wills there is no end. One of them, made by a woman, has just been filed with the Surrogate, states the New Tork Tribune. The feature of it is the decedent's hostility to her husband and her determination that her ittle son shall have no relation; with his father's family. The bulk of her property is to go to him at his majerity, but only on condition that he tives continuously with his mother's family and blood relatives. The will as not drawn by the woman berself, but by a lawyer, who even added a sodicil to make this provision more stringent. Some wills seem to be made for the purpose of being broken. It will be strange if this does not prove to be one of them.

The exploit of the signal corps in exchanging heliograph messages between Pike's Peak and Denver, a distance of 120 miles, shows to the New York San how wonderfully this system has been developed in our army. That it is a practical appliance in warfare was shown during General Miles's campaign against Geronimo nine years ago, when the news of every movement of the hostiles, and even signs of possible movement, was flashed by mirrors from point to point, one such message traveling 700 miles from station to station in four hours. This method of communication, where there were no telegraph wires, not only proved most valuable to troops, but, it is said, disheartened the hos tiles when they learned of its uses.

Says the Springfield Republican: A movement of population from the cities back into the country is noted In Minnesota. The State census now being taken will show comparatively small gains by the larger cities. except Duluth, during the last five years, leaving to the country a considerable fraction of the total gain in population of 300,000 to 500,000 which the census will show for the whole State. The Minnespolis Tribune regards this recession in urban growth as an encouraging sign, and so it probably is. We shall be much surprised if own Massachusetts census does not exhibit a similar population movemen in progress here. All over the country the drift to the cities has been too general and extensive for a decade and a half past to meet the demands of a natural and healthful adjustment be tween populations engaged in agriculture and populations engaged in manufacturing, transportation, and professional and personal services. latter avenues of employment have been terribly overcrowed, and the coming on of hard times has compelled something of a halt in this remarkable march of the population to

Vultures and a Dead Tiger.

The vulture is seen at its best when a dead tiger, brought into camp to be kinned, is exposed in the open. Overhead is a cloudless sky, and not a bird to be seen in that great void by the human eye. The tiger's body is thrown from the pad to the ground, and before the skin has been removed there, above one, and always nearing the earth, are the vultures circling, posing like things of air; now a dozen of them, in a few minutes a score or two, and then a hundred strong. Then, when the flayed carcass of the tiger is left by those who skinned it, the vultures descend; down they come like The volture is seen at its best when tures descend; down they come like feathered thunder out of the sky, and from the east and west and north and south. The very embodiment of The very embodiment of while they whirled aloft and in nick descent to earth; and now, their quick descent to earth; and now, as the waddle around that carrion beast, misshappen ghouls, whose only apparent strength is that of the ravening jaws which tear and gorge the tiger's flesh, until within the hour manght of that splendid brute remains but a clean-picked skeleton.—Thirty Years of Shikar.

THE CHINESE OUTRAGES

Ex-Secretary Foster Talks on the Subject.

The Mass of the People Not Particularly Hostile-Office-Seekers to Blame-Imperial Authorities Always Ready To Act—A Case Where We Did Not Render Justice.

We Did Not Render Justice.

Watertown, N. Y., Sopt. 9.—Ex-secretary John W. Foster delivered an address last night in the First Presbyterian church of this city, of which his son-in-law Rev. A. M. Dulles is pastor. In the course of his address he made the following references to the recent Chinese riots; "The opinion formed by me after careful inquiry and observation is that the mass of the population in China, particularly the common people, are not especially hostile to the missionaries and their work. They have been permitted to penetrate every part of that vast empire with as little disturbance as the Chinese laborers have spread themselves over the United States and in case of danger the authorities have usually exerted themselves for their protection.

Officeseekers Responsible.

Officeseekers Responsible.

Officeseekers responsible.

Occasionally riots have taken place, but they are almost invariably traced to the literati or prospective office holders and the ruling classes. These are often bigotted and conceited to the highest degree and regard the teaching of the missionaries as tending to overthrow the exwhich they look upon as a perfect system and sanctified by great antiquity.

The war with Japan, which resulted in a humiliating peace and the loss of territory, has greatly weakened the imperial authority and the disbandment of several hundred thousand troops, mostly without receiving the pay due them, has added very much to the prevailing discontent and disorder. Under such circumstances it is not strange that riots should occur and that 'the witespread missions should be the chief sufferers. Cause of the Disorder. should occur and that 'the widespread missions should be the chief sufferers. These riots have been mostly confined to pillaging and destruction of property, the chief exception being the Kucheng massacre, which has justly horrified the civilized world.

Our Own Conduct Not Perfect

Our Own Conduct Not Perfect.
But we in America should be chary of our condemnation when we recall the many outrages which have been inflicted upon Chinese subjects in the United States, and remember that the Rock Springs, Wyo., riot a few years ago was equally cruel and fatal in its results and reflected more severely upon our authorises. Although only a few weeks have elapsed since the Kucheng massacre, the telegraph informs us that near a score of participants have already been condemned to death, more than a hundred are in prison awaiting trial, and the imperial government is already arranging to fully compensate the missions for all their losses. In contrast with this summary administration of justice by the Chinese authorities stands the fact that many administration of justice by the Chinese authorities stands the fact that no punishment followed the Rock Springs massacre, compensation was delayed for three years and then accompanied by legislation against the Chinese which was pronounced by our supreme court as in violation of treaty, but without remedy. Should Beware of European Motives

I am, however, in full sympathy with the prevailing demand in the United States that the Chinese government should be held to a strict accountability for these outrages. But in doing this, care should be exercised by our governshould be neld to a strict accountation, for these outrages. But in doing this, care should be exercised by our government that it does not lend itself to advance the sinister projects of European governments, which are on the alert to turn the internal troubles of China to their own benefit. The United States is strong enough to act independently of European combinations, and China has never yet. failed to comply with its just demands.

