Mr. Wigger, a cigar manufacturer of Hornellsville, will soon remove to this place and engage in the manufacture of cigars. He comes well recommended and proposes to make a fine line of goods.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Mr. Frank E. Martin and Miss Clara Hann. The event will take place next week Wednesday evening at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Hann.

J. W. Wood of Arkport will receive treatment at the Hornellsville sanitarium, in the hope of receiving benefit to his limbs, of which he has had no use since falling on a Hornellsville sidewalk.

Miss Mary P. Rhoades, English teacher in the Brockport Normal School, visited at the home of Prof. B. G. Estes the latter part of last week. Miss Rhoades took a prominent part in the Institute at Belmont last week.

Helen Richardson, whose illness was mentioned last week, has had an operation performed on the fore finger of the left hand and it is feared it will be necessary to remove the finger at the second joint. The finger and hand have been lanced twenty-one times.

We learn that an impression has been created in the minds of some of the people that Lanphear's mill in this place is not running. The impression is wholly unwarranted, as all departments of the mill are running as usual, and will doubtless continue to do so.

The voter will not be required to wrestle with the problem of properly folding his ballot. The ballot will be handed him by the clerk properly folded and it will be necessary for the voter in the booth to unfold, carefully mark, refold and hand the ballot to the inspector delegated to receive it.

The Erie surveyors were in Andover yesterday. They took measurements along the track, and also secured the dimensions of several buildings near the Main street crossing. If they knew to what purpose the work is being done they kept the knowledge safe in the repositories of their own faithful breasts.

The C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. F. S. Clark, Oct. 28, 1895. The following program will be given: quotations from Longfellow; three facts from the two weeks' reading in Chautauquan; questions and answers in Chautauquan; biographical sketch of Benj. Franklin, by Millie Barney; short sketch of Geo. III, taken from the "Four Georges," by Thackeray, Mrs. W. H. Phillips.

Mrs. Owen T. Moses, better known, perhaps, to Andover people as Miss Bertha Berry, died in Oil City, Pa., Monday, Oct. 14, of consumption. Her only child, a babe of four months, died the day previous, and the remains of mother and child were buried in one casket. Mrs. Moses had many friends in this place, where she visited many times, who are deeply grieved over the sad event.

We have received a copy of The Gleaner, a periodical published in the interest of Wood's Memorial Chapel, which is located at 133 Avenue A, New York City, of which Rev. Daniel Redmond, Ph. D., is pastor. Mr. Redmond was formerly a resident of West Greenwood, and his many friends in Andover and vicinity have nothing but the best of wishes for him and will be pleased to know that his work in New York is bearing good fruit.

Rev. Daniel Walsh, a former rector of the Blessed Sacrament church in this place, and during whose rectorship the handsome new brick edifice was built, has for the past seven years been manager of the Working Boys' Home in Buffalo. A new building is to be erected for the Home. It will cost $60,000, and will be four stories high. The old building at Niagara Square will be torn down and ground broken for the new structure early in the spring. The needs of the institution have outgrown the present accommodations and a new building has become a necessity. Father Walsh's friends in Andover will be delighted to learn of the success of his work in Buffalo.

Mr. Frank Brooks, of Hornellsville will remove to this place the first of next week. He will deal in sewing machines and his place of business will be in John Erest's block on Main street. He will occupy the rooms formerly used for the postoffice. We understand Mr. Brooks will live in David Davis' house on North Main street.
