

HOSIERY

* Nothing better pleases a lady than perfect fitting, perfect colored and perfect measuring hose. We have studied this branch of our trade until it has well nigh reached perfection. This season colors will be very stylish, although blacks lead. If we can persuade you only to try a sample pair, we will leave the rest to your judgment. Always special values in children's goods.

THE ANDOVER NEWS.

E. L. Henderson of Wellsville was in town Sunday.

Superintendent of the Poor Crandall was in town Saturday.

Ex-Judge Farnum, of Wellsville, and attorney J. H. Stevens, of Hornellsville, were in town Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hood of Belmont visited Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Crandall of this place, Saturday and Sunday.

The sale of the Kemp farm came off last Saturday as advertised. Mrs. E. A. Harman bid off the property at $6,050.

Brown, the man who was sent to Angelica jail for 500 days for assaulting T. N. Boyd of this place, has served out his sentence.

Commencing with May, W. L. Sutton will visit Andover only three days during the first week in each month, commencing on Tuesdays.

The American House is being repainted and repapered. A. L. Jones is doing the work, and the house will soon show a great improvement.

Last Saturday the creeks and streams gave warning that they might make trouble. The rain and melted snow combined to raise the water to the last point of safety. But, fortunately, little damage was done, and the water soon began to subside.

Last Saturday afternoon the gas was suddenly shut off. A big stump or log in the creek above the Kemp farm came against the pipe with such force as to break the pipe, and Andover people had to hustle around and pick up wood to burn. The line was repaired on Sunday, and the gas turned on again Sunday night. Andover has as little trouble of this kind as any town where gas is burned.

When you see an item in the News with a signature at the bottom of it, you can make up your mind that the editor didn't write it. But if there is nothing to show that it was contributed, you can hold the editor (and no one else) responsible. We have known of several instances where parties were suspected of having "put an article in the paper," who knew absolutely nothing about the item in question until they saw it in print. If you have any complaints to make, don't be afraid to tackle the editor. We're used to it, and don't expect to please everybody, neither will we knowingly offend any person.

Ye Old Folks are coming.

The roads are drying very rapidly. S. M. Proper is in town for a short stay.

The maple sugar season bids fair to be short.

Arthur Burrows is expected home tonight for a brief stay.

A. J. Sweeney of Rexville was in Andover Saturday on business.

O. P. Crandall left yesterday for Fredonia, for a few weeks' stay.

W. C. Lever is booked for a big auction at Wellsville, April 12th.

Mrs. T. H. Armstrong returned the first of the week from Macedon.

Frank McGinty returned Saturday from a brief visit at Cleveland, O.

The Allegany County Alliance will meet at Friendship next Tuesday.

Mrs. Paulina Head of Wisconsin is visiting at the home of J. M. Goodwin.

Mrs. Emily Apthorpe and Mrs. C. S. Dake, of Brockport, are visiting relatives and friends in Andover.

Excelsior Alliance, No 71, will meet Saturday evening, April 9. All members are requested to be present.

Wanted, a competent girl to do general housework. Inquire at Mrs. T. McTighe's.

A new walk in front of the residence of Mrs. Sarah A. Lee on Elm street is one of the early spring improvements.

The Mutual Gas Company will drill a well on R. A. Pease's farm. Work will be commenced as soon as the machinery can be conveyed to the premises.

Aunt Polly Hopkins bids all the wimmin in the neighborhood to a quilting bee at Mr. Prest's Greate Hall, Wednesday afternoon, April 20th. The men folks can come to supper at early candle light.

We understand Dr. W. W. Crandall will remove to Andover the first of May, and will occupy his house on Greenwood street, now occupied by T. McTighe and James Pardon.

The stores were dark last Saturday evening—that is, those were which are usually lighted by gas. The proprietors all hustled around and filled a few lamps, which served the purpose very well, considering.

John Prest has concluded to accept the contract for building the new M. E. church in Wellsville, the committee having extended the time for the completion of the work. Well, that's all right. Andover can supply almost anything that Wellsville is in need of, as long as they pay good money for the service.

E. J. Atwood is supplying Contractor Prest with a good many of his supplies for the new schoolhouse and M. E. church which he is building in Wellsville. Saturday Mr. Atwood made a contract aggregating nearly $1,000 worth of goods. Mr. Atwood competes with many large houses, but generally "gets there."

S. J. Fowler of Bainbridge, who was here last week, looking over the prospects for establishing the undertaking and bakery business, has decided to come, and has rented the H. P. Benton store on Main street. Mr. Benton will make some changes in the building and premises to accommodate Mr. Fowler's business, and Andover will have one more business place before many weeks roll around.

Arthur Burrows, son of A. M. Burrows of this place, is a student at the Rochester University. Twenty-nine students at this school, including Mr. Burrows, organized the University Glee and Banjo Clubs, and for the past week have been entertaining the people of several cities in New York and Pennsylvania. The places visited were Olean, Bradford, Warren, Oil City, Franklin, closing last evening at Titusville. Everywhere they were greeted with crowded houses, at some of the places standing room being at a premium. The concerts are reported as being of a high order, and the people in the towns visited are loud in their praise of the entertainment presented. Mr. Burrows is a member of the double quartette, and is said to be one of the best bass singers in the club, a fact which Andover people will readily believe and feel a certain sense of pride in.

"Good-Bye Gordy!"

Last Saturday afternoon Mary, the nine-year-old daughter of Henry and Mary J. Luther, of Hartsville, was drowned near the head of Slate Creek. With her brother, two or three years older, she was watching the flood and slipped from a log upon which she was standing. Her rescue being impossible, she cried out, "good-bye, Gordy," as she was borne away. Half a mile below the scene of the accident the body was recovered by James Slocum. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. G. W. Gibson. The interment was in Greenwood.

Who Has Moved?

The following persons have already changed their residences to the houses indicated, or are preparing to do so:

Mrs. Brundage to part of A. Porter's house on Main street.

Mrs. McCormick to P. C. Lynch's house on Main street.

Hiram Davis to his house on Center street.

Wm. Owen to James Owen's house on North Main street.

L. N. Corwin to his farm on Corwin Hill.

Joseph Brown to Harman Carr's house on Baker street.

H. D. Perry to rooms over J. M. Goodwin's harness shop.

Erwin D. Baker to David Davis' house on North Main street.

M. C. Williamson has purchased the Francis Uplike house on Greenwood street and will occupy the same.

A number of other families will move this spring, but the above is as complete a list as we can give at present.

A few good new houses would find ready tenants in Andover.

Miles Harman's Store Burned.

At 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning the fire alarm was sounded, and the fire was soon located in the building on Center street owned by M. H. Harman and occupied by him as a store and Justice's office. Nearly all the goods were removed, but the building was destroyed. Mr. Harman's residence which stood within a few feet of the burned building, and the residence of Joseph Krusen, were saved only by hard work the wind blowing the flames directly to ward those buildings. The fire is supposed to have caught from a gas jet.
