GREENWOOD LOCAL BRIEFS

Young winter. Snow Wednesday. Seeding is backward. Crop prospects are not encouraging.

The conscription bill has passed. George Hurst, of West Greenwood, was a Saturday caller in town. Daniel Coleman of West Union, was in our city Tuesday. Mrs. Estel Griswold was in Hornell Monday. John Harden, of Rexville, was in Greenwood Wednesday. Mrs. M. D. Webster was in Hornell Saturday. Miss Minnie Ersley has gone to Port Jervis to teach in the village school for the ensuing year. Archy McCalister, of West Union, was in our city Wednesday. Teddy desired to lead a division in France against the enemy. It would have been a proper move and would have shown the patriotism of volunteers in the crisis that confronts us. George Kelley, formerly of this place, was greeting friends in town Wednesday. Frank O'Horgan, of West Union, was in our city Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. George Case, of Jasper, were callers in Greenwood Saturday. Michael Keegan, of Troupsburg, was a Greenwood visitor Tuesday. The animal's death is attributed to a fall caused by stepping into a hole in a stucco. It lived but a short time after the injury. Mrs. Marshall Warriner, of West Greenwood, was a Saturday visitor in Greenwood. Mrs. Geo. York, of Rock Creek, was in town Wednesday. Abiah Thompson, of Bennetts, was a city visitor Tuesday. Bemon Berger was in town Monday. The British and French high commissioners paid high tribute of praise to the memory of Washington Tuesday, at Mount Vernon.

The law now requires all immigrants over 16 seeking our shores to be able to read and write as a condition of entry to this country. This is one of the most un-American acts imaginable. We need them and they need us. The reasonable conclusion is that they are laborers and desire to improve their conditions and laborers make good citizens and their work is urgently needed.

Turning worthy men from our shores on account of their misfortunes is against the spirit of our institutions and in this case savors of caste. A person deprived of an education by circumstance of birth should not be treated therefore as a criminal, or as of the criminal class. Probably the German spies and dynamiters that infest the country are not as a class illiterate. If the literary test had been the law from the beginning of our republic the ancestors of many of the members of congress who voted for the measure would not be here.

Edwin White, of Troupsburg, is visiting friends in town. Fay Taylor, of Jasper, formerly of this village, was in town Wednesday greeting old neighbors. Mrs. Jane Shelley is on the sick list, suffering from heart-disease.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD?

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what an Andover woman says:

Mrs. P. J. Dougherty, W. Center St., Andover, says: "A cold which settled in my kidneys brought on an attack of kidney complaint. A heavy, dull pain in my kidneys and across my loins made me feel in constant misery and every step I took seemed to jar my whole system. I was tired and dragged out, too, and it seemed as though I would never get around. I had a dull pain in the back of my head. One of the family told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a supply. Two boxes gave me wonderful relief and did me lots of good."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Dougherty had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Sign Boards on the Up-road

By Hamilton B. Williams

For three days at the Spring season's beginning, the ancient Greeks with splendid pageant celebrated the birth of the flowers. Unable to account for the phenomena of nature the Greeks filled the universe with deities. They were pantheists—but better 20,000 gods than no God! Better see in every flower and star and hear in every mind and wave and find in every spot of earth a deity than walk this marvel-earth with soul unrecognized the Eternal Presence.

Plato's only bit of verse was a hunger-cry in the desert of pathlessness, the same hunger-cry that teaps from the heart of every one whose soul is adventurous: "Thou gaze at the stars, my Life,

Would I might be yon starry skies, With thousand eyes That I might gaze on thee." This world which is our rather difficult home for this quite brief episode in life, is a wonder-world to the intelligent eye. We think dimly, God's thoughts after Him when we discover the laws of the world and adapt them to our needs.

When we consider the countless millions of years between our even now crude condition and the prehistoric mintage, we begin to see the majesty of the Being who planned the universe. What cons lie ahead. They shall reach "heaven" as types reach mental and spiritual eminence here by establishing their right for further growth! The so-called future life is not a reward for anything except hunger.

Strange how a little dust and heat and light and rain and a little life seed—can produce so many marvels in the world-garden! Strange how every form of life has arrived at its survival thru unpeepable struggling for existence and capacity of adopting itself to conditions. From the amoeba to the man the same law governs, the same sacrifices of others are marked, the same supremacy of the fit are noted. And back of all is God in whom we live and move and have our being, from little brother diatom to superhuman.

The fact of God is not assumed. He reveals himself in multitudinous ways. He was remote to the ancient, aloof, detached from the world, but even as the light which no one ever sees, but by which one sees, so God is immanent in the universe the active cause of every form of activity molecular and spiritual.

And He holds His universe like a mother in eternal love arms.

Jesus was the supreme optimist (and this validates His Sonship to God.) He took the very symbols of pessimism, hardship, evil, suffering, sorrow, opposition, temptation, loss, the cross and death and made them the processes by what the God-in-life is released.

And this is the fruit of the tillage of God: Love, joy, peace, goodness, faithfulness, self-mastery (fitness) honor, kindness, mercy. By the growing of these things one establishes his immortality and validates his right to be called the child of God.

There is for God the necessity of being the best possible God. The ideal God is that he be the infinite of all positive qualities. And they who are dowered with the fruit of the spirit's tillage know God. To know God is eternal life.

The pure (the fit) in heart shall see God.

The flowers in the Garden Sing day by day, God is Beauty And the Sun and the Stars Greet the dawns and the dusks At matins and vespers— He is Light.

The Winds and the Reeds and the Streams And the Trees sing, He is music;

And the Mountains and Seas sing, He is Might.

He lives, sing the Flowers, in our Gardens;

He broods, sing the Birds, in our Nests;

He dances His joy on our Waves.

Sing the Oceans: He leaps, sin the Hills, on our Crests.

He is Light, He is Perfume, He is Beauty.

He is Color and Form, He is Swiftness and Power.

He is the Sweet in the Kindness of Mothers;

He is the Strength in the Valor of Men;

He is the Gleam in the Love look of Lovers;

He is the Cheer in the Comfort of Friends.

Yea, the God of all Trails, From the Outermost Star to the deeps Of the kindest Heart—is Love
