MILK GOES DOWN ANOTHER NOTCH

League Milk Will Be Sold Next Month a Quarter of a Cent a Quart Less Than This Month

The price of League milk for March will be $3.36. This is for 3 per cent. milk at the 200-210 mile freight zone with the usual differentials for freight and butterfat. The price for February was $3.48. The reduction to the farmer is therefore about one quarter of a cent per quart.

The average price for butter for the period ending February 20th was .6559 cents. The average price for cheese for the same period was .3016. The cost of production differential to be added for March is 16-cents together with the value of skim milk and whey.

In the Buffalo district the price of milk to can shippers is based on milk averaging 3.7 per cent., and will bring .316 cents per gallon. The price to producers delivering without test is $3.51. The price to plants buying upon a butterfat test is $3.23 for 3 per cent. milk.

The price in both the Rochester and Syracuse district for March will be $3.68.

The outlook for the dairy industry for the coming season is serious. There is a somewhat increased supply of milk and the demand is rapidly falling off because of the cessation of exports. The foreign exchange and credit situation is so bad that Europeans have almost ceased to buy, while the exchange works in the favor of importers of butter, and Denmark is shipping large quantities to this country.

Dr. E. V. McCollum, of John Hopkins University, one of the world's greatest authorities on nutrition, declares that no family has the right to purchase meat until each member has a pint of milk daily. More milk must be consumed if we are to have a healthier and a better citizenry.

Many health authorities and dairymen are coming to believe that the only solution of the problem, a solution which would improve the general health of the whole country and preserve the dairy industry is that of a national campaign of advertising similar to that practiced by other great industries, teaching the consumer the great food and health value of dairy products.

Farmers on the western coast have been able to produce great quantities of all kinds of fruits and ship them clear across the continent and sell them under the very nose of eastern growers at good prices. They did this by advertising. The California Prune and Apricot Growers, an organization of only 10,000 members, will spend this year $250,000 in advertising to increase the consumption of prunes and apricots. The citrus growers of California have saved their industry from ruin by advertising. These fruits are a semi-luxury. Dairy products are a necessity both from a food and a health standpoint. The consumption is less than half of what it should be according to the best food experts. If advertising will teach people to use something which under stress they might get along without, it certainly should be successful in creating a larger demand for a great food like milk and its products.

TO SPEAK IN ANDOVER

A meeting under the direction of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, will be held in the lecture room of the Methodist Church, Friday, March 12th, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Catherine Whitmore, of the New York State Department of Health will address the meeting. Fuller announcement next week.

POWER BILL BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE

State Could Save Residents Much Without Increasing Taxation By Developing Water Power.

A reduction of some 300 per cent in the cost to the people of electric light and power would be made possible, it is said, by a bill now before the legislature which would empower the State Conservation Commission to act as an agency of the state in acquiring and utilizing the waters of the state for power purposes. The bill is backed by the New York State Conference of Mayors, which is carrying on a campaign of propaganda in its favor.

The bill is largely inspired by and based upon the success with which a similar plan is said to be operated in the Province of Ontario, Canada. While the residents of New York State have to pay 8 cents or more a kilowat for electricity to light their homes, business places and factories, it is clamed, the people in 235 Ontorio municipalities pay approximately 2 cents for the same service, and while New York manufacturers are compelled to pay from $50 to $75 a horse power for electrical power, their Canadian competitors get it for $12.50.

The people of New York State are obstructed at every step by powerful private interests. Bills have been before the legislature for the last eight or nine years designed to develop state-owned water power for the benefit of the public. Up to date they have all been defeated.

"We have the water power. According to the Conservation Commission, New York has approximately three million horse power. Less than one million of this is now being utilized, having been developed by private interests. Two millions are undeveloped and going to waste. The city of Buffalo uses about 700,000 horse power for its industries and for lighting. The unused water power, therefore, would, if developed, supply the electrical needs of twenty-nine Buffaloes.

The proposed bill has been reintroduced this year by Senator J. Samuel Fowler of Jamestown and Assemblyman Joseph A. McGinnis, of Chautauqua. The same bill passed the Senate last year but was defeated in the Assembly.

The State Conservation Commission would be authorized to produce electric power from the waters of the state and to distribute and sell or lease to the municipalities and inhabitants of the state for public and private use.

The commission would rather be authorized to acquire by purchase or lease any water powers, power plants, etc., essential for state development, and to condemn water power rights, except those now materially developed.

