The points to be teaged are the unusual high speed of the second section, being claimed that 15 minutes were made up on about 33 miles; the duty of the brakeman who went to flag the second section, and whether he should not have remained until the second section arrived: whether until the second section arrived; whether a freight train had any business on a passenger track when there is a freight track, and the employing of such an in-

Heaviest Rain Fall Ever Known--Immense Damage Done.

CHICAGO, June 25. — The damage wrought by the storm is much worse than at first supposed. and the city water flooded the basements of stores. Fire engines were ctiled into service to pump out the water.

The damage to stock will foot up $150,000. The Chicago River rose rapidly and all traffic at the harbor had to be suspended, as the current was so atrong that the tugs could do nothing. One of the worst features was the damage to streets, over 15 miles of which are left in a terrible condition.

It is estimated that $35,000 will be required to repair them. The telephone service suffered and large gangs of men were busy all day untangling the wires. Outside the city the damage was severe. Railroads were washed out and traffic was practically suspended on all roads. Just how much damage has been done to crops is not easy to estimate.

The general report is that wheat and oats have suffered by the storm, but corn has been but little affected agreed asys that grain is badly do for 25 miles on each side of the special says that grain is badly down a dozen houses and in set and number of people, but thus far no deaths have been reported.

WILL WORK IN EARNEST

Congress Resolved to Hurry Along Legislation.

OPINIONS AS TO ADJOURNMENT.

Believed By Some that the Session May, Perhaps, Be Ended By the Middle of July Bills that Will Come Up This Week-Last Week One of Inactivity.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—With the work of the national conventions completed and the campaign fairly on, Congress is auxious to finish up its work, so that members may get into the field and work for the national tickets and, of ourse, for themselves.
There are many opinion

sourso, for themselves.

There are many opinions expressed as to, the time when the session will end. The most general one is that adjournment will take place during the first 10 lays of August, but there are some who believe that the gavel will fall by the middle of luly.

the middle of July.

Though it is impossible to tell what Congress would be able to do if it would only try, it does not look now as if the talk about a very early adjournment were well founded. Four years ago, with a Presidential fight on, Congress sat almost until November. However, the chances are that the present session will be much shorter than the average of recent years, and it will probably not last much more than a month longer.

The House has passed all the appropriation bills and the Senate has passed about half of them. There are only two or three other matters which have any chance of being acted on, such as the Anti-Option bill and the Immigration bill. The tariff reduction bills will come to be just about four more was work ahead of Congress.

Had the Democrats at Chicago put a free silver plank into their platform the silver men in Congress would have been greatly encouraged to push their measures along immediately and to try to puss one or more of them before adjournment, but as things are now they will probably think best to auspend agitation in Congress and take to the stump.

From now until the end of the session the "Congressional Record" will be filled with speeches of an uitra political character, and the average American will find it difficult to trace any connection between the texts of a majority of them and the subjects on which they are supposed to be delivered.

Debate on the appropriation bills in the Senate will give Pernocratic Senators consideration, to matter they under the subjects on the wind they are supposed to be delivered.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE. Meeting for Organization To-Day--The Contest for Chairman.

Washington, June 27. - Nearly all the members of the National Republican Committee, which is called to meet for organization in this city to day, are on the ground, and a lively contest is being waged over the chairmanship. After the nomination had been made at Min-waged over the chairmanship. After the nomination had been made at Minneapolis, it was suggested the committee should organize by the selection of Mr. Clarkson as chairman and the appointment of an executive committee, to have immediate care of the campaign, under another head.

This was a suggestion merely, however, and it was thought that the members of the committee would meet at Washington and, after conferring with representatives of the President, effect an organization that would be satisfactory all around.

In the interim, since the adjournment of the convention, statements have been published as coming from Mr. Clarkson to the effect that he did not desire to serve a term as chairman, but these apparently were without authority from him, for last evening it was announced that Mr. Clarkson had stated that if they desired him to serve as chairman of the committee and they elected him, he would accept the position.

The selection of Mr. Clarkson as chairman of the committee, however, will be opposed by the friends of the administration. But who will oppose him has not been definitely determined upon, the probabilities being that George V. Massey of Delaware, who seconded the nomination of President Harrison at Minneapolis, will be selected.
