The Case of Dr. Dunigan.

Dr. Joseph H. Dunigan, formerly of Greenwood, died of diphtheria at the General Hospital in Buffalo at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Fifteen hours before his death he received the anti-toxine treatment, the new remedy for diphtheria. His death created no end of talk among medical men and others interested in the discovery of anti-toxine.

Dr. Dunigan was taken ill with diphtheria about a week previous to his death. He contracted the disease from some children he had been treating. A diagnosis which was quickly made left no doubt as to the nature of the disease. The doctor never believed that his malady would prove fatal and the physicians in attendance shared his opinion. When it was suggested to him that he take the anti-toxine he readily agreed and preparations were at once made to get the disease-killer from New York. It appeared that there was considerable difficulty in getting it. The New York physicians who have it for sale refused to dispose of it in less than $100 packages. Dr. Dunigan's malady wasn't considered serious enough to warrant such an outlay, but Dr. P. K. Outlaw, Dr. Dunigan's attending physician, thought he might have use for the anti-toxine in other cases and on Wednesday nine cubic centimeters of the new discovery were delivered at the General Hospital.

There was such an improvement in Dr. Dunigan's condition on Thursday morning that it was deemed advisable to withhold the inoculation. In the afternoon, however, Dr. Dunigan grew worse and at 5 o'clock the anti-toxine was administered. For a brief time the patient rallied, then grew worse and expired at 10 o'clock the following morning.

Dr. J. C. Cronyn of Buffalo said that the death of Dr. Dunigan after receiving the anti-toxine treatment not only proved that the new discovery is a fake, but says that some explaining should be required to show that the anti-toxine itself had not caused death. He stands alone in this view, however, as a dozen other Buffalo physicians hold an entirely different opinion. Dr. Outlaw, a prominent doctor, said:

"I don't believe that any remedy could have saved Dr. Dunigan's life. It isn't fair to state that this death proves anything detrimental to anti-toxine. To be successful, the anti-toxine must be given 24 hours to react. Fifteen hours after we gave Dr. Dunigan the anti-toxine he died. I think it is fair to presume that if the anti-toxine had been given to the patient earlier, his life would have been saved. From the time he was taken ill Dr. Dunigan was confident that he would master the disease. It was the intention to give him the anti-toxine treatment as soon as it arrived on Wednesday, but he was in such excellent spirit that we deferred it. Friday morning he was unusually bright, and we all believed that he was on the road to recovery. In the afternoon he grew worse and sank rapidly. We hastily administered the anti-toxine, but it was impossible to check the disease."

Dr. Dunigan was an exceedingly popular young physician. He was born in Greenwood in 1864. He had an office at the corner of Smith and Elk streets, Buffalo, and had an extensive practice. His system had been run down when he contracted the disease from one of his patients. A father and mother, a brother and two sisters survive the deceased and live in Greenwood.

The remains of Dr. Dunigan were brought to Andover Saturday, in a sealed metallic casket, and were taken to Rexville, where the funeral was held Sunday.

Those having accounts with me are requested to call and make settlement in some way at once. The change of firm renders this necessary and a ready response will greatly oblige. Yours, W. H. PHILLIPS.

Grover and David Reconciled.

"WHITE HOUSE, Jan. 3.—Dear David: Please dine with us tonight. We are going to have pie and three kinds of jam.

"WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Dear Grover: I'll come. What lovely weather we're having!"

And Grover and David dined together. We should not overlook the fact, however, that Grover got the gout from dining at his own table before he invited David there.

Angelica Court House and Jail Sold.

The court house and jail at Angelica were offered for sale Saturday, as advertised. For some weeks past Angelica people have been discussing the matter of purchasing this property for use by the town, and accordingly it was purchased by a few citizens there, who will hold it until a vote can be taken by the people on the question of buying it. There is little doubt that the vote will be favorable. The entire property sold for $855.

An Absolute Divorce Granted.

By final judgment of the Supreme Court, the marriage contract of Oliver Jackson and Delpha Jackson has been dissolved, and the custody of the only child awarded Mrs. Jackson, who now is legally authorized to use her maiden name of Richards. She also secures title to certain real estate and personal property, household goods, etc. This is the outcome of domestic infelicity that has extended over a period of two or three years. Attorney Crayton L. Earley of this place commenced the action for Mrs. Jackson and carried the same to a successful termination.

Having sold one-half interest in my mercantile business to James Owen, I take this opportunity of thanking my friends and customers for their very liberal patronage in the past, and assure them that the new firm will, by reason of increased stock, more help, our floor space doubled, etc., be able to serve you satisfactorily in every respect.

Mr. Owen is so well known in Andover as a man of business ability that it is needless to say the addition of his name to the firm and his presence in the store can not do otherwise than work to the advantage of our customers.

Very Truly Yours,
W. H. PHILLIPS.

Good News.

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Otto's Cure. Thousands of bottles of this great German remedy are being distributed FREE OF CHARGE, by druggists in this country, to those afflicted with consumption, asthma, croup, severe coughs, pneumonia and all throat and lung diseases, giving the people proof that Otto's Cure will cure them, and that it is the grandest triumph of medical science. Sold only by L. A. Burrows, Andover. Samples free. Large bottles 25 and 50 cents.

Carlton Cornwell, foreman of the Gazette, Middletown, N. J., writes that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy should be in every home. He used it for a cold and it effected a speedy cure. He says: "It is indeed a grand remedy, I can recommend to all." I have also seen it used for whooping cough, with the best results." 25 and 50c bottles for sale by L. A. Burrows.

The "Standard" Takes the Lead.

The best educated people and most intelligent critics in the country are loud in their praise of the Standard Dictionary. They say it meets the requirements of every day life better than any other work of the kind. But the people of this place do not need to take the word of others as the only proof. A short time spent in examining the book will convince any person that all the claims made for this dictionary are true. No person can afford to be without it. This applies equally to those who have, as well as to those who have not, another dictionary. We would be willing to guarantee that any other work will lie idle on your shelves and turn yellow with age while your "Standard" will show the marks of usage. The book is so well bound, however, that it is practically indestructible. You can make no mistake in purchasing the "Standard."

Notice to the Farmers' Scale Co.

At the regular meeting held Tuesday evening it was found that each stockholder's share was $1.70. An adjournment was taken until Friday, Jan. 25th, at 2 o'clock p. m., at C. L. Early's office, to enable those who have not paid in to do so, at which time it is desired that all stock be paid in and all members be present, as there is important business to transact.
