We recently asked those indebted for the News for one year or more to pay up. Very few have responded, and the majority of those who did were not owing us a year's subscription, but very kindly responded to our call for funds. There are still a number who are in arrears, and we must repeat the request for those who owe us sums of one dollar or more to settle at once. This notice is printed because we want the money, not to fill up the space, and we must insist on a prompt response. There are several accounts for job printing which should also be settled. Please don't delay.
