

THE ANDOVER NEWS.
ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

HAMILTON C. NORRIS, EDITOR
ANDOVER, N. Y., March 6 1895.

Some men who are horrified when other men are bribed are actuated by envy, not honor.

Why the Goulds did not buy some thing higher than Count is one of the popular conundrums.

The Prince of Wales has gone yachting. Now what will his poor, yachtless American imitators do?

The latest sport devised by the young bloods of Chicago, is shooting at the police. No hits have yet been made.

If New York is to have the whipping post re-established, why not also the stocks and other antiquated methods of torture?

If the tuberculin cure for insanity proves a success, there are lots of people outside of the asylums who ought to be treated.

How long will the bond Shylocks wait before beginning to draw that gold out of the Treasury, preparatory to another bond issue?

Congress has had a temperance society for 63 years, but it seems to live only one day in a year—when its anniversary meeting is held.

Bob Mantell, the actor, will appear in a new and realistic play, called "In Brooklyn Jail," by reason of his failure to pay alimony to his divorced wife.

Susan B. Anthony enjoys the reputation of being the best dressed woman in the United States, notwithstanding all the time she devotes to woman suffrage.

James W. Scott, who has been getting up a corner in Chicago newspapers, says that, although fully aware of his right to be called Great Scott, he prefers the old "Jim."

Another proof that the negro is a born talker was given when the son of a negro barber walked off with the first prize in an oratorical contest at the University of Indiana.

The Washington jury that acquitted Howgate did not, strange to say, recommend that the District Attorney be imprisoned for having dared to prosecute a man for stealing government money. One act would have been as just as the other.

Some appear to be surprised at the alacrity with which those bonds were gobbled up. Why, pray? Has not every move of the great capitalists been made to force the government into the issue of bonds in order that their idle money should be profitably employed?
