A Patent Medicine Talk

Readers of such loading magazines, as the "Ladies' home juurnal" and "Collier's Weenly" must have noticed recently many articles relative to patent medicines.

The editors of their magazines are seeking to bring about by legit. lation and agitation, while they choose to call a reform in the patent medicine business. They make the statement that it is not only unsafe, but unwise, and in many cases dostructive of health, for people to purchase and consume patent medicines the ingredients of which they have no knowledge. It it not our purpose to enter into a discussion of the merits or Comerits of this agination or crutall. Thousands of people have used patent medicines and have been benefited by them. At the same time there are undoubtedly evils existing in the ABUSE of some so-called patent medicines. Because you have a thicf in your neighborhood you would not say the whole neighborhood is composed of thieves. We know that we have plenty of customers at our counters who tell our clerks what benefit they derive from this or that preparation. Yet even with this knowledge

It is hard for us to say what one among the patent medicines is the "neighborhood black-leg." The unfortunate part of our position is that we do not know the formulas of the patent medicines we sell. We do not believe that the proprietors of patent medicines are dishonest or that they are intentionally misrepresenting their products. It we did we would cortainly refuse to sell their goods over our counter. Our emact position in this patent molicine agitation is this: We are the comments of the public. We sell and will continue to still patent ante inco just the enter at the groour sills you comissi corn or potatees. This want our patrens to find. Figure to the june to be they demand,

Several years ogn, a thousand of the leading drug_ists throughout the United States organized themselves together in a co-operative company to produce remedies which they could back up with their own endy was can positively say that at any this we find a moditine is in-names and their own reputations. The first object of this co-operative company was to produce a line of remedies that every druggist would know thoroughly. were to be no secret formulas; the ingredients of every remedy would. be known to every druggist. Each of these thousand druggists contributed to the organization all that his knowledge and experience had brought to him in the way of advice as to different remodiac. The formulas of something like 2,000 or more remedies were sent to the company. A committee of carperts was appointed and this committee went over the various for mulas conscientiously and earnestly for a long period of time and selected from the entire list about 200 standard remedies, the manufacture of which the company then undertook. The company in the meantime had erected a perfect laboratorylarge, well-appointed, with every appliance known to modern skill. The combined capital of a thousand druggists made it possible for the company to purchase in the largest quantities, the fundamental drugs and herbs, etc., that form the ingredients of the various remedies.

This meant not only the highest quality in manufacture, but the very greatest economy—the cutting out of every wasteful item and every unnecessary expense.

The remedies when manufactured were shipped directly from the laboratory to the retail druggists. This insured their freshness and made it impossible for their quality to deteriorate. Not only that, but it also did away with the jobbers' profit. Here again the co-operative system added not only quality but brought about economy. Most of our patrons are familiar with these facts. Most of them are already acquainted with the formulas of Rexall Remedies which are manufactured by the United Drug Co., with laboratory and principal offices in Boston, Mass. These are the remedies and this is the co-operative company that we believe has done more to bring about a change in patent medicine conditions than any other element in existence. Each of the Perall druggists know absolutely what each Rexall remedy contains. He has the formula of each remody on file in his safe. He will gladly give it to any-. one who is interested. There is nothing secret about any of the Rexall formulas. On the contrary, we are thoroughly proud of them. We want you to know about them.

No one Rexall remedy is a "cureall." It is not necessary for us to invent diseases and symptoms and then endeavor to convince you that one Rexall remedy will cure you of every ment in the world. To our minds that has been one of the fundamental errors of patent medicine manufacturers, and that has been corrected by the Rexall people. One remedy for each ill, and that .remedy the unquestioned best in the world, is the principle upon which Rexall success is founded.

with Rexall. We are proud to be able to offer to the people of this community, a line of remedies that we can back up with every bit of _ reputation we have earned by quare dealing and honest, conscientious treatment of our trade. Our confidence in Rexall is shown by the fact that we absolutely guarantee every Renall remedy we sell. This is not an empty phrase with us, we mean just what we say. If you buy a Rexall remedy and are not
