

THE ANDOVER NEWS

A PROGRESSIVE FAMILY NEWSPAPER, FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY PEOPLE IN POLITICS INDEPENDENT, BUT NEVER NEUTRAL.

VOL. XXXV. NO. 10.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING MARCH 11, 1921.

TERMS $2.00 the Year
5c the Copy

A COMMUNITY FAREWELL SERVICE

Over 400 People Recognize Service of Rev. H. B. Williams by Gathering Thursday Evening

After nearly ten years of service in Andover as pastor of the Presbyterian Church Rev. H. B. Williams closed his work in this community Sunday evening, Feb. 27th, and began as pastor of the Worthington, Ohio, Presbyterian Church, last Sunday.

During his residence in Andover, Mr. Williams made many warm personal friends, both in his own par-ten years ago next August. He became an advocate of co-operation among each other, between all classes of citizens. He is distinctly a community man. He has been vitally interested with every activity in our town and to better the condition of every class in Andover has been the work he got for himself and those whom he could get to work with him. The merchant, the manufacturer, the business man, the professional man, the farmer and even the printer have all come under the scope of his influence, and have all been benefited by contact with his pleasing personality, and come in for a good portion of his best wishes.

The down-and-out man in Andover, has had just as much reason to thank God for having been placed in the radius of his ideal community as the wealthy and well-to-do. In fact he has been living the life among us that he has been asking us to live and recommending to all.

It is impossible for me to adequately express my deep feelings of regret that the time has come when Andover must suffer the loss of one of its foremost boosters. But we know that our loss will be the gain of the community into which he is about to enter.

I might talk here all night and then not half-tell of the good Mr. Williams has really meant to do, by getting us all to work together for the advancement of Andover. That has been his strong hobby ever since he struck the town, and hundreds of times have we heard him exclaim, "We will save Andover, in spite of itself."

Mr. Williams, we are going to change your motto. It is to read from now on, "We will save Andover, in spite of Mr. Williams leaving us." If you have ever for a moment thought that what you have brought forth seemed not to have brought forth the good that you may have wished it might and intended it would, if you have thought that the "next you have sown in Andover has fallen on barren ground you have been mistaken. You know that the most precious seed is usually the slowest to germinate. The thistles and the weeds come up quickly and are soon cut down, but the grains that supply the necessities of life often lay for months dormant in the earth before they begin to sprout. So it may be to a certain extent with your work in Andover. Generations yet unborn will be wonderfully benefited because of your work in Andover.

That your work has been appreciated by us is evidenced by our presence here to-night to bid you God speed in your new field.

You have preached many eloquent sermons in us in the ten years in which you have lived with us, scholarly sermons, sermons that have been an inspiration and great help to many of us, but the sermon that has done us the most good, that has had the most kick to it, that has been of the greatest power, has been "the conscientious Christian life" you have lived among us. Always optimistic, always seemingly happy, no matter how heavy the load you were carrying upon your own shoulders. No one ever heard you complain of your burdens. Quietly and unassumingly you have wended your way in and out among us until you have entwined yourself about our hearts as you have gone your way doing good to all.

Words are feeble instruments with which to convey to you the love and esteem which Andover people bear toward you, and that you may have some remembrance to go with you that will not be soon forgotten, your many Andover friends, thru me, present you with this token of love and affection. Every time that you look at its face, and we trust that you will be often reminded of the donors.

WELLSVILLE MAN HELD UP

Hold Up Men Attempt to Stop Olin Brown Near Scio, Early Monday Morning

While returning from Olean early Monday evening, Olin Brown, of Wellsville, had a thrilling adventure with two hold-up men.

As Mr. Brown passed the Browning farm, just below Riverside, he noticed a car standing in the middle of the road, headed toward Scio, and as he drew near two men appeared with revolvers in their hands, who signaled for him to stop. Instead of doing so he set for the left hand ditch and soon had his powerful super-six handgun doing seventy miles an hour toward Wellsville.

When Brown passed the men they fired two shots that the side curtains of his car were within a few inches of his head, and several more shots were fired as he went up the road, one going in a rear fender, and another striking the back of the car.

The big city crime news is getting more and more sensational as the warm weather approaches. People who wish to live in peace should have to carry a heavy load of fear with them to guarantee their safety.

