WAR WORK OF WOMEN IN SUFFRAGE MOVIE

Two weeks ago Mrs. John Blair. chairman of the publicity section of the New York State Woman Surfrage Party, had in her hands the first rough sketch of the suffrage movie, "Women's Work in War Time," by J. Charles Davis, Jr., of the S. S. Film Company.

Today the film is completed and ready for its initial presentation at the Saratoga Conference of the New York. State Woman Suffrage Party, Aug. 20 and 30. This is said to be the shortest ime in which a moving picture so elab from the first draft to the finished product.

"Women's Work in War Time" shows the intimate relation between the camthe intimate relation between the cam-palgn for woman suffrage in New York State and the democracy for Which our soldlers are fighting in France. The film, wilfel is in one reel, shows in a comprehensive manner the tremendous work being done by women in war service. The climax; depicting the de-parture of the soldier-lover of one suf-frage worker and the brother of an-other, is fell of human interest and brings "Women's Work in War Time" to a close in a seene in which narrioric o a close in a scene in which patriotic suffrage propaganda are skillfully min gled to achieve a most noteworthy e:

fect.

The scene showing women's was work, includes the War Service Hear quarters of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party, where food conservation classes are in progress, Reservation classes are in progress. servation classes are in progress, Rec Cross work, women in munition fac-tories and women and girls doing va-ied and manifold work by the accom-plishment of which they have released men for the trenches. Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse and her co-workers are also shown conduc-ting the 1917 campaign from state head-quarters, 303 Fifth Avenue, New York-City.

It is expected that the suffrage movi It is expected that the suffrage movie will be widely shown, not only in this state, but throughout the country. The S. S. Film Company has already been approached with a view to selling the foreign right of the production.

The beliot sad belief argumenty used in by-the times against aufrage has been effectively squared by the present year. Not only belief women, by their work in the war women, by their work in the same animunition factories of the war ving countries made it positive for the war to continue by releasing vast numbers of men for active service, but they have proven themselves herolo warriors as shown in the, case of the now famous Legion of Death, composed of Russian Women, and the 180 women, who have joined the Russian women who have joined the Russian

Then, too, there is the just-published statement of no less a reactionary than the Hon. Eithu Root, on his return from Russis, that: "Russism women are doing a wonderful work in shaming men into fighting and, when necessary, I hope American women will follow their example."

will follow their example."
Augmenting the modern cases of the woman warrior, comes a correspondent to the New York magazine, "The Porcupine," with the following list of women fighiers, taken from the actual muster-rolls of the armies in our Civil War:
Forty-sixth Pennsylvania, Company D.—Charles D. Fuller, detected as being a female; discharged.
One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Pennsylvania, Company F.—Sergeant Frank Mayne; killed in battle and discovered to be a woman.

Second Michigan, Company F.— Franklin Thompson; fought well in several battles, but proved to be a wo-man; "real name Miss Seelye."

Twenty-sixth North Carolina (C. S. L.), Company F.—Mrs. L. M. Blay-ock; enlisted March 20, 1861; "dis-A), Company F.—Mrs. L. lock; enlisted March 20, 1 charged for being a woman.
