We use Alcohol

pure alcohol to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING. Alcohol is good for leather; it is good for the skin. Alcohol is the chief ingredient of Cologne, Florida Water, and Bay Rum the well known face washes. We think there is nothing too costly to use in a good leather preservative.

Acme Blacking retails at 20c. and at that price sells readily. Many people are so accustomed to buying a dressing or blacking at 5c. and 10c. a bottle that they cannot understand that a blacking can be cheap at 20c. We want to meet them with cheapness if we can, and to accomplish this we offer a reward of for a recipe which will enable us to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING at such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c. a bottle. We hold this offer open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, May 23, 1892.

The Presidential guessers of which Washington has an over supply, are just now in the full enjoyment of the season that only comes to them once in every four years, and not always that often, as it has sometimes happened that the nominees of all of the National conventions were known almost to a certainty weeks before the conventions. But it isn't that way this year. There is no certainty what any of them will do. President Harrison might be reasonably certain of the republican nomination if Secretary Blaine could be eliminated, or would say that he would not accept the nomination if tendered him; but he refuses to say anything, and the fact that he exhibits his increased strength by taking long walks and appearing almost daily at some public gathering encourages his admirers to believe that he will accept if nominated. Meanwhile the situation is complicated by hints that President Harrison may forbid the presentation of his name to the convention.

There are still more "ifs" on the democratic side. Senator Hill is by general consent out of it, so far as his own nomination is concerned; but that he will be a powerful factor in determining the nomination is certain. Mr. Cleveland has lost ground rapidly during the past week from the Washington point of view, and Gorman has gained, while there is increased talk in favor of a Western man.

The people's party according to its Representatives in Congress, is neck and neck with the old parties, as far as uncertainty about who will head its Presidential ticket is concerned. Jerry Simpson thinks the nominations made by the republicans and democrats will have to a certain extent influence in determining the people's candidate.

Senator Higgins, of Delaware made a pugnacious speech on the Naval bill, in which he said that he favored increasing the Navy even if it involve an increase of the national debt. There are very many men in Congress of the same opinion, and they are not all in the same political party either; but they are few who care to be as frank as Senator Higgins. Sooner or later the question has got to come right down to that, for if the programme mapped out by those who favor the building and maintenance of a navy powerful enough to cope with Great Britain be carried out it is only a question of time when Congress will be called upon to choose between increasing the revenue by some new form of taxation or authorizing an increase in the bonded indebtedness of the country.

Senator Allison, who can be at times a very bitter partisan, never allows his partizanship to influence him when he makes official statements as chairman of the committee on appropriations of the Senate; therefore his statement that at the end of the present fiscal year—June 30, next the Treasury would have a surplus of $25,000,000 after making all payments that can be legally demanded, is generally accepted, and while many grumble because the surplus will not be larger, others, particularly republicans, think that a surplus of $25,000,000 is not to be sneezed at.

The House committee on appropriations reported adversely on the joint resolution appropriating $30,000 for the homeless Mississippi flood sufferers, on the ground that such appropriation is unauthorized by law.

The sudden change of front in the Senate Commerce Committee, which this week cut down the river and harbor bill a couple of millions is said to have been caused by a hint from the White House.

GREENWOOD NEWS.

Mr. Editor, please be so kind as to inform the good people of Andover, through your columns, that we children of Greenwood do not turn our kind mothers out of doors, and that "mother" is not out at work, but is yet living with her children, contented, peaceful and happy. And would it not be well for us all to consider the origin of a story, before believing and reporting the same?

Hal hal Isn't the Pease oil well in Greenwood? Guess Andover can't claim the "best" oil well yet. If Andover is an oil field in the future, Greenwood will be also.

The spring term of school, on Dryden hill, is being taught by Miss Cook, of your town.

Jas. Cheesman lost a good horse last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Swan spent the Sabbath with their old friends in Jasper.

A new photograph gallery in our village.

Miss Carrie Newman visited friends in Jasper recently.

Mrs. R. Sterns, who has been very sick, is much better.

Those who attended the Epworth League entertainments from out of town, were Mr. and Mrs. Van Free-lap, Mr. Brown and Miss Dickey of Hornellsville, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Davis and the Misses Linderman of Canisteo, also quite a number from Jasper and Rexville.

Six new members were initiated in the Maccabee lodge last Friday evening. Twenty-eight bees were in attendance from Jasper.

Little Edith Cross, who formerly lived with her Aunt, Mrs. Cummings, but now living with her grandmother, Mrs. Fuller of Hartsville, is reported very low with fever and her recovery is doubtful.

Mrs. Ed. Norton is very sick; but is thought to be somewhat better at the present writing.

Dr. Joe Dunigan, who has a position at the St. Mary's Hospital of Buffalo, visited his people for a few days recently.

