THE ANDOVER NEWS.

At a meeting of the Allegany County Publishers' Association, held at Bolivar, April 29, 1892, the following rules were unanimously adopted to take effect the week beginning May 9, 1892:

Rule 1.—That not less than 5 cents per line be charged for resolutions of respect, and local notices of entertainments from which revenue is to be derived.

Rule 2.—Cards of thanks to be charged $1.

Rule 3.—Obituary notices, except such as are published as a matter of news, and lists of wedding presents to be charged for at not less than 5 cents per line.

Shall we have a Lecture Course? Why, certainly.

Get your turkey ready. Thanksgiving occurs Nov. 24.

The Board of Supervisors will meet in Belmont next Monday.

Two inches of snow this morning, as a gentle reminder that winter comes once a year.

A flowing well has been struck at Rushford, but the "stuff" that flows out of it is water and not oil.

Election returns were received in Andover by way of the Postal wire. J. M. Beebe and Frank Miner took the reports.

This week's Wellsville Democrat isn't an advertisement for a Thanksgiving poultry-furnishing house. Cowles was celebrating, and he did it up brown.

D. J. Langworthy, executor of Mrs. D. M. Clarke's estate has sold to F. R. Hinchey the house on Pleasant avenue formerly occupied by Mrs. Clarke. Consideration, $2,500.

The C. L. S. C program for next Monday evening will be as follows: Music—Class Song of '87; roll call; some fact about Europe in the 19th century; three facts on the Civil War. The lesson will be ten questions on "Grecian History" and nine on "The United States and Foreign Powers," and questions and answers on Practical Science. In place of the Table Talk, there will be readings.

Erastus Brown, one of the oldest, best-known and most popular conductors on the Erie railway, died at his home in Dunkirk Saturday morning.

Death being caused by neuralgia of the heart. Mr. Brown had been employed on the Erie for 35 years and was known to almost every engineer on the West.

and Susquehanna Divisions, and as nearly known and respected. He was 70 years of age, and leaves a wife and children.

Jesse S. Phillips came home from Ann Arbor to vote.

Only a dime apiece for good lectures! Who won't pay that!

W. A. Wood was home from Rochester a few days during the past week.

Capt. J. A. Travis was home from Washington, to put in a Republican ballot.

We're all going. Where? To every session of Andover's new Lecture Course.

Hornellsville and Canisteo will soon be connected by electric railway. The road is now being constructed.

Who knows but Elder Gibson's proposed lecture course may result in the organization of a literary and historical society in our village?

Repairs have been made on the inside of the Andover school building, with the result of giving more room to the students. School did not begin this week until Wednesday morning, on account of the work.

A young man named Fred Shear, who claims Philadelphia as the home of his parents, and who came to Andover about two weeks ago, was sent to Angelica Jail last Saturday by Justice Harman, after having been tried by a jury and found guilty of taking a piece of meat from Dutcher's market while he thought no one was looking.

Mrs. Annis Langworthy and daughter Mattie returned from New London, Oneida county on Tuesday. It will be remembered that Mrs. Langworthy was thrown from a carriage on Sept. 4th, and received injuries so severe as to prevent her return to her home until now. Mr. Wille Hyde, of New London, who accompanied the party returned to his home to-day.

There is a bright prospect of the permanent re-construction of the L. & S. W. R. R. from Belfast to Wayland. A. G. McComb, civil engineer, representing the N. Y. syndicate that lately purchased the above road, was looking over the trestles and bridges on the route. He was accompanied by J. D. Lord, the Erie's bridge inspector who was given a few days leave of absence by the Erie in order to assist Mr. McComb.—Register.

The people of Andover and vicinity will be glad to know that the drama, "Foiled; or a Struggle for Life and Liberty," will be reproduced on Thanksgiving evening. This play was admirably acted and was so favorably received that its repetition is certainly warranted. In addition to the drama, or rather as an auxiliary to it, some of the old war songs, dear to the memory of all lovers of the Starry Flag—songs which cheered our Nation's defenders: in camp and march, and aroused the enthusiasm of the patriots, at home—will be produced, and will add much to the merit of the entertainment.

The political fight is over and as the battle smoke clears away the effects of the work done is more clearly discerned. All sides have used their argumentative and persuasive powers to the best advantage, and the workers are all to be congratulated upon the work they have done, and the small amount of "mud" and personal abuse that has been used and resorted to. The campaign in Andover has been fought hard, but we believe it has been a fair fight. The leaders of the respective parties and clubs are entitled to a word of praise for the manner in which they have conducted the canvass. So far as we are able to ascertain no unnecessary cause for ill-feeling has been apparent, and all sides will probably be better satisfied with the result on account of this fact.

We take it for granted that there are several hundred persons in this village or within a short drive of it who would find the course of lectures contemplated by Rev. G. W. Gibson, as announced in this and last week's News, a source of pleasure and profit. We have not been without dramatic entertainments, many of them of great merit—notably those presented by home talent—but we have for years had a short crop if not a positive famine, of purely intellectual recreation in the form proposed, instructing and entertaining lectures. The News is in full and exact accord with the proposed intellectual treat, and expresses the hope that those who appreciate meritorious literary productions—and we know our townspeople well enough to know that there are lots of them—will not be backward in coming forward to purchase course tickets. Let literary Andover come to the front.

Jesse To Adial.

The following is supposed to be a true copy of a message recently sent over the wire:

ANDOVER, N. Y. Nov. 9.

To Adial E. S. Here's my head, but not my heart. Come and get your post-office. Signed, JESSE C. G.

Our Farmers are Progressive.

Since the Farmer's Institute was held in this village there have been not a few evidences of its value to those who attended. Quite a number of farmers in this and adjacent towns have constructed or will soon construct silos. One of the patrons of the News is an enthusiast on the subject of ensilage, and many who ridiculed the idea of feeding cattle sour kraut are now firm believers in the new method. Other farmers have purchased the best appliances for dairying and the increase in product and superiority of the manufactured articles prove the wisdom of getting out of the old ruts in the manufacture of butter and cheese, which must always be staples in farm products. And there are those who believe that the increased yield of their potato fields is in no small measure due to the adoption of improved methods in culture suggested at the Institute.
