o that when we reach old age we will be prepared to live comorta ly and happily.

It is a good plan to save something as we go along in life. The time to save is while we are earning. Save something during your wouking days. You will want an income to live on when your powers are on the decline.

. The average man has a great mony years in which he earns more than he should spend. If you will lay aside a little each year, you will soon have a considerable sum saved.
