Fifty years ago the Ironoled Manufacturing Company began the manufacture of milk cans. H. H. Haigh was the inventor of the double neck sanitary oan. The patent of this can he sold to the Ironclad company in 1898. Two years afterward it is alleged, the Dai-'ryman's company began the making ou a can which infringed upon the Haigh patent. Suit was begun almost immediately, and for five years the action has been in the courts.