Prices for electricity, to be fixed by the commission must be sufficeint to cover all cost and expense of supplying it.

Enumerating some of the advantages of the plan, as shown in the experence of the Ontario hydro-electric system, which was esablished in 1910, to supply water to six municipalities, and had been expanded so that in 1919 it supplied power to 232 municipalities at cost.

ISAAC M. TULLER

The remains of Isaac M. Tuller were brought to Andover Saturday, from Ridgeway, Pa., where he had died after a fourteen day's illness with pneumonia, contracted while at work in the paper mills at Johnsonburg, Pa., aged 34 years.

Mr. Tuller was born in the town of Hartsville, Dec. 16, 1886, and died at Ridgeway, Pa., Feb. 21, 1920. He was the son of George and Phoebe Tuller, who survive. He came to Andover seven years ago and was a carpenter by trade.

Besides his father and mother, deceased is survived by a brother, Floyd Tuller, of Andover, and two sisters, Mrs. Leone Ranor, of Canisteo, and Miss Minnie Tuller, of Hornell.

Funeral service was conducted Monday morning, at the home of Ralph Kemp, in this village, Rev. Geo. A. Orton, pastor of the Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery.

INHUMAN BRUTE BEHIND THE BARS

Assaults Ten-Year-Old Girl and Quick Action by Mayor and Justice Lands De Long in Jail in Short Order

(From the Wellsville Reporter)

Positively the most cold-blooded, revolting and inhuman crime that was ever committed in Wellsville was perpetrated Sunday afternoon when Leon De Long committed a criminal assault upon the person of a ten-year-old daughter of a well known resident of the Brooklyn side.

About two o'clock De Long met the child near Rockwell's store and thru the promise of a sled and money, he induced her to walk down to his house at 69 South Main Street, where they entered, locked the door, and where he committed the brutal crime, and then let her out of the house, while he remained there alone.

The child went crying down the street, and met Ex-Fire Chief John W. Jones, who, upon hearing her story, went back with her to the De Long home, and found the door locked. He let himself in with a skeleton key, and found DeLong feigning sleep in bed.

In no uncertain language Jones asked De Long what he had been doing, and as soon as he showed his face the child recognized the man as the assailant. Going to the door Jones called in the two men who had accompanied him, to guard De Long, while he went and 'phoned to Mayor Sheerar. The Mayor, who is also Chief of Police, started at once for the DeLong house, leaving word for Officer Shine to come there also. Shine arrived promptly, and took charge of the culprit, while Mayor Sheerar escorted the child home. An examination by Dr. McCarthy proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that a crime had been committed.

Village Attorney O'Conner could not be reached at the time, so the services of District Attorney Lee Fassett, were secured, and the prisoner was taken before Police Justice Leonard. An examination resulted in DeLong being held for the grand jury on $1,000 bail, and papers were quickly made out, DeLong placed in a sleigh and driven to Belmont in charge of Deputy Sheriff Boyd and Officer Shine, and locked in the county jail to await the next grand jury. The quick committment of the brute was much to the relief of the Mayor and his assistants, for long before the case was disposed of a crowd of men had gathered outside, and threats of lynching were heard on all sides. Nothing but the presence of the officers of the law, prevented violence to the miscreant.

DeLong has been employed in the Pure Carbon Works for some time. He said he had a wife and a three-year-old child in Canisteo. It is understood that he came here from Geneseo, Pa., where his record is said to have been an unsavory one. He asked Mayor Sheerar, in the most brazen manner, if they could do anything to him, whereupon the Mayor took him to the window and showed him the crowd of men just aching to string him up to a telephone pole. DeLong quickly wilted, and begged to be taken care of.

It will probably mean 20 years in the penitentiary for DeLong, and he may thank his stars that the damnable crime was committed in New York State instead of in Mississippi.

LUCKY ESCAPE

Geo. Alvord Falls With Ten Tons of Lime Into Barn Basement

George Alvord was most fortunate in escaping instant death, at his farm home, one and a half miles from Andover, last Friday. He drove into his barn with a load of lime, and had just unloaded it on another floor, when of a sudden the barn floor upon which was piled ten tons of lime collapsed, carrying Mr. Alvord with it a distance of seven or eight feet. His feet became entangled in the mass of sacked lime, and he was helpless. Fortunately he escaped the falling timbers and was only badly wrenched by the weight of lime falling on his limbs.

When you want to sell it advertise it in the News.
