Hindenburg Line doesn't inclined to "stay put."

No, the "German" is no longer popular dance in allied countries.

About the easiest advice in the world to follow these days is to observe these "meatless days."

How those erstwhile speculators must envy Mr. Hoover the ease with which he has cornered wheat.

We all admit that half a loaf is better than no bread, but there isn't a darned bit of enthusiasm in the admission.

These are the days when the farmer watches with a smile as Old Speckle steals the corn from the horses troughs.

Hoover advises the country to eat more hash. Thank you; not unless we have perfect confidence in the cook.

It is said to be an unusual large crop of rabbits, and the boys and dogs are proceeding to relieve the meat crisis.

Since the silver dollar has reached par, Mr. Bryan must feel very much like reminding the world "I told you so."

Cuba has no army or navy, but will build airplanes for the Allies.
You just can't keep freedom out of freedom's war.

Those western farmers, who are dissatisfied with $2.20 wheat should be gently reminded, that there is also the consumer to consider.

Peru has broken with Germany and tenders to the Allies her "moral support." Well, the preachers tel us that "moral causation" is the greatest force in the universe.

"What are we fighting for?" ask the obstructionists, just as seriously as if they imagined they really had a hand in the fighting, instead of doing everything possible to prevent it.

Speculative people who are predicting the downfall of the Kaiser are trying to decide on a fitting exchange for him. They shouldn't worry; he's on his way to the place prepared for him.

"What?" asks an exchange,
"has become of the old-time free circus attraction, the hot-air balloon?" Nothing doing any more.
The "conscientious objectors" are using the entire supply of hot air.

Since it has become known that Von Bernstoff asked his government for $50,000 to "influence Congress," many members of that body are wondering if that really was Von's estimate of "their price."

Senator Borah of Idaho, has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election, and Mrs.
Borah is being urged to make the race for the succession. Those who talk must think the gray is the better horse.

Next Tuesday, Nov. 6th, the men of New York State, who are registered, have one of the greatest privileges it has ever been their privilege. They have the opportunity to show their faith in the intelligence, judgment and wisdom of their wives, mothers and sisters.

After all is said and done, there is but just one reason for woman suffrage that is not liable to arguments against it, but that one reason is so overwhelmingly convincing and absolutely unanswerable that the wonder is that any well-read, liberty-loving man can vote otherwise than for their enfranchisement.
That one reason is told completely in the one word JUSTICE.

We therefore will present but this one argument.
Men claim, in the name of justice the right to vote. We demand for women, also, in the name of justice that same right to vote.

It was with a profound sense of justice that the Declaration of Independence was written, proclaiming that governments derive their powers from the consent of the governed. The governed includes both men and women. There is no more reason to exclude one than there is the other.

Our great country is to-day fighting in the trenches in France solely to protect that same right. Why should New York State not become a true democracy and give to all her people the same privilege she gives some?

This same war we are now in has shown in many instances heretofore unknown women's splendid ability. But recently a man, high in railroad circles, says that there are fewer accidents on railroads with women operating the cars.

This is only one of the many instances which are daily coming to our attention.

The women of America have as much right to fight for their independence as had our forefathers to fight for theirs.

Let the justice-loving citizens of New York State grant the request of the 1,011,503 women who have asked for the vote, and make it unnecessary for them to have to take militant methods to secure it.

WET MIS-STATEMENTS CHALLENGED

(From the Wellsville Reporter.)

The Wets are industriously circulating mis-statements regarding the provisions of the Bone Dry Law.

They are saying that the temperance people are responsible for its drastic provisions concerning the keeping of liquor in private homes.

In the first place it never was true that any man in the State of New York was ever prohibited from having liquor in his possession for medicinal purposes, upon a doctor's prescription.

Furthermore the drastic provisions in this law were placed there by the Liquor Lobby at Albany for the express purpose of detering Wet towns voting Dry. As they had the bill enacted, it was so drastic that liquor could not be brought into a town for sacramental purposes nor could it be kept by duly licensed Pharmacists for necessary drugs and manufacturing purposes.

