RALPH WOOD

Little Son of Mr. and Mrs Guy S. Wood Dies in Buffalo Sanitarium

Although it was known by the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wood that the chance for recovery for the little son were slight, the announcement of his death, which occured Friday evening, April 24th, brought a shock of sorrow and sympathy for the family to all in the village.

Particularly sad have been the last months of little Ralph's life, stricken in the fall with diptheria, from which he had scarcely recovered when pneumonia developed, which in his weakened condition caused an effection of the heart and lungs of so serious a nature that a specialist from Buffalo was called and upon his advice the child was taken to the city several weeks ago where with his mother he has remained since. The best medical skill of the city have been in attendance upon the case and as a last resort several operations were performed. Ralph was four and a half years old, a precocious child, and the courage and patience exhibited by the little sufferer throughout the long weeks of sickness and pain, have been a marvel to those in attendance.

The little body, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wood and Miss Belle Brundage was brought to Andover on train 8, Sunday morning.

Funeral services were held at the home of J. M. Brundage on Church street Monday afternoon, Rev. H. D. Bacon pastor of the Presbyterian church officiating. Interment in Hillside cemetery.

PRIZE ESSAY CONTEST

The First Won by Miss Elizabeth Bassett, the Second by Miss Marguerite Earley.

The third annual prize essay contest under the auspices of the Lucy Stone club of this village was held in the Methodist church Wednesday evening. Five young ladies of the high school competing for the prize presented well writen papers in favor of Woman's Suffrage. While of necessity following the same line of thought, each speaker brought out different ideas and facts making in all a strong argument for the subject which they were presenting. The NEWS congratulates all of the participants upon the excellence of their papers.

The selections by the Shubert orchestra were splendid and the vocal solos by Miss Minnie Clair and Mrs. Maude Prest beautifully sung.

After a thoro examination of the five papers the judges decided that the first prize of $5.00 rightfully belonged to Miss Elizabeth Bassett and the second, $3.00 to Miss Marguerita Earley. The papers were all well written and the judges came to their final conclusion with some difficulty as the five papers differed but a few points in relative merit. This is the third year the Lucy Stone club have offered the prizes to our pupils and while only two can receive the prizes the information and training gained by each contestant is a reward in itself.

Real Estate Transfer

MAN ROBBED AT HORNELL

A Farmer Relieved of His Cash While Filled With Booze—Some Swag Recovered.

James Hadley, a prominent farmer of Adrian, was robbed of a roll of bills containing about $160 between midnight and 4 o'clock Sunday morning. While in a state of semi-intoxication he was robbed by a gang of men and his money taken from him. Three men were taken into custody as a result and a fourth will likely be captured.

Hadley came to Hornell Saturday afternoon with his son and received pay for his potatoes amounting to somewhere over $160. He had intended to pay the money to some parties there as the banks were closed the parties to whom he was under obligations asked him to wait until Monday. He was about the city all of the evening and had been drinking quite freely. At any rate he and his son both missed the last car for Canisteo.

About eleven o'clock they went to a livery stable and tried to get a rig to drive to Adrian or to Canisteo. When asked if he had money to pay for a rig Hadley told them it was none of their business but he wanted a rig right away. The men thought Hadley had been drinking too much and they sent him away.

About midnight he went back with his son and was showing his money and wanted a man to drive them to Canisteo. The son went out to get a lunch and the old man waited to have the rig hitched. He said that one of the men told him he had better go and lie down on a cot in the employee's room and rest a little while. He laid down and he says he remembered nothing more until about four o'clock Sunday morning when he awoke and found his money all gone.

The police were notified of the robbery and officers were at once assigned to the case. Hadley was taken into custody himself on a charge of intoxication so he would be on hand and the police arrested Oscar Muller and Frank Rossiter, who has been employed in the stable. They were taken to headquarters and locked up. When searched $10 was found on Muller.

The police learned that two other men had been about the stables and they got onto their trail. They found that the two men had registered at the Commercial House on Loder street late at night and were going to leave the city on an early train. About four o'clock Sunday morning the two men had got out of the hotel and took a freight train west bound.

The police at Wellsville were notified and Deputy Sheriff W. B. Van Dusen went to Wellsville on the first train. There he arrested a man named James Groger, one of the two men who had been there during the night and escaped on the freight. The other man whose name is Lewis was not caught. Groger has been employed in a livery stable at Wellsville until about a week ago and was well known there as McDonald, that being the name given at his boarding house.

Lewis is said to have been in the saloon business at Wellsville until a short time ago and he was seen there that morning. It was said that he put a big roll of bills into his stocking just before leaving and it is likely that he has the bulk of the farmer's money.

The affidavits of each of the three men were taken by City Attorney Clancey as well as those of Hadley and his son. It is said that Muller practically admitted his part in the touch and he told the police where the money was hid.

Deputy Sheriff VanDusen and an officer went to the barn and found them. This makes about $40 that has been recovered. The police also have clues that will likely lead to the recovery of more of it.

OFF AGAIN, ON AGAIN FLANIGAN

After a Separation of Nearly a Year, George and Ruby Crandall "Kiss and Make up".

George Crandall and Mrs. Ruby Crandall were re-married by Justice of the Peace Wallace Richardson, Saturday. Thereon hangs a tale.

Some months ago George Crandall was sent to the Erie county penitentiary for six months, by a Wellsville justice. While there his wife produced evidence before a Supreme Court Judge, convincing him that George had not been faithful to his marriage vows, and he gave Mrs. Crandall a divorce, with the custody of their two children. On being set at liberty some weeks ago, George hiked himself home and tried to see Mrs. Crandall and the children, but they would not be seen. Mrs. Crandall telling her friends that she was afraid of him. In fact, the house was for a time guarded because of their fear of Crandall coming there in the night and forcing his way into the house. But early last week, Mrs. Crandall's fear seemed to subside and she was seen in company with her former husband. The spell was broken.

About the first Andover people knew of their reconciliation was Friday night when the happy couple appeared at the residence of Town Clerk John Commons at midnight and insisted that he dress and go down to his office and issue them a license to get married. "Wont you please go down to the office, doctor, and get us a license?" This the doctor refused to do at that hour, and the impatient couple had to wait until the next morning for their license.

After they had procured the license they still found thorns on their roses, as a number of clergymen refused to re-unite them. But Justice Richardson had no scruples that way, and late Saturday afternoon they were again made man and wife.

It is hoped that he will stay sober long enough to provide food and clothing for his family and that a few of the knock-down blows he has been accustomed to bestow upon his devoted wife will be withheld.

Body Found

The body of Avery Winchel, who disappeared from his home in Belvidere in January was found by Harry DeLong, April 23rd, lying in a meadow ½ mile from his home. His watch and a sum of money was found in his pockets and his ring on his finger and although the body was too far from the creek to admit of the belief entertained that he came to his death by being drowned, it is thought he died from natural causes or exposure.

Mr. DeLong will receive $100 reward offered by Mrs. Winchell for the discovery of her husband's body.

Sidney Frisbey

The death of Sidney Frisbey occured at his home in Wellsville Thursday afternoon, Apr. 23rd, after a lingering illness. Mr. Frisbey was sixty-six years of age and had been a resident of Wellsville for forty years.