D. V. Sutfin of Howard, County Alliance secretary and-treasurer visited at S. Mead's and at P. E. Stevens' the latter part of last week.

Lucian Brundage died Saturday, May 11, at 2 p. m., of consumption. Funeral services were held at the family residence, on Monday, May 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hunley of Bath, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Hunley, are spending a few days with Mr. D. Shaw and family.

Since my last writing quite an excitement has prevailed in our little village, caused by the literary and musical contest of the Epworth League held in the M. E. church Thursday and Friday evenings, May 12 and 13. Miss Maud Smith was chief of contestants Thursday evening and Mrs. Arthur Woodard Friday evening. The contestants on Miss Smith's side rendered some very fine music. The recitations by Miss Maud Smith, Miss Sarah Kellogg and Miss Anna Brundage, were worthy of special mention. On Friday at the appointed time the contestants headed by Mrs. Woodard appeared to the large audience dressed in ancient costume, the gentlemen wearing swallow tailed coats, etc., the ladies with hoops, mammoth bonnets, and skirts flounced to the waist. Among the best features of the programme were Deacon Broadbent's worldie rhyme, Rose Standish in earthquake prayer, and the instrumental music by Mrs. Dr. Dunham and Mrs. A. Woodard. The finale was a tableau, "Nearer my God to Thee," which was grandly rendered. They were unable to decide which side should have the social and Miss Smith relieved them by announcing their side would have the social the next week. All who took part did well and Greenwood feels proud of her home talent $41 was the total amount received.

INDEPENDENCE NEWS.

Mr. Charles Casey recently moved from his farm to the village of Whitesville.

Mr. John McCarn, whose home is in Michigan, is the guest of his niece, Mrs. J. T. Livermore.

W. S. Ault and Andrew O'Dell started for Port Allegany, Pa., last week Tuesday, to look for a job of peeling hemlock bark.

Mr. and Mrs. Dell Wood, of Andover, arrived at Dea. W. S. Livermore's Sunday afternoon, to see the "old folks at home."

But few gardens hereabouts have been plowed, as it is rain, rain, and a little more rain, till it is enough to discourage anything but a mermaid or a whale.

It is currently reported that Comrade Jackson O'Dell will purchase the Brown Cottage, opposite the cheese factory, when his "ship comes in."

And now it appears that the report that Mr. J. J. Brown had purchased a farm in Penn Yan and moved thereon, "came by grapevine telegraph." Mr. Brown has moved to Almond.

Memorial services will be held in Whitesville as usual. Comrade S. D. Pickett will deliver the oration, and it is hoped there will be a good attendance. Comrades are requested to be at the Post rooms at 10 o'clock a. m., sharp.
SOME GUMPTION.

FULMER VALLEY NEWS.

DEAR NEWS: Your request in the last issue of your paper for a correspondent from this place has drawn out the following items:

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Stout spent Sunday at the home of Mr. C. M. Wood, to help celebrate Mr. Wood's birthday.

Mrs. Wm. H. Fulmer has been on the sick list for a few weeks, but is now improving.

Dr. J. H. Clark, our genial postmaster, is quite seriously sick; Dr. W. W. Crandall is treating him.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Garvin of Andover visited Mrs. Garvin's brother, Richard McAndrew, on Sunday last.

Miss Maggie McAndrew and younger sister Eva were absent a few days last week visiting friends in Bradford, Pa.

E. M. Livermore is working V. G. Graves' farm this season.

The new cheese factory 1 1/2 miles north from here has opened business with flattering prospects, and the proprietors, Messrs. Coyle Bros., deserve a rich compliment for their energy in locating here. I understand they are making ten cents per day with constant increase in amount of milk. I may give more space to this industry in the near future.

This section of the country was treated to a few flakes of "beautiful snow" Monday morning.

Protracted wet weather has delayed planting quite seriously, and it looks today as though there would be further delay. Grass is looking very good and if we escape a frost will no doubt have a large crop of hay. Prospect for fruit is good at present.

If this letter attracts your attention sufficient to appear in your columns, I will undertake to write up this place for you in the near future.

["M" is welcomed to the News' circle of correspondents, and we hope to hear from him often.—Ed. News.]

ELM VALLEY NEWS.

Mr. Simeon Haun had the misfortune to have his only cow killed by the cars; his neighbors contributed and bought him another.

Mr. Chas. Smith of San Jose, Cal., is visiting friends in this place.

Mrs. E. L. Root, of Nile, has been visiting friends in this place.

Miss Susie Leonard, who is living at Alford, has been home on a visit.

Mrs. A. Hineer is improving.

Mr. John Enwright, who has the consumption, is gradually failing.

Our last sale of cheese brought 9 1/2 c.
