The inconsistency of Germany concerning peace measures is shown in the counter-propositions made by Chancellor Von Hertling to the Reichstag, to those of President Wilson. To some of President Wilson's propositions Von Hertling says, "it only interferes with the unreasonableness of his position on other points is antagonistic. He says in reply to proposition 11 which is the evacuation of Russian territory by the central powers that "only Russia and the central powers are concerned in the evacuation of captured Russian territory."

To proposition 8 of the President as to the restoration to France of Alsace and Lorraine Von Hertling says "it only interests Germany and France." That is to say that the propositions of the President in settling the contented allies of nation rights is none of their business, and that it is to be disposed of by the robber and robbed nations without interference by the allies of the robbed, but when it comes to the position between individual allies of Germany and other powers, it is then the duty of Germany to support her ally, whether she is interested personally or not.
