The books of few authors ever achieve a sale of 1,000,000 copies. Fewer still are the authors who live to see such popularity. Yet this talented daughter of the Empire state has lived to see it and the end is not yet, for she continues to write and sales show no diminishment. It all started with "Tess of the Storm Country." That story made the fortune of a magazine for women which ran it serially. Moving picture producers and players have also gained fame and fortune through it. A later romance, "The Shadow of the Sheltering Pines," has another sweet, charming, pathetic little heroine very much like "Tess." We propose that our readers shall become acquainted with her and shall reproduce the story serially. Keep your eyes open for the first installment.

THE BOSS IS KEEPING TAB

By Walt Mason
 The Boss is keeping tab, my son, he marks you every curve; and if you do not earn your mon you'll get what you deserve; if you are only sprightly when your weekly wage you grab, you'll shortly join the jobless men — the boss is keeping tab.
 Perhaps you fool around at night, and paint the village red, when you'd be wiser sleeping tight in your nice truckle bed; then you are dead upon your feet when you to duty go; you make a small look pretty fleet, your movements are so slow; your eyes look like a total loss, you have a taste that's drab; you cannot put such things across — the boss is keeping tab.
 Perhaps your thots have roamed afar from work you ought to do; you're thinking of some movie star who made a hit with you; or of a joy ride you will take when this sad day is done; or of a shady way to make a little bunch of mon; or of a large planked tenderloin that you at night will stab; 'twere better far to earn your coin — the boss is keeping tab.
 And then, perhaps, on t'other hand you're workin' like a jo; you're hustling round to beat the band, to make the business grow. And there is vigor in your walk, your movements are not dead; you do not pause to watch the clock and count the house ahead; Success for you is looming plain; some big prize you will nab; the worker does not work in vain — the boss is keeping tab. — The Western Druggist.

GIVE YOUR HENS NEEDED ENERGY

"Energy— Power, Force, Vigor, Efficiency." That's what the dictionary says. "Some folks call it "vim, pep, punch, kick." But whatever the name, it's the thing your hens MUST have in order to do a full day's work every day in order to digest enough food to maintain their bodies and regularly shell out the high-priced, profit-bringing eggs.

Perfect health and great energy go together. You can easily make your flock healthy, vigorous, energetic, by adding PRATT'S POULTRY FOOD to any good ration. The reason is plain. It makes the hen-machine work right, prevents a break-down from some part going wrong. It keeps the good layers to do better, it turns loafers into layers.

If you have used the genuine Pratt's Poultry Regulator you know this. If you haven't, it will pay you to let your birds prove it at our shop. A start right now, today, means money for you.
