THE ANDOVER NEWS.

At a meeting of the Allegany County Publishers' Association, held at Bolivar, April 29, 1892, the following rules were unanimously adopted to take effect the week beginning May 9, 1892:
 Rule 1.—That not less than 5 cents per line be charged for resolutions of respect, and local notices of entertainments from which revenue is to be derived.
 Rule 2.—Cards of thanks to be charged 21.
 Rule 3.—Obituary notices, except such as are published as a matter of news, and lists of wedding presents to be charged for at not less than 5 cents per line.

President Cannon!
 Miss Millie Barney is visiting her parents.
 Mrs. G. B. Herrick visited friends in Hornellsville Tuesday.
 B. M. Austin of Coudersport, Pa., was in town a few days last week.
 E. L. Henderson and wife of Wellsville visited in town over Sunday.
 Arthur Sidman has been in town a day or two, greeting his many friends.
 Mrs. R. C. Grames and little daughter, of Olean, visited friends in this place this week.
 Miss Fannie Spaulding went to Washington, D. C., last week where she will visit relatives and friends.
 A. M. Burrows and son Frank, A. P. Wood, J. E. Cannon and T. K. Regan, attended the Memorial Day exercises at Rochester.

Mrs. Henry Hubertus, who has been stopping with her daughter, Mrs. M. McTigue, for the past two weeks, returned to her home in Dansville on Monday.
 The list of jurors for the June court is published in another column. It will be noticed that the jurors represent nearly every town in the county on account of the repeal of the half-shire act.

The publishers met at Belmont last Friday, S. C. Swift of Cuba, President of the Association, tendered his resignation, as he has left the newspaper field. A. E. Cowles of the Wellsville Democrat, was elected to fill the vacancy.

The Pease oil well keeps up a flow about as stated in last week's NEWS. Other companies are ready to drill if they can get leases on reasonable terms. Nobody can afford to pay extravagant bonuses, and the development of this field rests largely with the owners of land.

Died, in Independence, May 9, 1892, Mary Adeline, wife of R. A. Lee. She was the daughter of Titus M. and Lucinda Baker. She leaves a mother, a husband and two children; besides a large circle of friends, to mourn her death. Her age was 23 years.

Isaac Smith has received notice that his pension has been increased from $12 to $17 per month, with a few months' back pay. Not a bad piece of news.

The advertisement of S. J. Fowler, Undertaker, Embalmer and Funeral Director, appears in this issue. Mr. Fowler has not yet had an opportunity to demonstrate his ability as funeral director, as no death has occurred here since he came, but if appearances indicate anything, it will be found that he understands his business. Read his ad.
 Clergymen are reminded that the present law requires them to publish marriages in at least one newspaper. Failure to comply with this requirement got several ministers into serious trouble in the lower part of the state recently. And while we are about it we will suggest that inasmuch as they are required to publish such notices sooner or later, that they send them in as soon as possible after the ceremony is performed and then furnish the papers with a readable news item, instead of waiting until they are a matter of history. This same suggestion will apply to justices of the peace or any official authorized to perform marriage ceremonies.—Exchange.

A BEAUTIFUL FLAG.

Presented to Andover Union School by Philip O'Connor.

On Friday morning Principal Armstrong, of the Union School, requested all the members of the school and faculty to assemble in the audience room at 3:30 p. m. At the hour named the entire school assembled, Mr. McTigue and Mr. Snyder of the Board of Education being also present. After the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung by the school, Principal Armstrong stepped forward and said:

"Some years ago, I know not just the date, a youth named Philip O'Connor was a student in this school. Years have passed by, but they have not wiped away his memory of the school in which he received his education. Business cares have not so enveloped his attention as to obliterate the memories of his boyhood days. In proof of which let me say that yesterday I received from Mr. O'Connor a letter stating that he had sent a beautiful flag as a present to our school."

Here Principal Armstrong unrolled the flag and read Mr. O'Connor's letter of presentation. In a few well chosen words, President McTigue accepted the beautiful emblem of liberty in behalf of the Board of Education; and the entire school by a rising vote expressed their appreciation of the beautiful gift. The entire school then marched to the flag-staff and unfurled its folds to the breeze, with three cheers for Philip O'Connor. The flag is a large one, of fine material, and is a gift which any school would be proud to own.

MR. O'CONNOR'S LETTER.

