

THE ANDOVER NEWS
ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

HAMILTON C. NORRIS, EDITOR
ANDOVER, N. Y., November 20, 1895.

The oftener men who make love to other men's wives are used for targets, as per a recent Kansas incident, the better it will be for society at large.

Mr. Dana says New York is largely a white and buff city. The newspapers of that town had impressed us with the idea that the election had left it black and blue.

The anarchists of Chicago are considering the purchase of ten acres of land to be used as a cemetery. It is to be hoped the land will soon be purchased—and occupied.

The country that has a powerful navy always finds it easy to discover reasons for making use of it. This is a lesson taught by history since there were powerful navies.

Nothing could prove the carelessness of people more than the official statement that 6,319,873 pieces of mail matter found their way to the Dead Letter Office last year.

West Virginia has a paper that claims to be "run in the interest of everybody." Its editor must possess a greater degree of versatility than seventy-nine variety actors if he makes his paper a success.

Fresh material for the discussion as to what there may or may not be in a name is afforded by Alderman Stammerjohn, one of the most fluent and eloquent talkers in the Boonville, Mo., City Council.

There must have been a let up in the enforcement of the excise law in New York, as a citizen of that town claims to have seen a burglar more than seven feet tall going through his house last Sunday night.

Whether Schlatter be a fraud or the healer he claims to be, it is certain that reports of his miraculous cures made an American Lourdes of Denver, where he has been for several months past, until a few days ago, when he suddenly left for parts unknown.

General George S. Batcheller says Governor Morton is an out-and-out candidate for the Presidency. We don't know just what he means by the term "out-and-out," but have an idea that there will be a number of out-and-stay-out candidates for the same office.

The New York Sun says that the votes of thousands of Hebrews in that city were thrown out as defective at the late election, because the voter would not make the mark of the cross on the ballot, but substituted some other mark, like Y, K, etc. Those who refused to make the cross mark were Russian Jews, and it is a part of their religious doctrine not to make that sign. But nothing else would go with election inspectors. No cross, no vote.

Ex-Governor Campbell of Ohio said recently: "I don't believe that Mr. Cleveland has any more idea of receiving a nomination for a third term than he has of becoming the Queen of England." This doesn't prove, however, that Mr. Cleveland has no idea of receiving a nomination for a third term. Strange things happen sometimes. For instance, didn't Betsy Lockwood, a few years ago, have an idea that she would be elected President of the United States? And who would have believed, ten years ago, that girls would ride astride of bicycles and horses? Perhaps Mr. Cleveland really expects to become Queen of England after serving four or five terms as President of the United States. He has even been called an "old woman" already.

A Kansas judge has committed for contempt an expert witness—who refused to drink from a bottle and testify as to whether or not the liquid was beer. This seems to be a curious sort of ruling. The witness had no knowledge of the contents of the bottle. It might have contained ink or liquid glue. Probably there was beer in the bottle, but beer drinkers have their hours when to imbibe and when not to imbibe. And perhaps the witness was opposed to beer drinking from principle. The one question to be settled is whether, in this glorious land of the free and home of the brave, the courts can regulate a citizen's habits. But all the same, there are many men who would have liked a crack at that bottle, and they would have been in no danger of commitment for contempt on account of a refusal to drink.

The demand for Ayer's Hair Vigor in such wide-separated regions as South America, Spain, Australia, and India has kept pace with the home consumption, which goes to show that these people know a good thing when they try it.
