126 YEARS AGO TODAY

The Bank of the United States was Incorporated

This institution, one of the oldest in our country, was capitalized at $10,000,000, the government holding $2,000,000 of this amount. The charter expired March 11, 1811, twenty years after its incorporation.

One can see by reading data such as this that the Banking Institution is as old as our government itself. It has always been necessary in the conducting of both personal and national affairs. These statements speak for themselves. What more can we say? Bank with us.

P KILLING DOGS WILL HAVE TO GO

Cannons are Doomed Bill in State Legislature Favor to Promote Shearing. Owners Responsible

Geo. W. Perkins asked a bill in the legislature at Cornell, why the sheep had declined in New York. The answer came from a house "dogs," "dogs." There seemed to be a agreement that dogs were responsible for the disease of sheep from the untillable hillsides.

The day before this meeting was introduced in the State assembly a bill, number 78, proposes to encourage the industry by controlling the dogs.

It provides for the licensing of all dogs and for reimbursing the owner whose sheep, or other livestock, are injured from dogs.

The provision of the bill is that dogs must wear a license and be accompanied by the owner or keeper, and if a dog without license tag on his collar is allowed to run on farm lands outside of the owner's or keeper's premises, he may be killed by peace officers.

Any owner of a dog who permits him to range at large, and belonging to others, in circumstances which justify the killing of such dog, shall be fined not less than ten dollars and not more than fifty dollars.

The bill also provides that peace officers are authorized to carry out all the provisions of the law and are to be paid by the agents of the department of Agriculture.

Those who have charge of sheep investigation at the college of Agriculture feel that there are other conditions which enter into the problem, they agree that the department of the stray dogs will favor the sheep industry.

Many people whose thrift and education will miss the number of this week's war.

Property is desirable and gives people that in you'll sell it.