What It Has To Bay About Valky-ric's Pirst Defeat.

What It Has To Say About Valky.

Te's First Defeat.

Glasgow, Sept. 9.—The Herald of this city will say to-day in an article on the defeat of the Valkyrie III that the result, is exceedingly disappointing as the looks so like a repetition of the old disheartening story. It will add: 'The Defender won the first race in a breeze that on the whole presumably suited her less than it did the challenger. There seems to be no dissent from the opinion that she won on her merit. 'If we are doomed to be beaten it is to be hoped we will take the licking like men.'

The Telgraph will say that it is manifest the Defender is a wonderful yacht. The Graphic will say that it cannot see how to explain the defeat of Valkyrie except by admitting that the Defender is the superior boat.

Blames the Excursion Fleet.

The Post in its article on the race will greatly blame the pleasure fleet for crowding on the course, and will say it presumes that Lord Dunraven will not sail the Valkrie again unless effective means are made to prevent similar crowding in the future. The paper will add: "We must not make too much of Saturday's race. It was Valkyrie's first match after her transatlantic voyage, and the course was more familiar to the Defender's akipper and crew than to the Valkyrie's."

Not Their Best Boat.

Not Their Best Boat.

The Standard will say: "With the best intentions the American yachting authorities are apparently unable to secure fair play. The chances are that should the Defender retain the cup, no British yachtsman will attempt to bring it back unless it is agreed beforehand to sail so far from a great city as to be besured the reach of the excursion units. It back unless it is agreed beforeman sail so far from a great city as to be beyond the reach of the excursion nuisance." The Standard does not admit that the Valkyrie is the British champion yacht, and says that her sailing on the Cityde did not prove that she was believed. than the Britannia except in a paltry

Spritualist Camp Meeting.
Elimwood, Ill., Sept. 9.—Concerning his recent appearance at a spiritualist eamp meeting, at Onsete Bay, Mass, Robert G. Ingersoil yesterday gave the following characteristic interview to a reporter. "The spiritualists are liberal, willing to hear all sides, and so they invited me to speak at their meetings. Of course I gave them my ideas with perfect candor, and they treated me with perfect fairness. I am not a believer in spiritualism, because I have never had the evidence, the facts, to convince me, but I have ism, because I have never had the evidence, the facts, to convince me, but I have no objection to their ideas if they turn out to be true. I believe in intellectual hospitality, and I think that most of the spiritualists, in spite of my infidelity, are my friends. In no respect, have I changed my belief. Leadership of Hollow Horn Bear.

Chamberlain, S. D., Sept. 9.—The Sioux at Rosebud agency, under the leadership of Hollow Horn Bear, a powerful and influential chief, have warned Indian Agent Wright and his employes to vacate the agency within twenty-one days. They threaten to burn the agency buildings. A determination on the part of the agency to reduce rates paid Indians for hauling freight from Valentine, Neb., to the agency from fifty-cents to twenty-five cents a hundred is the cause. The Indians took mortal offense, and runners sent to distant camps brought to the agency about 3,000 angry and excited Indians, Their wrath was partly appeased by a promise to pay thirty-five cents per 100.

His body is more bent than it was eight or ten years ago, but his eye is bright and sixth year, pale and emuciated, with a pallor almost of death upon him. His body is more bent than it was eight or ten years ago, but his eye is bright and generating; his voice is strong and sonorous; his intellect is remarkably clear and luminous; his memory is most tenacious. He has also an astonishing power of physical endurance which enables him to hold audiences for several—consecutive hours. Treating on most important subjects with cardinals and foreign representatives as well as private—individuals and passing with ease and elasticity of mind from one subject to another. He is remarkably familiar with the public events of the day. The holy father naturally rejoices at the religious progress of the United States and takes a deep interest in our political and social institutions and admires our republic, where we have authority without despotism and liberty without license and where our strength lies in the intelligence and patriotism of the people. For eighteen years the pope has lived within the walls of the vatican gardens. He sometimes retires to those gardens and resides in the sumer houses during the heated term."

Others are here who never attended these encampments before and who are now en route to the reunion of the Army of the Tennessee at Cincinnati, the first of this week, and to the dedication of now en route to the remindo of the Nation of the Tennessee at Cincinnait, the first of this week, and to the dedication of the National park on the battefield of Chickamauga the last of next week. This is the first national encampment ever held south of Mason and Dixon's line and it so happens that three other great events elsewhere this week bring many through Louisville now. There is no doubt of the fulfillment of the general prediction that there will be more union veterans together this week than ever before. Losses by deaths yearly increase, but the desire to visit old battle fields and confer with confederate veterans, who are doing everything to entertain their northern visitors, has attracted thousands.
