For the Man With a Harvest

Often before you can get in your harvest, a heavy rain falls,—or, more often, there are heavy dews at night.

Dampness, combined with the chemical reaction from new mown grain, very soon rots ordinary rope and twine, and that means much lost time in tieing up the shocks.

"Buckeye" standard binder twine is specially treated to withstand dampness, and will not rot or break.

We also have genuine Manilla Hay Rope, -and are special agents for plymouth drilling cables and cable laid sand lines.