Mr. Williams has always championed the Brotherhood of Man, and been an advocate of co-operation among each other, between all classes of citizens. He is distinctly a community man. He has been vitally interested with every activity in our town and to better the condition of every class in Andover has been the work he got for himself and those whom he could get to work with him. The merchant, the manufacturer, the business man, the professional man, the farmer and even the printer have all come under the scope of his influence, and have all been benefited by contact with his pleasing personality, and come in for a good portion of his best wishes.

The down-and-out man in Andover, has had just as much reason to thank God for having been placed in the radius of his ideal community as the wealthy and well-to-do. In fact he has been living the life among us that he has been asking us to live and recommending to all.

It is impossible for me to adequately express my deep feelings of regret that the time has come when Andover must suffer the loss of one of its foremost boosters. But we know that our loss will be the gain of the community into which he is about to enter.

I might talk here all night and then not half-tell of the good Mr. Williams has really meant to do, by getting us all to work together for the advancement of Andover. That has been his strong hobby ever since he struck the town, and hundreds of times have we heard him exclaim, "We will save Andover, in spite of itself."

Mr. Williams, we are going to change your motto. It is to read from now on, "We will save Andover, in spite of Mr. Williams leaving us." If you have ever for a moment thought that what you have brought forth seemed not to have brought forth the good that you may have wished it might and intended it would, if you have thought that the "next you have sown in Andover has fallen on barren ground you have been mistaken. You know that the most precious seed is usually the slowest to germinate. The thistles and the weeds come up quickly and are soon cut down, but the grains that supply the necessities of life often lay for months dormant in the earth before they begin to sprout. So it may be to a certain extent with your work in Andover. Generations yet unborn will be wonderfully benefited because of your work in Andover.

That your work has been appreciated by us is evidenced by our presence here to-night to bid you God speed in your new field.

You have preached many eloquent sermons in us in the ten years in which you have lived with us, scholarly sermons, sermons that have been an inspiration and great help to many of us, but the sermon that has done us the most good, that has had the most kick to it, that has been of the greatest power, has been "the conscientious Christian life" you have lived among us. Always optimistic, always seemingly happy, no matter how heavy the load you were carrying upon your own shoulders. No one ever heard you complain of your burdens. Quietly and unassumingly you have wended your way in and out among us until you have entwined yourself about our hearts as you have gone your way doing good to all.

Words are feeble instruments with which to convey to you the love and esteem which Andover people bear toward you, and that you may have some remembrance to go with you that will not be soon forgotten, your many Andover friends, thru me, present you with this token of love and affection. Every time that you look at its face, and we trust that you will be often reminded of the donors.

WELLSVILLE MAN HELD UP

Hold Up Men Attempt to Stop Olin Brown Near Scio, Early Monday Morning

While returning from Olean early Monday evening, Olin Brown, of Wellsville, had a thrilling adventure with two hold-up men.

As Mr. Brown passed the Browning farm, just below Riverside, he noticed a car standing in the middle of the road, headed toward Scio, and as he drew near two men appeared with revolvers in their hands, who signaled for him to stop. Instead of doing so he set for the left hand ditch and soon had his powerful super-six handgun doing seventy miles an hour toward Wellsville.

When Brown passed the men they fired two shots that the side curtains of his car were within a few inches of his head, and several more shots were fired as he went up the road, one going in a rear fender, and another striking the back of the car.

The big city crime news is getting more and more sensational as the warm weather approaches. People who wish to live in peace should have to carry a heavy load of fear with them to guarantee their safety.

Mr. Williams has always championed the Brotherhood of Man, and been an advocate of co-operation among each other, between all classes of citizens. He is distinctly a community man. He has been vitally interested with every activity in our town and to better the condition of every class in Andover has been the work he got for himself and those whom he could get to work with him. The merchant, the manufacturer, the business man, the professional man, the farmer and even the printer have all come under the scope of his influence, and have all been benefited by contact with his pleasing personality, and come in for a good portion of his best wishes.

The down-and-out man in Andover, has had just as much reason to thank God for having been placed in the radius of his ideal community as the wealthy and well-to-do. In fact he has been living the life among us that he has been asking us to live and recommending to all.

It is impossible for me to adequately express my deep feelings of regret that the time has come when Andover must suffer the loss of one of its foremost boosters. But we know that our loss will be the gain of the community into which he is about to enter.

