IS IT MORE BLESSED TO GIVET It is more blessed to give than to receive, but there are cases, it appears, where neither giving nor receiving is blessed.

There is an unwise charity which consists in providing gifts ill-suited to the needs of the beneficiaries. There is a reckless and harmful charity which consists in giving in response the chance impulse of sentiment. The modern "prince" of the finani cial world carelessly squandering his money among the people who work for a living is an interesting copy c the feudal maron, flinging his purse to
