EXEMPTIONS

The enormous number of claims for exemption from army service constitute a shame to American manhood and a disgrace to our country. It is proof positive as holy writ of one or two propositions: Either our young men are entirely lacking in patriotism or they are pitiful cowards.

We refer with contempt to the slacker who eluded the registration. But what of the infinitely more contemptible slacker who, while seemingly acquiescing in the draft, put up a pitiful plea for exemption—plea that shows false and hypocritical on its face!

All honor to that numerous contingent who, when war was assured, promptly tendered their services. All honor to another group who, while not so quick to volunteer, yet when the call came stepped forward like men and took their medicine with smiling faces. Such as they both have made this the proud country it is to-day.

Of course there are some perfectly legitimate claims for exemption. These will and should be granted. But the "exemption" slacker—ugh! Words are powerless to describe him.

H. L. Ames of Ellicott, the anti-organization candidate for member of assembly, won the Republican nomination in the First District over the Rev. D. Felix V. Hanson of James-town by 378 majority.

Herbert C. Hoover, the food administrator, is to investigate the proposed raise in the price of milk in the state of New York and will do anything he can for to the situation. It is announced.

Chancellor Day expressed his opinion of pacifists at the opening exercises of Syracuse university. He told the students that "Hell itself is too good for pacifists. Let them go where they can fight for Germany. God bless them and help them to be shot."