I might talk here all night and then not half-tell of the good Mr. Williams has really meant to do, by getting us all to work together for the advancement of Andover. That has been his strong hobby ever since he struck the town, and hundreds of times have we heard him exclaim, "We will save Andover, in spite of itself."

Mr. Williams, we are going to change your motto. It is to read from now on, "We will save Andover, in spite of Mr. Williams leaving us." If you have ever for a moment thought that what you have brought forth seemed not to have brought forth the good that you may have wished it might and intended it would, if you have thought that the "next you have sown in Andover has fallen on barren ground you have been mistaken. You know that the most precious seed is usually the slowest to germinate. The thistles and the weeds come up quickly and are soon cut down, but the grains that supply the necessities of life often lay for months dormant in the earth before they begin to sprout. So it may be to a certain extent with your work in Andover. Generations yet unborn will be wonderfully benefited because of your work in Andover.

That your work has been appreciated by us is evidenced by our presence here to-night to bid you God speed in your new field.

You have preached many eloquent sermons in us in the ten years in which you have lived with us, scholarly sermons, sermons that have been an inspiration and great help to many of us, but the sermon that has done us the most good, that has had the most kick to it, that has been of the greatest power, has been "the conscientious Christian life" you have lived among us. Always optimistic, always seemingly happy, no matter how heavy the load you were carrying upon your own shoulders. No one ever heard you complain of your burdens. Quietly and unassumingly you have wended your way in and out among us until you have entwined yourself about our hearts as you have gone your way doing good to all.

Words are feeble instruments with which to convey to you the love and esteem which Andover people bear toward you, and that you may have some remembrance to go with you that will not be soon forgotten, your many Andover friends, thru me, present you with this token of love and affection. Every time that you look at its face, and we trust that you will be often reminded of the donors.

WELLSVILLE MAN HELD UP

Hold Up Men Attempt to Stop Olin Brown Near Scio, Early Monday Morning

While returning from Olean early Monday evening, Olin Brown, of Wellsville, had a thrilling adventure with two hold-up men.

As Mr. Brown passed the Browning farm, just below Riverside, he noticed a car standing in the middle of the road, headed toward Scio, and as he drew near two men appeared with revolvers in their hands, who signaled for him to stop. Instead of doing so he set for the left hand ditch and soon had his powerful super-six handgun doing seventy miles an hour toward Wellsville.

When Brown passed the men they fired two shots that the side curtains of his car were within a few inches of his head, and several more shots were fired as he went up the road, one going in a rear fender, and another striking the back of the car.

Mr. Williams has always championed the Brotherhood of Man, and been an advocate of co-operation among each other, between all classes of citizens. He is distinctly a community man. He has been vitally interested with every activity in our town and to better the condition of every class in Andover has been the work he got for himself and those whom he could get to work with him. The merchant, the manufacturer, the business man, the professional man, the farmer and even the printer have all come under the scope of his influence, and have all been benefited by contact with his pleasing personality, and come in for a good portion of his best wishes.

The down-and-out man in Andover, has had just as much reason to thank God for having been placed in the radius of his ideal community as the wealthy and well-to-do. In fact he has been living the life among us that he has been asking us to live and recommending to all.

It is impossible for me to adequately express my deep feelings of regret that the time has come when Andover must suffer the loss of one of its foremost boosters. But we know that our loss will be the gain of the community into which he is about to enter.

I might talk here all night and then not half-tell of the good Mr. Williams has really meant to do, by getting us all to work together for the advancement of Andover. That has been his strong hobby ever since he struck the town, and hundreds of times have we heard him exclaim, "We will save Andover, in spite of itself."

Mr. Williams, we are going to change your motto. It is to read from now on, "We will save Andover, in spite of Mr. Williams leaving us." If you have ever for a moment thought that what you have brought forth seemed not to have brought forth the good that you may have wished it might and intended it would, if you have thought that the "next you have sown in Andover has fallen on barren ground you have been mistaken. You know that the most precious seed is usually the slowest to germinate. The thistles and the weeds come up quickly and are soon cut down, but the grains that supply the necessities of life often lay for months dormant in the earth before they begin to sprout. So it may be to a certain extent with your work in Andover. Generations yet unborn will be wonderfully benefited because of your work in Andover.

That your work has been appreciated by us is evidenced by our presence here to-night to bid you God speed in your new field.

