GREENWOOD LOCAL BRIEFS

The rainy weather has been discouraging to farmers who have to harvest their potato crops. It is getting near the time when winter stops farming operations for the season.

The Teutons are making a show of a campaign against Petrograd. They should remember Napoleon's winter campaign against Moscow. It was the cause of his downfall.

David D. Smith, of Saunders and wife returned from a visit to Chautauque County Saturday.

James McCormick, of South Greenwood, was in town Tuesday.

Isabel Cook, of Hornell, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. Pease.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Barnard went to Canisteo Monday.

Geo. Healy has moved into the rooms over the furniture store.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gosper, of Jasper, were Greenwood visitors Wednesday.

Postage rates will be higher next month, an increase on letters of 1 cent on each ounce or fraction of an ounce and an additional cent on postal cards. There is also an increase affecting other mail matter.

Notwithstanding that more coal is being used than ever before yet the increased demand for manufacturing purposes is likely to produce a shortage and it would be well to have a wood-pile to visit in our extremity next winter.

New evidence accentuates of German depravity in its dealings with neutrals, and is occasionally laid before the people by Secretary Lansing. While pretending to be our friends, the enemy was plotting against us, destroying our factories and doing all it could to cripple our industries, and this is their record everywhere and probably one-half of their diabolical work will never be known.

The new Liberty Loan as a sure thing. You can change your dollars that draw no interest for those drawing 4 per cent. interest and that are exempt from taxation.

Senator LaFollette will endeavor to explain away the obvious meaning of his seeming traitorous talk, but he should be held to a strict accountability for what his utterances ostensibly mean and all his explaining that black is white should go for naught. Undoubtedly his translation for use by the Germans sounds pleasing to them and will have an opposite meaning from the one made before Congress. The Senate should show to the world its disapproval of the Senator's course by his expulsion from that body.

Germany's efforts to defeat the will of the people of the United States by bribing members of Congress to vote for German measures in that body, has been exposed and the expose should make some of our national legislators hang their heads. The only explanation of the business is clearer than the oral explanation, altho no bribery or coercion of funds has been shown. The German attempt to buy the opposition of some of our members, look at the state receipts for last year. Of this amount the state receives $17,039.37 and the towns as follows: Arcadia, $6,228.61; Lyons, $4,767.55; Ga. ea., $5,207.76; Palmyra, $2,200.00.

REPORT OF COUNTY TUBERCULOSIS NURSE

Fifty-four Cases of Tuberculosis in County, Andover Representative at Meeting of Tuberculosis Workers.

Miss Lonnie B. Arthur, special county public nurse, made her first report to the members of the War Emergency Committee on tuberculosis of Allegany County, Saturday afternoon, October 6th, at a meeting in the Town Hall at Belmont. The following summary of her report tells an interesting tale of the tuberculosis situation in the county:

Rural districts and villages visited, 27.

Health officers and physicians visited, 27.

T. B. cases referred to nurse by H. O. and other physicians, 24.

Suspected cases of tuberculosis located by nurse and referred to physicians, 20.

Ex-patients of Ray Brook from Allegany Co., visited, 10.

Total patients on list to date, 54.

Tuberculosis patients (thus far discovered) who need to be in sanitarium, 6.

Co-operative visits to members of committee, etc., 28.

Visits to patients in their homes, 22.

Visits to registrars offices, 14.

Schools visited, 28.

Visits to T. B. institutions (Bon Air), 1.

Dr. W. K. Paul, chairman of the War Emergency Committee on tuberculosis of the county, presided at the meeting last Saturday, and there were present other representatives from Andover, Belmont, Cuba, Friendship and Wellsville.

Miss Arthur explained in detail the work she is doing, saying in part:

"I visit any case of tuberculosis referred to me by health officers or other physicians for the purpose of helping the physician, to see that their advice and instructions to the patients as to rest, diet, ventilation, exercise and work are being carried out; and upon discovering suspected cases of the disease endeavor to persuade them to go to their family physicians for examination and diagnosis.

Three Cases of Tuberculosis in Two Branches of Same Family

"A few days ago I was visiting a school in a county district with the school nurse," said Miss Arthur, and noticing a child who seemed to show tubercular tendencies, suggested to her that it would be well to visit that child's home and learn if there had been a history of the disease in the family. That same day a case of tuberculosis was referred to me by a health officer, and when I called at the home I found the patient was the parent of the little child I had singled out in the school room that morning. I also learned that one member of the family had died of tuberculosis several years ago, and that the present patient had never been well since caring for that member. I also learned that an advanced case of tuberculosis in another part of the county was a sister of the patient who had died.

"On another occasion a case of open tuberculosis was referred to me by a physician. I called at the home and learned that the case was that of a child who was at present attending public school. I went to the school and found the child in a room filled with children, not only a center for infection in its home, but also for every child in the school room. The law requires that children suffering with active tuberculosis shall be excluded from school. This is not only for the safety of the other children, but for the child itself, who needs to be given a chance to get well while young.

"Yet again, I visited a school in a rural district and found 35 children in a room with three windows, every one nailed down tight. Upon suggesting the opening of a window to allow a little fresh air to enter, I was told all the children had colds and the teacher was afraid to open the windows. To one who is not informed, it might appear that opening the windows where everyone has a cold would be dangerous. On the other hand, when one is suffering from a cold, one needs all the fresh air and sunshine it is possible to get. I might add that a day or so later, when passing the same school, it was a joy to see some of the windows had been opened.

"A very sad case which has come to my attention is that of a man, a far advanced case, who knows nothing about how to take care of himself, and prevent infection of others in his family. Until I called at his home, he had been sleeping in one bed with his wife and three children in a closed room. There is no telling what the fruitage of such a case may be in years to come.

"And speaking of fruitage, a short time ago I visited the home of a person who had recently died of tuberculosis and a half hour's talk with the father, led me to believe that three other members of the family were infected with the disease. I advised this family to go to their family physician for a lung examination and to have a sputum test made. Two of the members followed my advice and later their physician told me they had contracted both of them tuberculosis and he placed them under care and treatment. This family is a good example of the kind of persons of the general public. However, the case here has been found early and by proper medical care and attention the progress of their disease may be arrested.

"It is for these and many other similar cases that public health nurses are needed.

"During the past three weeks I have covered about half of the county and now have 54 cases on my visiting list. It seems to me that this number of patients alone would keep a nurse busy in a county like Allegany, but when I have covered the entire county I expect to have a list of 120 patients. There is a ripe field for tuberculosis in this county."

The County Committee on Tuberculosis was much impressed with the nurse's report and voted to have the work continued. Miss Arthur, who was employed temporarily, will be succeeded by Miss Helen Hart, who has been selected as the permanent county public health nurse. She comes highly recommended as having had experience in Ohio, in Buffalo, and under the New York

State Department of Health in tuberculosis, infant welfare, school and general visiting nursing. She will take up her duties within a few days and it is hoped will meet with hearty co-operation on the part of every citizen in the county in an effort being put forward to bring under medical control and supervision every case of tuberculosis.
