New York State Depository

There is no question who will win in the coming year. Only when we will win it. Close up your water faucets. Stop robbing your neighbor. The Forum this week discusses Democracy and Leadership. Read it. Even coaches and an engine about five hundred yards on the road recently. The four Protestant churches still are holding federated services in order to conserve coal. Many complaints are heard from our citizens of the weak pressure, some houses not sufficient for their household needs.

—Earl Dawson carried the mail on Route 3, Saturday.
—Mrs. J. B. Ariza died at her home in Bolivar, Jan. 7th, aged 70 years.
—C. M. Dunning is the newly elected Noble Grand of Bolivar I. O. O. F. Lodge.
—Miss Mary Travis, of Angelica, and Clayton A. Flanders, of Elmira, were married recently.
—What has become of the old time January thaw? It has only a few days now left to "prove up."

—Hold steady. Don't rock the boat. Keep every line of business going along its usual way as far as possible.
—Miss Susan A. Renwick, aunt of Attorney Walter N. Renwick of Cuba, died at Geneva, Tuesday aged 80 years.
—Elmer Ellerington, living near Jasper, captured three red foxes, one day last week, selling the pelts for $36.00.
—Five violations of the game law were punished by fines or forfeiture of licenses in this county during the month of November.
—The Friendship New York Guard Basket Ball Team and the Angelica New York Guard Basket Ball Team had a battle at the latter's place recently.

—Andover friends learn with pleasure of the present favorable condition of our townsman, Geo. Bloss, who is under treatment at St. James Mercy Hospital, in Hornell.
—Our busy knitters have been granted a brief vacation in which to get their work in order and be in readiness to use the yarn which it is expected will soon be supplied us.
—The two Hornell lads, who were convicted of stealing a mail bag in that city recently, have been sentenced to terms in the National Training School at Washington, D. C.
—Harrison F. Collier, of Shor Tract, has been appointed by the Town Board of Granger as supervisor to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Supervisor L. D. Bennett of that town.
—If you have enjoyed the protection of your property the past year by the Andover Hook & Ladder Company, it would be an act of appreciation to buy a ticket to their annual dance, Jan. 29th, whether you dance or not.
—Announcement is made of the betrothal of Miss Bernice Williams, of Rochester, to the Rev. F. F. Leavitt, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church of that city. Rev. Leavitt will be remembered by Andover people as the famous tenor singer here with the Genesee Valley Quartette conducting evangelistic services a few years ago.

—Look's Dance on the 29th.
—Miss Reva Coats and Lewis Seoville, of Whitesville, were married Jan. 4th.
—Ray L. Compton, aged 31 years, died Jan. 6th, at Friendship, of Bright's disease.
—Bolivar is said to have the lowest tax rate in the county this year. It is $8.68 per $1,000.00.
—Remember the Hook & Ladder Company's annual ball, at the Auditorium, Tuesday evening, January 29th.

—At last the Borden Company has announced the price it will pay for milk this month, $3.78 per hundred.
—Clarence Slight, one of our progressive farmers, is at the Wellsville Sanitarium for rest and treatment.
—105 Industrial plants in New York State have already been forced to suspend operations owing to lack of fuel.
—Mrs. S. A. Vansickle, the aged mother of Mrs. N. P. Brumard was taken ill last Sunday and her condition has been serious since.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Frisbey celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary to-day, by keeping "open house" to all who desire to call, from 2 to 5, and 8 to 10 P. M.
—An effort is being made to allow two or three counties, to combine in erecting or maintaining a tuberculosis hospital, a reasonable proposition, if rightly managed.
—Mrs. Annie Sherwood Hawkes, author of the famous hymn, "I Need Thee Every Hour," and many other of our favorite songs, died Jan. 3rd, at her home in Bennington, Vt.
—Mrs. B. B. Hunt and Mrs. Guy Harder entertained the King's Daughters, at the home of Mrs. Harder, Thursday afternoon. A very pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

—Miss Rachael Burdick, of Westerly, R. I., and Leon Bassett, of Worcester, Mass. were united in marriage Jan. 12th. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bassett, of Alfred.
—Miss Colette Day, of Wellsville, won the bronze medal for the best essay on the Liberty Loan, written by a High School student. The medal was offered by the Liberty Loan Committee.
—Leslie Bliss, of Little Genesee, came near losing his life last week by taking salts from a package which a physician discovered to be coated with sulphuric acid which had accidentally been spilled on them from a fire extinguisher.

—The Calhoun Clothing Company has decided to change its line. The past week they sold to Hornell parties their entire stock of men's clothing and furnishings and it has been removed to that city. W. S. Calhoun informs the News that he will immediately stock up with a fine line of ladies and gents furnishing goods. He will also sell men's made to measure clothing and ladies suits.

—In a copy of the Raleigh (N. C.) Times, sent by Prof. Leon Cook to his mother, Mrs. Flora Deming, is told a rather weird tale of suffering. We copy the following: "Seven dollars and twenty-five cents per cord is the maximum price at which Raleigh dealers may sell wood, split and delivered, according to a ruling made by the County Fuel Administration Board, which has been approved by the State Fuel Administrator. For untreated wood dealers may not charge more than $5 per cord on the yard."

A large party of Alfred students enjoyed a delightful Andover Tuesday evening, and the ladies of the Baptist Church served those luncheon. In the evening the young people had a delightful party in the Auditorium.

The residence, owned by James Anderson, at Belmont, and occupied by the family of E. F. Erb, was badly damaged by fire last week. The blaze started from gas stove with hose connections, used in heating one of the upper rooms.

Martin Hoyer, who is now located in Andover, is much pleased because of the receipt by him of his naturalization papers, just issued. He is now a full-fledged American citizen and says he has no time whatever for the Kaiser.

Franklin Fitz Randolph, a freshman of Alfred University, who was drafted last September, died Jan. 13th, of meningitis, at a training camp where he was stationed. He was the son of Prin. E. S. Randolph of Staten Island.

The Canisteo Times, Friday morning, Jan. 11th, James Church, a clerk in the Canisteo Cash Grocery, saw a robin singing cheerfully in a tree in North Hornell Street, this village. "Isn't that a hot one for zero weather?"

Our coal dealer, W. F. O'Connell, tells the News that it is absolutely impossible to secure more coal for Andover consumers, and advises all to put in a supply of good wood. This they can get here at home, and thus be prepared for the next blizzard.

Bodies of American soldiers dying in France must be buried in that country until after the war. A contingent has been sent across to look after the marking and burial of American soldiers in cemeteries designated by the Government.

"Stay at Home Day" was observed in Andover, Sunday last. The streets were so icy that walking was a dangerous proposition, and the intense cold and cutting wind produced one of the most disagreeable weather conditions we have experienced in many years.

The Price of Food

doesn't mean as much as the quality. You'd better pay a fair price for a high quality than a little price for a low quality.

There are all sorts of ways of cheapening groceries without showing where it is done.

We are not saying these things to frighten anybody. We merely repeat what may be seen in the newspapers every day.

If you want pure, high-grade groceries of tested quality we have them.
