ARE

You a talker? Are you a book agent, a lightning rod man, a sewing machine agent or any of those quiet life insurance men that we hear about? We'd like to sell you neckwear just once so you'll talk about them when you need a new topic. We'll sell you neckwear at 17c that is sold elsewhere at 25c. You can't realize how good they are (unless you are a neckwear man) from reading about them, but they're better from every point than any 25c. tie you can buy. This neckwear sale will hold for 10 days only. 17c. each or 3 for 50.

Storm Notes.

It is of no use to tell the readers of the News that we had a blizzard last week. If they didn't realize it we could not hope to describe it. Strange to say, we haven't yet seen the man who had passed through a worse one. It seemed as though we were nearly out of the world, with no mail from Friday at 11 a. m. until Sunday noon.

A number of Andover people who were out of town when the blizzard struck us last Friday morning were compelled to stay away from home longer than they had intended. Their absence was "evened up," by those from other places who were compelled to remain here until the storm subsided.

Ever since the late storm ceased, the work of opening roads has been pushed vigorously. Volunteer parties of men, numbering from two or three to a dozen or more, could be seen on every road armed with shovels, and even axes or pickaxes were brought into play with good results. The snow drifted in places where it had never been known to drift before, and snowbanks six or eight feet high which would hold up a team of horses and a sleigh were not uncommon sights. It was much easier to travel on foot than in a sleigh, and a citizen of Rexville who had business in Andover Monday made the round trip by putting one foot before the other and keeping at it.

It was reported yesterday that D. A. Green, who drives the Alfred and Hornellsville stage, had frozen to death last Friday while on his way from Hornellsville to Alfred. The report proved to be untrue. Mr. Green started from Hornellsville and drove as far as Almond, when he was compelled to stop and wait for the storm to subside.

The blizzard follows the zero weather and behind the blizzard is more zero weather. The man who predicted an open winter was right. It has been wide open, with 150 pounds pressure to the square inch.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned wish to thank their friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown them during their recent bereavement, especially Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Robinson, and those of the choir who came in the extreme cold, also to Rev. Mr. Leach who went with the friends the long drive to the Cemetery.

O. W. O. Hardman, Sheriff of Taylor Co., W. Va., appreciates a good thing and does not hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a little bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says: "It gave me prompt relief. I had it to be an invaluable remedy for coughs and colds."

PERSONAL.

D. Adams of Cuba was in town last week.

M. Mc Tighe of Binghamton was in town the first of the week.

Mrs. James Adams of Hinsdale visited her brother, J. C. Greene, during the past week.

Mrs. S. Karr and Mrs. E. Young of Almond, visited Mrs. J. C. Nichols the latter part of last week.

T. H. Ross and W. E. Snyder were in Buffalo last week buying goods for their new store. They stayed a few days longer than they intended, on account of the storm, and arrived home Sunday.

Mr. Herbert Padden, the popular clerk in A. M. Young & Co.'s general furnishing store, left Tuesday for his home in Andover, where he will enjoy a month or six weeks' vacation with his parents.—Cuba Patriot.

Queer Coincidence.

T. M. Comstock, who has been spending a few weeks with his daughter, Mrs. L. E. Brenneman of Columbia City, Ind., is at home again. He passed through Andover over a week ago on his way to Westfield, Pa. Mrs. D. J. Comstock and Mr. Wm. Diffin were also in Westfield last week, to attend the funeral of Mrs. D. C. Crandall, sister of the late Mrs. T. M. Comstock. Mrs. Crandall's death occurred in seven weeks from the time her sister died, on the same day of the week. She was buried on the same day of the week. Her funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. James of Westfield, and Mrs. Comstock's funeral, as is known already to Andover people, was conducted by Rev. Mr. James of Andover.

Would Be a Competent Official.

Principal T. H. Armstrong is a candidate for Inspector of Training Classes for Western New York. The State Superintendent of Instruction appoints this officer, who is paid a salary of $1,800 per year and expenses. Mr. Armstrong has excellent credentials and his chances for obtaining the position are bright. His health would doubtless improve in an office requiring the outdoor activity of an Inspector of Training Classes, but our citizens will hardly be able to suppress regret over his possible resignation at the close of the school year to accept this office or to undertake lighter labor.—Friendship Register.

Prof. Armstrong's many friends in Andover will hope that he may succeed in obtaining this appointment.

Sad Death of a Young Man.

John Hiram, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodolpho Howland, who live about two miles west of this village, died on Sunday evening, February 10, 1895, of phlegmonous erysipelas. His age was 19 years. He had been ill about a week, but had improved, and it was thought on Friday that his recovery would be only a matter of a short time. He was taken much worse toward night on the day mentioned, and grew rapidly worse until death occurred.

Johnnie, as he was familiarly called, was a young man of most excellent reputation, kind, courteous and possessed very many excellent qualities. His death is mourned by a wide circle of relatives and friends.

Short services were held at the house yesterday at one o'clock p. m., followed by services at the Elm Valley school house, which were very largely attended. Rev. J. M. Leach of this place officiating. The burial took place at the Elm Valley cemetery.

The afflicted family has the sympathy of their friends and acquaintances in their great bereavement.

A Great Artist.

"Never has a greater artist on his instruments reached Albany, than Alfred A. Farland. His testimonials and notices have been quite elaborate, but even so the half has never yet been told. Memories of Thomas' orchestra, Gilmore's band and Paderewski's piano, were all condensed in those perfectly ravishing strains. We do not believe his duplicate can be found. One year ago, $1,000 was offered any one to equal him. No one answered the challenge."—Albany Sunday Press, Jan. 14, 1894.

Prof. Farland will appear at the entertainment in Wellsville Feb. 20th. See notice elsewhere.

An Enterprising Firm.

We understand Mr. O'Malley of the Cuba marble and granite works has recently contracted with A. M. Phillips of Almond, N. Y., for a family monument of the Sarcophagus order. The material used the celebrated dark Barre granite. This monument will be one of the finest pieces of work in this locality. Also one out of the beautiful improved red Scotch granite for the late Mrs. Thomas, wife of Peleg Thomas. Both of these monuments are to be placed in the Almond Cemetery in the spring. And we can assure for the above parties that both of these monuments will be of works of art, coming from this popular firm. The reputation of Mr. O'Malley for doing first-class work and fair and just dealing with the public extends far and near, and is fully appreciated by his many customers.

Afternoon Tea.

Flit Wagwell in her last syndicate article says: "I don't recommend any special brand of tea for afternoon fare to 'clocks.' I do, however, know all about the best tea to take at night. Parks' Tea will certainly clear your complexion and purify your blood. You will be surprised at the improvement if you take a cup of Parks' Tea each night." Sold by Benedict & Van Noy.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga Tenn. says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels. Price 75c. Sold by O. E. Vars.
