teo Tuesday.

The oil well-going down on the Berger lot has reached a depth of over 200 feet and has passed thru a light streak of sand.

James McCormick, of West Greenwood, was in town Wednesday.

The Red Cross will give a concert Saturday night at the Town Hall, for the benefit of the organization.

Fifty-five cheeses were made at the village factory one day recently.

The head of the German Government announces that the Germans will annex all territory of the enemy taken by them. Will they hold the rule as just in case the Entente Allies should take a generous slice of Germany?

Russia is making a good showing as a republic. Her armies are invincible so far in their recent move.

The Germans are costing the world rivers of blood and vast amounts of treasure by their militaristic scheme to dominate the earth. This country probably will never be able to conduct its affairs as before. It will have to heroically maintain a great standing army to insure its safety from German attack and the cost of maintenance will be enormous. The only way to return to economical government for the countries of the world is to put Germany in a position that it can not again menace the world, and it will not do to accept her promises for peace for they would be disregarded should she wish at any time to assert herself again. Dry weather is getting scarce. Roads are getting heavy. Mrs. M. D. Webster and Mrs. E. W. Plaisted attended the suffrage meeting at Hornell. Mrs. W. O. Slocum, Mrs. S. C. Wingate, Miss Dorothy Slocum and Kenneth Brown motored to Rochester where they visited Mrs. L. Lord, returning via Canandaigua Lake where they visited Mrs. Estelle Griswold at her cottage on the lake. The Coston butter factory has closed for the present. The Borden are handling the milk of the butter factory. Highway superintendent R. P. Stephens with a force of men is putting in a cement walk from Main Street towards the depot, a needed improvement. There is a great scarcity of farm help and with the catchy weather will make the harvest difficult. Mrs. F. C. Wilcox, who has been a sufferer from Bright's disease, is in a critical condition. Her son, Leo, and wife, of Fayetteville, are here. The attachment case in which a car of iron was held here has been settled. The drill has been started on well No. 2 in Christian Hollow. The well is located near M. Burger's. The strike on the highway has been settled, the men receiving five cents a day raise in pay and an hour per day cut from their labor.

It is a pleasure to see the fine congregations at the services of the church, and a cordial invitation is extended to the public in general to come out and unite with us in our worship.

The sermons on next Sunday give a contrast between two men who were undecided, when the real call came one was a true patriot the other a "slacker." Come out and hear both of the sermons, they will help you.

A Want Ad Will Serve You when the need to sell property comes—as it does, sometimes, with suddenness and urgency. In such circumstances a single insertion of an ad may be wholly inadequate, altho this is, not always so. But advertising persisted in until the property is sold is the business-like solution of the matter.

THE TRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD IN 1917

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No Other Newspaper in the World Gives so Much at so Low a Price.

The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. The great war in Europe is now half-way into its third year, and whether peace be at hand or yet be far off, it and the events to follow it are sure to be of absorbing interest for many a month to come.

There are world-shaking affairs in which the United States, witting or unwitting, is compelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

THE TRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and THE ANDOVER NEWS together for one year for $2.25.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

Sign Boards on the Up-road

By Hamilton B. Williams

Mine was the House of the "Broken Pitcher," though many folk would stop to admire its beauty. It was a dark house nevertheless—for Love had taken her lamp and gone away this many a day.

Across the street was a cottage set in roses. I often found myself listening for the love song which the roses come dawn would sing. I wondered if Joy had shrine within the house. It would seem Impossible for darkness to win through the bright angels of the flowers that kept the gates. A little girl played in the garden and sang. Often she gazed at my house across the street.

As I passed the house one day a flash of sunny curls leaped from the rose-tree at the gate, and a sweet rose-mouth lay soft against my face, and she said: "You are the Lonesome Man, but I'm your little friend."

Oh, little maid, you did not know how blight-struck was the garden of my heart, with neither sun nor rain, and all my dreams had withered—but God slipped into my desert with your kiss, breathed His Soul anew upon my soul. And I passed on as one who had met suddenly a friend from over the Mountain of Years. And in my house since then bide dreams and you and He and comrades all.

You have long since forgotten me, the passer-by to whom you gave life's guardon. That little girl I should not find though I went seeking everywhere—outside my heart. That is your soul's own place I wonder oft how many lives shall be sent forward blither by your magic-kiss. Perhaps a youth shall ask your heart. God grace he be light-worth. . . . a little child may lie against your breast.

You must go forward with the years, find sorrow, happily walk dream-ways in dread, grow old and lonesome watch the ashes of old dreams gray. But you are immortal, and up to God I'll bear you.

Though dark may mire your feet and sorrow mar your heart. . . . I'll show to God the lass of the sunny curls, and tell Him how you opened my gate to Him—and He and I will kiss you into life and joy.

CONCERNING SUFFRAGE

"Taxation has no connection with voting. You pay taxes for police protection," says the anti-suffragist to the would-be woman voter. "But what about Ruth Cruger?" pertinently asks Alice Stone Blackwell in The Woman Citizen.

If Canadian women don't get the parliamentary vote in short order than Premier Sir Robert Borden will go down in Canadian history as having promised something to women that he failed to deliver. The Canadian Equal Suffrage League bears testimony in Jus Suffragii to the Premier's pledge.

In Ohio petitions are being circulated for a referendum on the question of presidential suffrage for women which was granted by the last legislature. Scout work done by Ohio suffrage workers has resulted in statements issued from suffrage headquarters to the effect that the great majority of the petitions were circulated by safoon keepers; and that an examination of hundreds of the papers did not reveal the name of a single representative citizen; that in many towns the petitions were kept so closely in safoons that business men and ordinary citizens were positive that they had not been in circulation.

The city manager is a well known institution in a number of American cities but the state manager is an innovation. On July first the State of Kansas abolished government by bureaucracy and instituted a simple government with a state manager. Kansas, as every one knows, is a democracy where women vote on equal terms with men, and Kansas, as every one also knows, is not a place where moss has a chance to gather on the people or the state institutions.