You have preached many eloquent sermons in us in the ten years in which you have lived with us, scholarly sermons, sermons that have been an inspiration and great help to many of us, but the sermon that has done us the most good, that has had the most kick to it, that has been of the greatest power, has been "the conscientious Christian life" you have lived among us. Always optimistic, always seemingly happy, no matter how heavy the load you were carrying upon your own shoulders. No one ever heard you complain of your burdens. Quietly and unassumingly you have wended your way in and out among us until you have entwined yourself about our hearts as you have gone your way doing good to all.

Words are feeble instruments with which to convey to you the love and esteem which Andover people bear toward you, and that you may have some remembrance to go with you that will not be soon forgotten, your many Andover friends, thru me, present you with this token of love and affection. Every time that you look at its face, and we trust that you will be often reminded of the donors.

WELLSVILLE MAN HELD UP

Hold Up Men Attempt to Stop Olin Brown Near Scio, Early Monday Morning

While returning from Olean early Monday evening, Olin Brown, of Wellsville, had a thrilling adventure with two hold-up men.

As Mr. Brown passed the Browning farm, just below Riverside, he noticed a car standing in the middle of the road, headed toward Scio, and as he drew near two men appeared with revolvers in their hands, who signaled for him to stop. Instead of doing so he set for the left hand ditch and soon had his powerful super-six handgun doing seventy miles an hour toward Wellsville.

When Brown passed the men they fired two shots that the side curtains of his car were within a few inches of his head, and several more shots were fired as he went up the road, one going in a rear fender, and another striking the back of the car.

The big city crime news is getting more and more sensational as the warm weather approaches. People who wish to live in peace should have to carry a heavy load of fear with them to guarantee their safety.

Mr. Williams has always championed the Brotherhood of Man, and been an advocate of co-operation among each other, between all classes of citizens. He is distinctly a community man. He has been vitally interested with every activity in our town and to better the condition of every class in Andover has been the work he got for himself and those whom he could get to work with him. The merchant, the manufacturer, the business man, the professional man, the farmer and even the printer have all come under the scope of his influence, and have all been benefited by contact with his pleasing personality, and come in for a good portion of his best wishes.

The down-and-out man in Andover, has had just as much reason to thank God for having been placed in the radius of his ideal community as the wealthy and well-to-do. In fact he has been living the life among us that he has been asking us to live and recommending to all.

It is impossible for me to adequately express my deep feelings of regret that the time has come when Andover must suffer the loss of one of its foremost boosters. But we know that our loss will be the gain of the community into which he is about to enter.

I might talk here all night and then not half-tell of the good Mr. Williams has really meant to do, by getting us all to work together for the advancement of Andover. That has been his strong hobby ever since he struck the town, and hundreds of times have we heard him exclaim, "We will save Andover, in spite of itself."

Mr. Williams, we are going to change your motto. It is to read from now on, "We will save Andover, in spite of Mr. Williams leaving us." If you have ever for a moment thought that what you have brought forth seemed not to have brought forth the good that you may have wished it might and intended it would, if you have thought that the "next you have sown in Andover has fallen on barren ground you have been mistaken. You know that the most precious seed is usually the slowest to germinate. The thistles and the weeds come up quickly and are soon cut down, but the grains that supply the necessities of life often lay for months dormant in the earth before they begin to sprout. So it may be to a certain extent with your work in Andover. Generations yet unborn will be wonderfully benefited because of your work in Andover.

That your work has been appreciated by us is evidenced by our presence here to-night to bid you God speed in your new field.

You have preached many eloquent sermons in us in the ten years in which you have lived with us, scholarly sermons, sermons that have been an inspiration and great help to many of us, but the sermon that has done us the most good, that has had the most kick to it, that has been of the greatest power, has been "the conscientious Christian life" you have lived among us. Always optimistic, always seemingly happy, no matter how heavy the load you were carrying upon your own shoulders. No one ever heard you complain of your burdens. Quietly and unassumingly you have wended your way in and out among us until you have entwined yourself about our hearts as you have gone your way doing good to all.

Words are feeble instruments with which to convey to you the love and esteem which Andover people bear toward you, and that you may have some remembrance to go with you that will not be soon forgotten, your many Andover friends, thru me, present you with this token of love and affection. Every time that you look at its face, and we trust that you will be often reminded of the donors.

WELLSVILLE MAN HELD UP

Hold Up Men Attempt to Stop Olin Brown Near Scio, Early Monday Morning

While returning from Olean early Monday evening, Olin Brown, of Wellsville, had a thrilling adventure with two hold-up men.

