GREENWOOD LOCAL BRIEFS

The cold hangs on. Roads are in bad condition. Seeding is backward. Prof. L. J. McEwen, of Belmont formerly principal of our high school, visited here last week. We need thousands of workers to till the thousands of acres now lying idle in our country. It would be wise to import Chinese or Japan farmers to raise food to supply the demand. It is incomprehensible why Col. Roosevelt, with his 200,000 volunteers was not permitted to take the field in France. A volunteer who desires to go into the service is as good for the work as a drafted man who does not desire to go. In all professions or trades the man who elects the work is the one who generally succeeds. Many a good tailor has been spoiled in the making of a poor preacher. Wilson Woodward and daughter, Mrs. Jas. Brownell, were in Hornell Wednesday. Miss Ellen Young was in Hornell Wednesday. Mrs. M. Shaw and daughter were Hornell visitors Wednesday.

The Sins of Society
All the laws of the 484 are being given an airing in a series of columns now running in the Hornell Standard. There is much opposition as to the identity of the author. It is (as she) evidently known a fact that the author of the 100 would like to be known as "The Moral of Pittsburgh," which also tells some plain truths.

Sign Boards on the Up-road

to Hamilton B. William

All the world's a group of towns strung along the highroad with gates facing the morning dawn. You can always tell the spiritual location of a town by the quality of the folks in it, and by the expressions in physical, mental, cultural, educational and social symbols. Last Sunday I had the delightful experience of making an excursion of friendship with a most delightful people and in a most delightful town. In Bath, New York, one is compelled to take notice of the people there whose thought for the things worth while is beautifully expressed in beautiful churches, fine public buildings, fine homes, beautiful old elm trees, a magnificent park and in fine upstanding people. It was a great joy to interpret Masterlinek's "Blue Bird" in the Presbyterian Church which is itself a garden of beautiful architecture, marvelous windows, and a setting of people who are inhabitants of an Uproad Community. The minister, Rev. Walter S. Davison, who so endeared himself by his fine message and beautiful singing to our people, may feel that he has around him a congregation that sees the things afar and aloft. The heavenly influence of such a man and his people needs symbols of measure beyond our measuring. I had the great joy of shaking hands with Mr. Elkins, the editor of the Bath Courier, and fortunate is the name—Courier. Being a newspaper man myself in a small way, the tie that bound us was the sign of our most ancient craft. But Mr. Elkins is also the leader of the Brotherhood of the church, and has thus two exits into community life. The fine spectacle of over 100 men filing into the church to hear about "The Man in Our Town" will never be forgotten. Jesus is the Man of our Town. If His name should cease to mean the Light of Life, the Joy of Living, the Spur to Courage, if His memory should cease to thrill us to our tasks; if His ideas were removed from the hearts of people should forget the way to the temples of religion; if we should be made to realize in terrible conditions of darkness and degradation, how great an asset He is who came out of the little town of Nazareth with a world-dream of race-restoration flaming in His heart. But no longer a dream. One-half the world would be glad to have Him sit by the fire. The secret of His being the Man of our town is in the word which He often to the stars—Friend. He has loved His kingdom into being . . . and we are His by the same sign. Whatever has life and being and beauty has been born of love. And by the Friendship trail we shall come into the City of the Joy of this life—and into the City not built with hands. I am the richer and larger by the number of hearts in the Town of Bath in whose corridors I entered by the graciousness of their pleasant courtesy. And if I left the word Friendship graven upon their hearts I am indeed a prophet . . .

WHY SUFFER SO? Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? Andover people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Could you ask for stronger proof of merit? A. Wilcox, prop. hotel and livery, Main St., Andover, says: "When I have an attack of kidney trouble, I have lameness and soreness across the small of my back, which affects me most in the morning after I get up. The action of my kidneys is irregular and the kidney secretions are highly colored. I use Doan's Kidney Pills right away, procured from the Brundage Drug Co., and they always fix me up in good shape. I can speak highly of this medicine." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Wilcox uses. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N.
