The Citizens' Hose at Franklinville.

The Citizens' Hose Company, accompanied by the Martial Band, were entertained at Franklinville on July 4, and, according to the statement of every individual member of both organizations, the "boys" had the most enjoyable time they have experienced since the hose company was organized. No praise is too great to bestow upon the people of Franklinville for the handsome treatment accorded them, and the day will long be remembered by all who were fortunate enough to be present.

Andover's representatives acquitted themselves with great credit to themselves and honor to their town. This statement is not made upon the sole authority of the boys themselves, although that would doubtless be sufficient, but in order to avoid any possibility of criticism for self praise, and to show to what extent the Citizens' were "in it," we copy the following from the Franklinville Journal, whose editor had abundant opportunity for making comparisons between our company and the other companies present:

"By common consent it was decided that 'the finest' company in line was the Citizens' Hose of Andover, W. B. Bundy, foreman. They came a long distance but the unstinted and well deserved compliments bestowed on them must have repaid them for their trip and trouble. There were 25 men in line besides the foreman. At their head marched a colored man carrying their banner, and two little fellows jauntily dressed in red cutaway suits. The company members were dressed in elegant-fitting buff colored suits made up with sack coats and tastily trimmed with dark braid. They certainly presented a very gentlemanly and gallant appearance, and their conduct was in keeping with their looks. They have a double quartette whose singing was a feature of their visit. The two mascots they carry, Masters Ed. and Sam Joyce, are bright and talented little youngsters too, and entertained on several occasions with their clever songs."

We also copy the following "notes" from the same paper:

"Between heats the Andover boys favored the big crowds with an exhibition drill which was the finest thing in its line ever seen in this town. Their perfect evolutions elicited great applause."

"We understand that it is the rule of the Citizens' Hose Company of Andover to strip any member of his uniform should he in any way bring disrespect or reproach upon the organization. This is a golden rule for all companies to follow. Firemen's conventions would be in far better repute were such organizations to imitate the Andover gentlemen."

Of course it is unnecessary to state that our boys' suits all "remained in their places," on the backs of the owners.

From the Franklinville Chronicle we clip the following:

"Shortly before 10 o'clock the morning parade formed on Elm street and marched to the depot to meet the special train from Cuba and Andover, and the one bringing the Aurora and Springville firemen bands and their friends. The line then formed on Franklin street, taking the newly arrived companies into line. When they all moved the sight was a most inspiring one. First of all came the Andover Martial Band with fifes and drums playing 'Yankee Doodle' and other patriotic airs to a time that would make even such a 'two by two' keep step in perfect unison."

"The Citizens' of Andover were here in large force accompanied by a martial band of about a dozen pieces, from the Seaman G. A. R. Post of that place. This band was perhaps the most interesting part of the parade. Their music was just the kind to make the eagle scream. The exhibition drill of the company at the Driving Park after the races was repeatedly cheered by the crowd. During intervals between heats the Euterpe octets of the company furnished excellent entertainment for the people and amusement for themselves by songs, and before leaving they serenaded Village President, W. A. Day. The members of the entire company are perfect gentlemen, and Franklinville hopes to have the pleasure of entertaining them again."

Philip Phillips Lived in Andover.

Philip Phillips, known the world over as the "Singing Pilgrim," died at Delaware, Ohio, a few days ago.

It may be interesting to many to know that this famous singer resided in Andover for about a year when he was a young man. It was in the year 1857, and he taught his first singing school here during that year. He also taught singing school in Independence. There are now in this place a few of his scholars. Mr. Phillips boarded in the family of A. Porter while he was in Andover, and made many friends here, whom he never forgot. He has given concerts here many times since, and always made it a point to visit with his old friends, sometimes coming with his family for that purpose only.

Devotions at the Blessed Sacrament Church.

The forty hours' devotion at the Blessed Sacrament church closed, with the 10:30 o'clock mass last Sunday. The attendance at the devotions was very good. Three hundred and eight persons received Holy Communion. Father Grattan of Buffalo preached Thursday evening on "The Mercy of God." Father Barlow of Hornellsville preached Friday evening; his theme was the Holy Eucharist as a continuation and perpetuation of the Sacrifice of the Cross. "The Holy Eucharist as the Sacrifice of the Mass," said Father Barlow, "appeases God's anger and gains grace for men. The daily offering of this sacrifice averts many calamities that, but for it, would visit this earth and excessively harass the human family. On account of this sacrifice also, God blesses abundantly the earth and its inhabitants. The most excellent manner in which the laity can unite with the Priest in offering this sacrifice is to worthily receive Jesus Christ in Holy Communion."

Both sermons were listened to with marked attention, and ought to produce a lasting beneficial effect upon those who were so fortunate as to be among the audience. Besides Fathers Grattan and Barlow, Fathers Haire of Belfast, Rogers of Cuba, Noonan of Addison, and McConnell of Rexville, were in attendance. Father Murray has reason to be pleased at the result of the forty hours' devotion.

Mrs. J. E. B. Santee and son of Hornellsville, and Mrs. Bentley of Rhode Island, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crandall.

Fred Dummore went to Oswayo to spend the 4th.

Mr. Chas. Austin and daughter attended church here Saturday.

Ice cream social Tuesday evening on S. G. Crandall's lawn.

We had a grand celebration here the evening of the Fourth, consisting of music, foot races, sack races, climbing telephone poles, leap frog, truck races, fire works and heavy cannonading. About 1,000 people were present (only lacking 900.)

Will Adams and family of Voorhess Hill visited at O. G. Clarke's Friday.

Last Friday Robert Stout met with quite an accident. While riding a wheel down the hill on the creek road by Myron Lewis' his wheel ran away and went through a board fence, throwing the rider and badly demoralizing the wheel. Rob. had to be carried home.

Herm Austin and Miss Alice Woodcock were calling on friends here Sunday afternoon.

F. M. Basset and wife of Andover were callers Saturday afternoon.

From VanBuren, Ohio.

A letter received from F. L. Smith, of VanBuren, Ohio, son of H. D. Smith of this place, contains the following, which may be of interest to our readers:

Everything is looking fine in this part of the state, and bids fair for very large crops, with the exception of hay, which is only about half the average crop. We have had but a little rain in about three months.

Mr. Thomas Gavin, formerly of Andover, but now a resident of this city, is the proud father of a 12 pound sou.

Catholic Summer School.

The fourth annual session of the Catholic Summer School of America was formally opened at Plattsburg, N. Y. last Sunday. Fully 20,000 persons were seated in the handsome church where the session was held, and thousands more unable to gain admittance were standing in the streets when the procession of bishops and priests started from the house of the Very Rev. Dr. Walsh, pastor of the church. Special trains and boats brought thousands from the Adirondacks and Vermont to witness the ceremonies. Pontifical high mass was celebrated by Mgr. Satoli, Papal Delegate.
