Raffroad Rate Regulation.

HAVE always conceded the need of EFFICIENT regulation of railroad corporations. It has always seemed to me it would be preferable for the corporations and the public | that such regulation be by the general government rather ABLE DEGREE OF UNIFORMITY in the regulation for the protection of the public and that it might not conflict so' seriously as would otherwise follow from the frequent changes of jurisdiction Don't accept any substitute. Earnestly desiring improvement in corporate management, I have such a way as to cause complaint.

When this subject was first agitated I thought I saw a new era, dawning in railroad management and an improved relationship possible between the reasonable portion of the public and the carriers.

What was needed was regulation, NOT RESTRICTION; protection, not persecution; but when the law was available for examination + it was found to be revengeful and punitive, drawn either in ignorance call for "letter advertised." or prejudice, with less thought of fairness to the railroads or the interest of the public than to concentrate TREMENDOUS POWER in the general government not necessary for the regulation or the elimination of abuses complained of and which, if constitutional, gives power to derange established markets to an extent that, if exercise will produce LITTLE SHORT OF REVOLUTION.

The necessity for such a law as enacted by congress was more than It was in the days of old when yellow, 52%c. questionable, and that there has been no trouble is because practically nothing has been done under IT. All that has been accomplished has been under the provisions OF OTHER LAWS, and all improved ment has been mendaciously accredited to this unnecessarily drastic with my akeins?" legislation, tinkered by every crank who temporarily came to the surface, encouraged by all the powers of unrest, log rolled into enactment by the most IRRECONCILABLE ELEMENTS of both parties, Two hours later George returned with accusations of treachery and mendacity so frequent and forceful, ' from the fray with his armor battered 1 an honest man was in doubt whether the membership of the Ananias and torn. society itself were not in danger of secession and disintegration.

The public cry has been against discrimination, and yet those who my dress suit?" have to handle the business of the railroads know that in private it is sweetly.