CHICAGO, May 24, 1892.
 To the Andover Union School, Principal, Trustees, Teachers and Scholars:
 Whatever success I have had in life I owe to my early training and the knowledge gained in old Andover school, and in remembrance of which I feel at this late day, like offering some token of gratitude to its memory; and no gift that I can think of will be more appropriate or dearer to the hearts of all concerned than the Flag of our Country—the Stars and Stripes—under whose most bountiful protection we all live and enjoy the freedom known only to those who are fortunate enough to live in this, the dearest spot on God's green earth. I need not admonish the scholars of dear old Andover Union School to ever cherish the gift, for that comes natural as the air we breathe to every boy and girl in this great land, and I well know that an insult, however small it might be, would be resented at cost of life or freedom, so dear is it to our hearts. And as you wave its folds to the breeze on the 30th of May, Decoration Day, I first think of the boys whose lives it took to preserve its honor and to whose memory we ever do homage. And on that day when we strew each grave with fragrant flowers, let us renew our vows to honor and see that it is honored.

And on the 12th of October, 1892, the 400th anniversary of the Discovery of America, let this flag float from Andover Union School.

I would like to visit my boyhood home once more and greet my many near and dear friends, but will not see you before the opening of the World's Fair, at which I hope to see many Andover people.

Wishing to be remembered to all my old friends and school-mates, and with my best wishes for their future welfare, I remain, one of Andover's former scholars.

Your Humble Servant,
 PHILIP O'CONNOR,
 125 Front St., Chicago, Ill.

Corporation Election.

The election of village officers took place last Friday. There was no opposition to the ticket nominated at the citizens' caucus, C. B. Lever having declined to run for President. Only 120 votes were polled. The officers are as follows:

President—Patrick Cannon.
 Trustees—F. S. Clark, James Owen, A. M. Burrows.
 Collector—Calvin Slocum.
 Treasurer—W. B. Bundy.

The election of Mr. Cannon as President is an honor worthily bestowed. He is one of Andover's most prominent citizens, and no better choice could possibly have been made for the first President of our village. The other officers are equally well-suited to their positions. The Trustees are conservative business men, successful in their own affairs, and the public may expect equal success in their management of public business. Calvin Slocum will make a good collector, and W. B. Bundy will keep the money where it can be found when wanted.

Oh, Wratzi!

Some excitement was engendered over the striking of an alleged 20-barrel well near Andover last week. The facts justify the announcement that the well if worked to its fullest capacity, might do 20 barrels in 20 days.—Wellsville Democrat.

The facts justify the announcement that there are a few people in Wellsville who are so narrow-minded that they can never see anything outside their own fire limits. If it happens in Wellsville, it "goes," but if it occurs in Andover they couldn't see it with a fifty horse power telescope.

The following dispatch from Wellsville, published in the Hornellsville Times, shows that there is somebody in that place who knows a good thing when he sees it:

WELLSVILLE, N. Y., May 18. For some time past Andover has laid claim to being in close proximity to an oil field. Until yesterday but little confidence was placed in this claim by outsiders. The representatives of various oil interests in this section who were present at the shooting of the Andover Gas Company's well, located on the Pease farm, two and one half miles east of the village, this afternoon, are thoroughly convinced that Andover is in it. The well was treated to a forty quart shot and responded beautifully.

The following people were in town last week under the care of Dr. Comstock: Mrs. Sherman, and Mrs. Race of Genesee Forks, Mrs. Genung, Newfield Pa., Mrs. Payne and sister of Whitesville, Mrs. Spencer, Mr. Howe and Miss Howe, Spring Mills, Edward Freeman's son of Austin Pa., with hip joint disease, Mrs. Schrader, Mrs. Hubbard, and Mrs. Ellsworth of Wellsville, Miss Hobart, Friendship, Mrs. Myers, Bolivar, Mrs. Merriam, Hornellsville, Miss Ella Fanton, Stannards Corners, Miss William son and Mrs. Berger of Greenwood.

Lemonade, made to order at Harman's.

L. A. Burrows went to Hartsville last Thursday, and sold the Baptist Society wall paper for their church; all through, top to bottom. He was competing with Hornellsville and Canisteo dealers, but came out on top.

Genuine Hop Soda, Ginger Ale, Moxie and Buttermilk, on ice, at Harman's.

The finest line of bananas, lemons and oranges, at Comstock and Benedict.

On the 10th of June Dr. Comstock will place his books with L. C. Van Fleet for settlement.

OIL, WHAT A COUGH!

Will you heed the warning? The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that most terrible disease, consumption. Ask yourself if you can afford for the sake of 50c to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest use Shiloh's porous plaster. Sold by D. B. Spaulding.
