

of Tramps at N. D.

Themselves and Greatly Alarmed—
in Every Freight Station of Work in the ids Attracted Them.

Aug. 19.—The great in-crease in the number of tramps has become a source of no end of trouble and it is before the city has gotten the full force of the problem before the men find of work and angry at being re-ferred to the penitentiary. It is estimated over 1,000 men are in the immediate vicinity who are carrying guns. Burglaries at stores are of nightly occur-rence and it is remarked that the case of the revolver and shotguns is being molested. It is claimed that the men who have been sent to the penitentiary are waiting a favorable oppor-tunity to hold up the city. For the last several months have been coming in from the hundred and of late the police have been ordering them away as fast as they come. Every freight train brings in from ten to one hundred of the men and among the lot are some of the most villainous specimens un-der the sun. They were informed that there is plenty of work here and demand that the people of the city support them until they can find something to do. There are more men in the harvest fields now than can find work and the steady rush of men to this point is but compli-cating affairs. Many of the people here are badly frightened by the outlook.

MISS HASWELL'S PREDICAMENT

Liable to a Long Sentence for Aiding Perry's Escape.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Miss Haswell, the Troy missionary, who is implicated in the escape of train robber Perry from Matteawan prison, has not been arrested yet. Supt. Allison of the Matteawan state hospital for the criminal insane will get out a warrant to-day. Miss Haswell, who is still at Ocean Grove, is shadowed by detectives and cannot get away. District Attorney Wood said that the American Express company might proceed against her for receiving stolen goods; that she was liable to the United States government for using the mails for improper purposes, and that the state of New York will prosecute her for aiding the escape of a felon, which is a crime punishable by as long a sentence as the felon who is aided to escape. If this is accepted liter-ally the woman may be liable to a long term of imprisonment. The main evi-dence on which the authorities expect to convict Miss Haswell is the confession of ex-keeper Hopkins, he being willing to testify that he had seen her in con-siderable correspondence with Perry and her. All the keeper's negotiations for the release of Perry and his pals were carried on by him with the train robber in person. Hopkins is now in jail.

HOLMES' CASTLE DESTROYED

Incendiary Fire Wipes Out the Supposed Murderer's Old Home.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—The big flat build-ing at the corner of 83d and Wallace streets, Englewood, in which is located the historic Holmes "castle" was de-stroyed by fire early this morning. A night watchman discovered the fire. There were several muffled explosions in the rear of a confectioner's store that changed hands recently, and then the flames burst from all the windows. Mar-shal Kenyon declares there is ample evi-dence of incendiarism. Davis' drug store on the corner is a complete wreck, as is also the confectionery store.

They will begin to arrive at Lourdes to-day.

Its Four Members and Three Others Drowned.

Their Bodies Eaten by Crabs and Horribly Disfigured—The Disaster Caused by Overloading the Boat and the Unreasoning Fears of the Women Passengers.

Ocean City, Md., Aug. 19.—Seven lives paid the penalty Saturday of the overcrowding of a small sailboat and the unreasoning fright of the women aboard, who, when the little craft shipped some water, sprang to one side, overturning it and throwing the occupants into the water. The boat contained ten persons, and of these ten only three were rescued. The dead are: Wm. Storrs, aged 45 years, a sign painter; his wife, Mrs. Laura Storrs, aged 88; their two daughters, Ida May and Eva, aged 14 and 16 years respectively; Lulu and Lena Hall, sisters, aged 18 and 18 years respectively, of Bishopville, Del., and Miss Myrtle Stevens, aged 14 years, of Selbyville, Del. The Storrs family were residents of Philadelphia and lived at 4849 Lancaster avenue. The bodies of Storrs, his wife and two daughters and Miss Stevens have been recovered, but those of the Hall girls are still in the water. Mrs. Storrs was a native of this city, and since her marriage she and her husband and children have spent their vacation here every summer.

Warned of the Danger.

Saturday Mr. Storrs made up a party and as the day was fine a pleasant time was anticipated. The boat of William Hudson was engaged for the party. Hudson's boat was a small one, and when nine persons came trooping gaily down to the wharf to embark he pro-tested against so many people going in her. Mr. Storrs laughingly jested his objections aside and further said that as the water was shallow near shore, where they intended to sail there would be no possible danger. The party crowded into the boat and the start was made for Hammocks Point. The point was safely reached and Hudson tacked towards the inlet. In coming about and in the shifting from one side to the other of the passengers the boat kneeled and shipped a few bucketsful of water.

Women Upset the Boat.

The kneeling of the boat frightened the women of the party, and some of them sprang to their feet. The sudden move-ment of the terrified women threw the boat over and it capsized and the entire party was thrown into the water. The boat for some reason sank, carrying down with it its skipper, Hudson. Hudson, with the strength of despair, suc-ceeded in drawing the mast from the boat and it immediately rose to the sur-face again. In the meanwhile Mr. Storrs had been supporting as well as he was able the struggling women. The water at the place where the accident occurred was only six feet deep and the shore was but a short distance off, and it seemed possible that the entire party might be reached in safety. When the boat rose to the top of the water Mr. Storrs and Hudson succeeded in drawing the women of the party to it and getting them to grasp the rail.

Let Go the Boat and Drowned.

The terrible exertions he had under-gone, however, had exhausted Mr. Storrs' strength and as he reached out his hand to take hold of the boat he sank beneath the water. The disappearance of her husband unnerved Mrs. Storrs and she released her hold of the boat and threw herself towards the spot where he had gone down as if to try and save him. She, too, sank and her children, horrified by the drowning of both parents, became hysterical and, losing their strength, let go the boat and sank. The two Hall girls became exhausted and drowned together. Just as assistance from shore was within a few ear strokes of the capsized boat, Myrtle Stevens slipped from it and went under. Hudson, Wil-liam Hall, brother of the Hall girls, and Miss Ida May Hudson, who still clung to the boat, were rescued in an exhausted condition.

The Bodies Disfigured by Crabs.

The bodies of the drowned were im-mediatey grappled for and all were re-covered but the Hall girls. The bodies were in a horrible state when drawn to the surface. The crabs had eaten them and the flesh was torn from the face, the ears gashed out, and the fingers chewed off to the knuckles.

Hotel Champlain, Clinton county, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The dance given at the American Canoe association's camp, near here, Saturday night, was a very successful affair. NEW RUSSIAN MINISTER.

M. De Kotzebue a Man of Wealth and Fond of Society.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The new Rus-sian minister to the United States, M. De Kotzebue, who will succeed Prince Cantacuzene, proves to be a trolcheur-in-law of that gentleman. He has been stationed at Paris, where for many years he has discharged the duties of second secretary of the Russian legation and is reported to be a society man in the broadest acceptance of the term. His entrance into the diplomatic corps was to the good offices of Prince Gortschakoff, who was for many years the prime minister of the empire, and who, a decade ago, was one of the great trinity of European statesmen, of whom Bismarck and Disraeli were the other two. M. De Kotzebue will probably not reach Washington until late in the sea-son. Should he arrive sooner he will doubtless join the other members of the corps at Newport and Lenox, which seem to be their favorite resorts, particu-larly in the early autumn months.
