is a long-drawn, forcible inspiration, followed by a shooter respiration; according to Dr. Nasgell, it is one of nature's many remedies, the proper application of which depends upon good judgment.

To yawning, not only the nuscles which move the lower jaw are used, but also the breathing muscles of the chest, and he who yawns to his heart's content also raises and extends the arms. In the deepest inspiration the chest remains extended the nostrils dilated. Inside the mouth, the tongue becomes round and arched,

the palate stiffly stretched, and the uvula

between the nose and the throat. At the beginning of the inspiration a cracking noise is heard in the ears, a proof that the duct leading to the hearing also succumbs to this stretching.

If the yawning has reached the deepest point it will require from one to one and a half seconds for it to become noticeable to the hearing. In order to observe this, let one place himself at a sufficient distance from a clock, so that its ticking will not be easily heard, and sufficient distance from a clock, so that its ticking will not be easily heard, and yawn deeply. During this deep breathing the sound of the clock is not perceptible to the most careful listening. All this simply goes to show that yawning sets a number of muscles to work, and particularly those which are not directly subject to the will.

Although one varying does not prerectly subject to the will.

Although one yawning does not prevent a very agreeable appearance, it is very agreeable to himself, for the stretching of the muscles causes a feeling of comfort; it acts like massage, and is the most natural gymnastics of the lungs imaginable. Dr. Naegeli, therefore, advises people not to concern themselves with so-called decency, but every morning and evening, and as often as possible; to exercise the lungs and all the muscles of respiration by yawning and stretching, as many chronic lung troubles may thus be prevented.

Dr. Naegeli orders the patient troubled with too much wax in his ear, accompanwith too much wax in his ear, accompanied with pain, to yawn often and deeply. The pain will soon disappear. He also, in the case of nasal catarrh, inflammation of the palate, sore throat and carache, orders the patient as often as possible during each day to yawn from six to ten times successively, and immediately afterwards to swallow. The result will be surprising. If one looks upon yawning as a natural massage for certain organs he will reach a satisfactory explanation of its curative powers.—[Berlin Unserve Zeit. with too much wax in his ear, accompan-

PAPER IN MONEY MAKING.

Where Uncle Sam Gets the Supply for the Currency.

The Berkshire Hills, or, to be particular, that portion of the hills in and about Pittsfield, enjoy the distinction of being the place of manufacture of all the paper used in making the Government's legal tender, a distinction which it has conthe place of manufacture of all the paper used in making the Government's legal tender, a distinction which it has continued to enjoy uninterruptedly ever since the issue of paper money by the Government began. It is also worthy of note that the same mills turn out a very large portion of the paper which subsequently becomes the currency of Canada. Furthermore—the average Berkshire patriot will not permit you to escape without hearing the whole story—these same hills have a silk mill wherein is made all the tiny particles of silk thread which cover the surface of the completed note. So that, on the whole, this part of Massachusetts may well lay claim to a monopoly of the moneymaking industry.

When the paper of which the bills are made leaves the machine it is cut into sheets 8 1-4 inches wide by 13 1-2 inches long, ench sheet containing four notes; 175,000 pounds is the average amount which the Government requires every year. The silk threads of various colors which cover the surface of the note are each three-eighths of an inchlong. They are made just like ordinary silk thread, except that they are not twisted as much as the ordinary a ticle.

Col. Brown, the Government Inspector, who looks after the work at the Berkshire mills, says that the use of these silk threads has greatly diminished the Government's losses by counterfeiting, those losses being now very small, owing to the fact that the arrangement of the distribution of the thread is altered with each new issue of notes. Those who handle the notes, having been notified of each counterfeite, something they were not able to do prior to 1865, when plain paper was used.

Smallest of Flowering Plants,

Smallest of Flowering Plants,

The smallest flowering plant, so far as we are able to ascertain, is wolffia microscopica, a native of India. It belongs to the duckweed family. It is almost microthe duck weed family. It is almost microscopic in size, destitute of proper stem, leaves and noots, but having these organs merged in one, forming a frond. There is a prolongation of the lower surface, the purpose of which seems to be to enable the plant to float upright in the water. The fronds multiply by sending out other fronds from a sht or concavity, and with such rapidity does this take place that a few days often suffice the produce from a few individuals enough similar ones to cover many square rods of pond surface with the mining green granules. Small at these plants are they have flowers.

Why should not every housekeeper avail herself of the baking powder which will give her the best food with the least trouble?

Avoid all baking powders sold with a gift or prize, or at a lower price than the Royal, as they invariably contain alum, lime or sulphuric acid, and render the food unwholesome.

Certain protection from alum baking powders can be had by declining to accept any substitute for the Royal, which is absolutely pure.
