Our Keynote--- If There is Not a Way Cut a Way.

GOOD NEWS FOR FARMERS AND THE NATION

They have produced admirable results already, promise wonderful results in the future.

Readers in the city realize, of course, that national prosperity depends upon the farmers more than upon any other class of our people. The mechanic making the soil's products commercially is the goo.

servant of the people. The business man, planning wide distribution of national wealth, it also the nation's useful, indispensable servant. But the farmer, who actually takes from the ground its wealth—the man who ACTUALLY FEEDS THE NATION -IS THE WORKER TO WHOM THE COUNTRY OWES THE MOST. in the past the farmer was been the most poorly rewarded in proportion to his services. Legislation, instead of working for him, has worked too often against him. Protection has added a great deal to his bills without adding much to his income. He has been ground down that the railroads might pay dividence on their thirteen billions of securities, more than half water.

In the cities mechanics, by close unions, have bettered themselves. In business circles the business men, by close attention to trade intorests and to protection, have protected themselves. ROCKWELL BROTHERS & CO.

The few great heads of the corporations, intelligently co-operating, bave accumulated their hundreds of millions, thanks largely to to the AND MEAN WHILE THE FARMER, WORKING IN ISOLA-TION. AT THE MERCY OF LABOR CONDITIONS, AND TARIFF CON-DITIONS, HAS STRUGGLED ALONG UNAPPRECIATED, WITHOUT HIS FAIR SHARE OF THE NATION'S WEALTH.

Voltaire, almost at the end of his eighty-four years of brave and useful life, wrote to a friend in Paris from Ferney that his principal claim as a man was in the fact that he had cultivated a part of the earth intelligently and caused it toproduce good crops. Every farmer who cultivates konestly and intelligently a part of the earth's surface, producing food for other human beings, has obeyed practically in the labor of his arms and the sweat of his brow the fundamental command of the Christian religion. He has helped other men. He has fed other men's children. It is time for the farmer to help himself; we are glad that he has found that out, and that the work has begun throughout the country intelligently and determinedly.

Formerly, the various efforts of the farmers were aimed at protecting themselves from too flagrant robbery. And their efforts were not very effective. They tried in a small way to fight the trust in kinding twine, the trust in agricultural implements, but those trusts prospered and the farmers did not.

Now the farmers have gone about the thing in the right way. THEY ARE COMEINING TO COMPEL THE PAYMENT TO THEM-SELVES OF A FAIR PRICE FOR THEIR PRODUCTS. They are determined, and jusily determined, that what the PEOPLE pay for the prducts of the farm THE FARMERS SHALL RECIEVE. They are tired of selling their wheat for one price, to see a speculator retail it to the public for fifty por cent more. They are tired of picking their cotton and turning it over to gamblers that bid up the price, tax the manufacturer, rob the millhand and do the farmer no good. The farmers have begun to unite to protect themselves against oppression by the trusts that exploit them, by the Railroad Trust especially that weighs on their backs, taking a half a day's labor from every horse, half the product of every cow and field. The extension of this farmers' movement is important to the whole nation, because it means GREATER WEALTH AND PROSPERITY FOR THE WHOLE NATION. We have millions upon millions of acres lying idle, and thors not of millions only indifferently cultivated, BECAUSE THE FARMER HAS

NOT HAD A DECENT REWARD. The wealth of the country depends on what the farmers of the country bring out of the ground.

the factories where the raw product takes shape. But first of all, and essential to everything is the wealth of the soil which the FARMERS give us.

plaughed and planted. A thorsand dellars more per year means a farm. better fertilized and more productive.

No imagination can examerate the addition to the wealth of this country which would result from full honest pay to farmers for the work that they do. The acre that produces $5 profit to the illtiented former, will produce

$50 or $100 where the farmer, we'l treated, is able to treat his land proportionately well. Good pay for mechanics has always been advocated by this newsparer, because it means distribution of money among business men, and increase of general prosperity. Good pay, fair treatment, added wealth for the farmers are more important than anything else:

Because the farmer does more than DISTRIBUTE werith, he actual. ly CREATES it. Where he cuts cut the brush this year, he produces food for a hun-

tired families next year. -Nature is the foster mether of all, and the farmer is Nature's acent and 'partner. The city's presperity depends, of course, upon the caracity of the great crowd in the city to bry and may well, A union offensive and defenci e hatwaen the honest American work
