We use Alcohol

pure alcohol to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING. Alcohol is good for leather; it is good for the skin. Alcohol is the chief ingredient of Cologne, Florida Water, and Bay Rum the well known face washes. We think there is nothing too costly to use in a good leather preservative.

Acme Blacking retails at 20c. and at that price sells readily. Many people are so accustomed to buying a dressing or blacking at 5c. and 10c. a bottle that they cannot understand that a blacking can be cheap at 20c. We want to meet them with cheapness if we can, and to accomplish this we offer a reward of

for a recipe which will enable us to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING at such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c. a bottle. We hold this offer open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

INDEPENDENCE NEWS.

Elder Kenyon had some repairing done to his house last week.

Mr. Charles Parks has purchased the cottage opposite the cheese factory.

Mr. and Mrs. Cola Sisson and children of Almond, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Bassett and child, of Ackron, N. Y., arrived at the ladies' father's, C. E. Brown, Sunday evening, on a visit.

Comrade Jackson O'Dell has purchased the J. T. Livermore cottage, instead of the Brown cottage, as the proprietor decided not to sell, and will repair the house at once.

W. J. Potter has taken the job to shingle Comrade O'Dell's house, while H. M. Clark will raise the house, tear down and rebuild the cellar wall. There will also be improvements made inside by paint, paper, etc. When finished it will make a snug retreat for a war-worn veteran.

Last week Friday Mr. Correll Livermore became the "happy father of twins," as the lamented Artemas Ward facetiously put it. The twins are males and doing well, and will probably be of great help through buying. "donteherknow?"

People hereabouts, who were lucky enough to have their gardens plowed, are obliged to do their planting in the mud between showers, as it has rained every day this month, and we were visited by showers in several days in the May month.

The heavy showers of Sunday knocked the underpinning from under the hopes your correspondent was building of sufficient fair weather to get his garden plowed before next fall.

From one who was present, I learn that Memorial Day exercises in this town were a success. At this place prayer was offered by Elder H. D. Clark, a poem was recited by Miss Carrie Clark, the graves of our fallen heroes were decorated and the people went to Whitesville and joined forces with the crowd in the Baptist Cemetery, where the usual G. A. R. ritual was held, after which they adjourned to the church, where a lady, whose name I did not learn, sang the "Star Spangled Banner"; the cornet band rendered several patriotic airs; Mrs. A. W. Allen recited a touching incident of army life and recited a poem commemorative of the event; a little girl recited with great effect "The Blue and the Gray," after which a group of children sang "America."

Elder S. D. Pickett's address, "What is Liberty?" was a masterly effort. He also made some remarks on the subject: "Not who shall rule, but what shall rule?" Comrade Pickett generally knows whereof he speaks. The church was not large enough to accommodate the crowd. All in all, it was a grand time, grandly enjoyed by all, except a few poor old crippled vets who had no way to "get there, Eli," so remained at home "alone in their glory."

Will the Editor kindly publish, for the benefit of old soldiers in general and town boards in particular, the law mentioned below? The "passage by the late Legislature of what is known as Deyo bill, which provides that soldiers' homes that have been purchased with moneys received as pensions for services rendered the United States should be subjected to the tax laws of our state," and which was vetoed by Gov. Flower, is causing no end of comment among the old vets in this vicinity. The object of the above bill "is practically to repeal the statute which as construed by the decision of the Court of Appeals, exempts from taxation soldiers' homes bought with pension money. The intention of the law has undoubtedly been to give to our crippled veterans the full benefit of their pensions, and to encourage them to invest their well deserved money in little homesteads where they could pass the remainder of their days secure against the danger of being ousted for non-payment of taxes."

SOME GUMPTION.
[We have not access to the full text of the bill mentioned above, but will state that Assemblyman Deyo introduced in the last legislature a bill providing that real estate purchased with pension money shall not for that reason be exempt from taxation. The bill passed both houses but we believe Gov. Flower vetoed it; consequently matters remain as if no such bill had been introduced.—Ed. News]

Lynched in New York State.

The following dispatch was sent from Port Jervis in this state, June 2, 1892:

A crime heinous and revolting in its nature, and characterized by circumstances of extreme brutality, was perpetrated to-day upon the person of Miss Lena McMahon, the daughter of John McMahon, by a negro known as Bob Lewis. It was witnessed by a number of young girls who stood about fifty feet away and also by two young negroes, who would have interfered in the girl's behalf, but they were kept at bay by a revolver. Lewis, after his fearful crime fled leaving his victim in an insensible condition and with injuries which will probably prove fatal.

A posse of men started in pursuit of Lewis and traced him for several miles along the Huguenot highway as far as the race course, where all trace of him was lost. Lewis was captured at Cuddebackville, a small village on the Delaware & Hudson canal about nine miles from Port Jervis by Sol Charley, Duke Horton and one Coleman. The fugitive had boarded a canal boat at Huguenot and had reached Cuddeback village when he was overtaken. On the way back to the village Lewis confessed the crime and implicated one William Foley, a white man whom he claimed was in the conspiracy to ruin Miss McMahon.

The news of the capture soon spread through the town and a large crowd collected about the village looking awaiting the arrival of the prisoner. The word was quickly whispered through the crowd, "lynch him; lynch him." The suggestion spread like wild fire, and it was evident that the fate of the prisoner was sealed. On his arrival at the lock-up he was taken in hand by the mob. The village police endeavored to protect him, but their efforts were unavailing. It was at first proposed to have Lewis identified by his victim before hanging him, in order to make sure that he was the guilty party. With this object in view the mob tied a rope around his body and dragged him up Hammond and down Main street as far as the residence of E. G. Fowler. By this time the passion of the mob had reached a state of uncontrollable excitement and it was decided to dispatch him without further ceremony.

A house was adjusted about his neck and he was strung up to a neighboring tree in the presence of a howling mob of over a thousand people. For over an hour the body hung suspended from the tree, where it was viewed by crowds of people. Lewis was about twenty-two years old, and had resided in Port Jervis about one year. His parents live in Paterson, N. J.

An All-Around Crook Arrested.

Ashley Seaman was brought to Andover to-day (Wednesday) by Deputy Sheriff D. H. Norton of Friendship and an officer from Richburg. Seaman is the fellow who hired a rig of liveryman Wescott a few weeks ago and forgot to return it. Officers have been on the lookout for him since. Yesterday he stole a gold watch and some money near Bradford, Pa., and Sheriff Norton was apprised of the fact and to-day he captured the man. As he could not be taken to Bradford he was brought here to answer the charge brought by Mr. Wescott. There are several more warrants out for his arrest on various charges. Seaman is the same man who married a girl in Scio a few months ago and then skipped out with some of her property. He seems to be an all-around crook and dead-beat. He waived examination before Justice Kinney and Sheriff Norton will take him to jail.
