from which it momentarily lapsed, and the music of the present once more offers odds to any that the great German masters can originate.

People who are evolutionists can doubtless trace the early development of his historic disposition to bang.
They will point to far off ages when man in his natural state used to close his jaws with a far echoing snap upon the human flesh he devoured; to a little later period, when in a more enlightened state, he swung heavy prison doors upon his captives; to even a later age, when, his first musical inclinations beginning to blossom, he heralded to his victims their approaching death; through the enlivening strains of the tom-tom.

Now in this age of seeming cultivation the foregoing methods of proclaiming our immediate personality are happily forbidden, but there is no law, written or unwritten, against that evil, which is apparently inherent and ir-radical. But perhaps that Utopia, toward which present writers declare we are progressing, will be a land innocent of other than tent like accommodations, the restlessness which has hitherto found vent in door banging may spend itself in pursuits which will be beneficial, not annoying, to the human race.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

SHILOH'S CONSUMPTION CURE.

This is beyond question the most successful cough medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably curing the worst cases of cough, croup, bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of consumption is without parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly urge you to try it. Price 10 and 50c and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest or back lame, use Shiloh's porous plasters. Sold by D. B. Spaulding.

THE ILLUSTRATED BUFFALO EX-PRESS is soon to publish a series of illustrated articles on modern life in Japan.
They will be written by the managing editor of the popular illustrated issue of THE EXPRESS, who was recently in Japan, where he enjoyed unusual facilities for the collection of trustworthy information. Such a series will be very timely, in view of Japan's present political crisis.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COM-PLAINT.

Is it not worth the small price of 75c

GREENWOOD NEWS.
(Received too late for last week.)

An entertainment was given last Saturday eve, at Rainman's hall, by the G. A. R. boys.

Mr. Chilson, the former proprietor of the Greenwood hotel, is moving his goods to his new home at Shongo.

Edgar Norton will work the Coston farm the ensuing year.

Wild geese were seen flying north recently. They must have been "wild."

Ira Clark went to Jasper Saturday, March 19, to attend the funeral of his aged mother, Mrs. Clark.

Miss Maud Smith is visiting friends at Cazenovia.

Quite a number from this place attended the play "Lost in New York," at Hornellsville, on Monday evening of last week.

Lewis Ersley has rented the P. Rollins farm.

Sid. Scribner is sole proprietor of the harness shop, having bought out his partner, Chas. Austin.

J. D. Dennis of Jasper has hired out to work for Henry Youngs for the coming season.

A birth party was given Miss Leyda Clark last Tuesday evening, at the home of her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. M. Williamson.

J. Stephens and Hartlet York returned from Pennsylvania, the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Blowers had quite an experience with the snow drifts in coming from Tronpsburg to this place to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Brundage. They were about two hours coming the first four or five miles. Finally they found it impossible to go further in the road, Mr. Blowers being compelled to un-hitch the team and lead them over the top of the fence and through the fields, his wife following him drawing the cutter, it taking them over two hours to go one and one-half miles.
When they reached Greenwood they were able to give a full description of bad roads if any one could.

The farmers living on the hills report last Sunday to be the most bluestearing day seen yet this spring, the snow drifting so as to fill up the roads they had made.

Apportionment of School Moneys.

School Commissioner Pollard kindly reports to the amount of school money apportioned to each district in the towns of Andover and Independence. The money he says will be in the Supervisors hands about May 10.
