CHICAGO, April 25.—The noted bunco man, "Tom" O'Brien, is said to be in Chicago, or at least he was here yester-Chicago, or at least he was here yester-lay, according to reports. It was a matter of surprise that he should come to Chicago, for there are dozens of men here who know him, while all the old embers of the detective force are well equainted with his features.

police here never fastened anything upon him. He is wanted, however, for tricking an old farmer living near Springfield out of several thousand dollars, and there are warrants out for him at points further west than this.

After escaping from the New York officers O'Brien must have steered directly for Chicago, if the story of his presence here is true. It is said he got off a Lake Shore train at the Van Buren street station in the morning, being unburdened with baggage, and hurried to a barber shopin the basement of No. 123 Clark street, where his beard was removed and his hair cut close to his head.

The transformation worked by the barber is said to have been startling, for his nearest relative or best friend would not have known him. O'Brien then, it is alleged, visited a Turkish bath establishment near by and remained there an hour or more, after which he entered a cab and drove away.

Where he remained in hiding during the day is not known, but he would have no trouble in finding friends here to shelter him. O'Brien has not been in Chicago much of late years, but he has kept up communication with his friends all the time. The famous bunco man, it is claimed, visited some of his friends in two or three Clark street sporting resorts last night, but kept very close for fear a detective would run across him. It is believed he was kept yesterday at the house of a friend who lives near the stock yards.

The Engagement of Prince William to Princess Margaret Causes Dissatisfaction. BERLIN, April 25.—The semi-official announcement of the engagement of the announcement of the aggement of the Princess Margaret, youngest sister of the Emperor, to Prince William of Luxemburg, is received with little approval in court circles here. acity is the most dissolute man of his age in continental courts.

During the short periods he has passed in Luxemburg recently he has disgraced himself with the most notrious actress in the place, and has piled up debts that he will not pay and that his father, the Grand Duke Adolf, with a civil list of but 200,000 francs, can not pay.

Prince William, moreover, has a mania for gambling, and now lives at Monaco so that he may indulge his passion constantly. He is the companion of disreputable women there and drinks to excess. To marry the Princess Margaret to such a roue of 40 years, the people here say, is to sacrifice her to the Emperor's ambition.

The Emperor is said to be anxious to get a hold on Luxemberg that he may eventually annex it and thus add materially to the strategic strength of Germany's western frontier. The present time he regards as auspicious for an opening wedge as the whole land is in a revolutionary turnoil, and the Grand Duke and Prince are looking for a strong hand to steady their throne.

The revolt is especially directed against the Prince, whose reckless life at Monaco has moved the citizens to protest not only against the Grand Duke's regime, but also against the Prince's succession, to the throne, and to call for a republic. Even the army and officers are reported to be seriously disaffected, and many of the soldiers have deserted.

FAVETTE, Mo., April 25.—This town is again on the verge of a race war because of the sale of vagrant negroes cause of the sale of vagrant negroes which took place here Saturday. About a month ago a good deal of excitement was caused by the sale of three yagrant negroes. This feeling has been intensified by the public sale on the block of three men and one woman because they could offer no visible means of support. Hy Thompson, Wm. Miller and John Wilkins were the men. All are hearty negroes who were never before arrested. The woman was a Mary Whiteside. Sna was accused of vagrancy.

The colored people were brought into the public square at 11 o'clock, and a great crowd of both colors gathered. The whites made fun of the poner victims and the blacks freely expressed their displeasure at the scene that so cruelly brought to their minds the days of actual slavery.

The woman was put up first. She brought $10 for the sixty days work that the county fined her. The men sold for $10, $12 and $13 respectively, being taken by reliable farmers hereabouts. The woman will work in a good family in town. Negroes declare that this must stron, or that the whites must be sold which took place here Saturday.

A MOST GRAPHIC STORY.

It is Taken Direct from Real Life.

CHARMING NEW ENGLAND LADY TELLS HER EXPERIENCE BOTH ABROAD AND IN AMERICA.

The unwritten romances of life are more wonderful and far more interesting than the most vivid works of fiction. The one we are alout to reinte occurred in real life, and in both interesting and instructive.

Mra Jennie Ray formerly lived in Manchester, N. H. Her home was pleasant, her curroundings comfortable. In the year 1893 she visited England, and while in that country began to experience strange sensations. At first she attributed them to the change of climate, but they continued and increased, until finally, like many another woman, she became utterly discouraged.

It was while in this condition that Mrs. Ray returned to America and her home. Thousands of women who read this story can appreciate the condition in which Mrs. Ray them was, and sympathizo with her suffering. Two prominent physicians were called and endeavorol to do all in their power for her relief. In spite, however, of their skill Mrs. Ray grew weaker and more depressed, while the agony she endured seemed to increase it was at this time that a noted physician who was called declared Mrs. Ray was suffering from cancer, said there was no help, and told her friends she could not live more than a week at the farthest.

And here comes the interesting part of the story, which we will endeavor to tell in Mrs. Ray's con words. She said:

"Unknown to all these physicians, I had been using a preparation of which I had heard much. I did not tell the physicians because I feared they would ridicule me, and perhaps order its discontinuance. During all the while that the physicians were attending me the preparation was signally and faithfully doing its own work in its own way, and I lad faith in its power. At last the doctor said there was no use of his coming, for he could do me no goo! I had suffered so much that I was a gloried me, and be declared it was a fibroid tumor, but said he had never known one to come away of itself before. I immediately began to gain health and strength, and I unhesitatingly declare that it was a fibroid tumor, but said he h

In 1880, the same authority set the figures at about 100,000,000 more. He did not base this new estimate on the natural increase of the people of the world, but explained that more accurate figures and estimates had enabled him to guess more closely.

Two years later Mr. Behm estimated the earth's population at 22,000,000 less than in 1830, the decrease being accounted for by the fact that new investigations had compelled the reduction of the estimated population of China from something