The Anti-Saloon League had the last provision amended at the special session of the Legislature on Aug. 29, 1917 so that it is now lawful for liquor to be kept in any Dry Town for such uses.

Any intelligent lawyer will tell you that this is the truth of the matter.

You are also asked to remember that this law has been in operation for several months and we challenge the Wets to prove a single instance where the home of any citizen of our State has been invaded and arrests made for having liquor in his possession for medicinal use.

THE DRY COMMITTEE WILL MAKE A PRESENT OF $100 IN GOLD TO ANY CITIZEN WHO WILL PROVE ANY OF THE ABOVE STATEMENTS TO BE FALSE.

We Are Not Jugglers

Our goods are not deceptive in-quality.
The grocer who sells unreliable foods just for the sake of making a few cents more is not a safe man to trade with. Unreliable things cannot come into this store.

We know enough about these things to know when they are pure and when they are not. It isn't wholly a question of price with us.
We get the best that money will buy and then sell it with just a fair percentage of profit added.

Royal Baking Powder saves eggs in baking

In many recipes only half as many eggs are required, in some none at all, if an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder is used, about a teaspoon, in place of each egg omitted.

Try the following recipes which also conserve white flour as urged by the government.

Corn Meal Griddle Cakes

- 1 1/2 cups corn meal
- 1 1/2 cups boiling water
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon shortening
- 1 tablespoon molasses
- 1/2 cup salt
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

NO EGGS

Soak corn meal in bowl with boiling water; add milk, melted shortening and molasses; add flour, salt and baking powder which have been sifted together; mix well. Bake on hot greased griddle until brown.

(The Old Method called for 2 eggs)

Eggless, Milkless, Butterless Cake

- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 1/4 cups water
- 1 cup seeded raisins
- 3 ounces citron, cut fine
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup molasses
- 1/2 cup salt
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 cup Royal Baking Powder

Boil sugar, water, fruit, shortening, salt and spices together in saucepan 5 minutes. When cool, add flour and baking powder which have been sifted together. Mix well; bake in loaf pan in moderate oven about 45 minutes.

(The Old Method [Fruit Cake] called for 2 eggs)

Send for our new booklet "55 Ways to Save Eggs." Mailed free on request.

HIGH PRICES AND COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

We are inclined to view the present era of high prices as confusing entirely to the benefit of the farmer, and to regard him as a very fortunate individual. True, he is more fortunate than he has been in times past, but while he has been relieved of some burdens he has been saddled with others. Not all the high prices have benefitted him.

We are too apt to view the farmer as living entirely on the farm and off its products. In one sense this is true, but in another sense not. While his means come from the farm, much of those means must be exchanged for commodities that do not come from the farm.

The farmer must wear clothes, and these must come from the manufacturers and the merchants.
He must have farm implements, and these he cannot make. He must have wagons and buggies, and if he is to enjoy life as his city brother, automobiles, and prices on these articles are soaring in company with the products of his farm.

But what we started out to remark was that the farmers can in large measure meet and overcome the effects of the high prices of farm implements by a well-planned system of co-operation.
And it looks now as tho this plan will have to be adopted. The demand for war supplies has diverted the energies of many large factories, and a shortage of farm implements is freely predicted.

In this event co-operation in the purchase and use of the more costly of farm tools will prove not only practicable but profitable.
There are many tools used on the farm, where one implements may be made to do the work of several farms. Every farmer knows what they are, and it is unnecessary to enumerate them. We merely would impress the fact that whenever these can be owned and operated co-operatively, it is not only economy to do so, but it is also of real benefit to the country in this crisis. Every ounce of energy that can be diverted from the manufacture of farm supplies can be devoted to the manufacture of government plies.

Every community in our country should give this matterious consideration this fall planning for that record will be needed next year.

Our country hasn't food so we can afford to feed Germans. Every one of them whatever race or class or should be bundled across the water to the nation they sympathize with. It is a crime to take from good loyal Americans to feed these inappreciating Germans.