As Mr. Brown passed the Browning farm, just below Riverside, he noticed a car standing in the middle of the road, headed toward Scio, and as he drew near two men appeared with revolvers in their hands, who signaled for him to stop. Instead of doing so he set for the left hand ditch and soon had his powerful super-six handgun doing seventy miles an hour toward Wellsville.

When Brown passed the men they fired two shots that the side curtains of his car were within a few inches of his head, and several more shots were fired as he went up the road, one going in a rear fender, and another striking the back of the car.

The big city crime news is getting more and more sensational as the warm weather approaches. People who wish to live in peace should have to carry a heavy load of fear with them to guarantee their safety.

Mr. Williams has always championed the Brotherhood of Man, and been an advocate of co-operation among each other, between all classes of citizens. He is distinctly a community man. He has been vitally interested with every activity in our town and to better the condition of every class in Andover has been the work he got for himself and those whom he could get to work with him. The merchant, the manufacturer, the business man, the professional man, the farmer and even the printer have all come under the scope of his influence, and have all been benefited by contact with his pleasing personality, and come in for a good portion of his best wishes.

The down-and-out man in Andover, has had just as much reason to thank God for having been placed in the radius of his ideal community as the wealthy and well-to-do. In fact he has been living the life among us that he has been asking us to live and recommending to all.

It is impossible for me to adequately express my deep feelings of regret that the time has come when Andover must suffer the loss of one of its foremost boosters. But we know that our loss will be the gain of the community into which he is about to enter.

I might talk here all night and then not half-tell of the good Mr. Williams has really meant to do, by getting us all to work together for the advancement of Andover. That has been his strong hobby ever since he struck the town, and hundreds of times have we heard him exclaim, "We will save Andover, in spite of itself."

Mr. Williams, we are going to change your motto. It is to read from now on, "We will save Andover, in spite of Mr. Williams leaving us." If you have ever for a moment thought that what you have brought forth seemed not to have brought forth the good that you may have wished it might and intended it would, if you have thought that the "next you have sown in Andover has fallen on barren ground you have been mistaken. You know that the most precious seed is usually the slowest to germinate. The thistles and the weeds come up quickly and are soon cut down, but the grains that supply the necessities of life often lay for months dormant in the earth before they begin to sprout. So it may be to a certain extent with your work in Andover. Generations yet unborn will be wonderfully benefited because of your work in Andover.

That your work has been appreciated by us is evidenced by our presence here to-night to bid you God speed in your new field.

You have preached many eloquent sermons in us in the ten years in which you have lived with us, scholarly sermons, sermons that have been an inspiration and great help to many of us, but the sermon that has done us the most good, that has had the most kick to it, that has been of the greatest power, has been "the conscientious Christian life" you have lived among us. Always optimistic, always seemingly happy, no matter how heavy the load you were carrying upon your own shoulders. No one ever heard you complain of your burdens. Quietly and unassumingly you have wended your way in and out among us until you have entwined yourself about our hearts as you have gone your way doing good to all.

Words are feeble instruments with which to convey to you the love and esteem which Andover people bear toward you, and that you may have some remembrance to go with you that will not be soon forgotten, your many Andover friends, thru me, present you with this token of love and affection. Every time that you look at its face, and we trust that you will be often reminded of the donors.

WELLSVILLE MAN HELD UP

Hold Up Men Attempt to Stop Olin Brown Near Scio, Early Monday Morning

While returning from Olean early Monday evening, Olin Brown, of Wellsville, had a thrilling adventure with two hold-up men.

As Mr. Brown passed the Browning farm, just below Riverside, he noticed a car standing in the middle of the road, headed toward Scio, and as he drew near two men appeared with revolvers in their hands, who signaled for him to stop. Instead of doing so he set for the left hand ditch and soon had his powerful super-six handgun doing seventy miles an hour toward Wellsville.

When Brown passed the men they fired two shots that the side curtains of his car were within a few inches of his head, and several more shots were fired as he went up the road, one going in a rear fender, and another striking the back of the car.

AUTO FOR EVERY EIGHT INHABITANTS

Allegany County Auto Census Shows We Have 4,148 Passenger Cars and 481 Commercial Vehicles

Albany, March 8. — With a total of 4,774 cars, representing a gain of 818 for the year, Allegany County has a car to every eight of its residents. The report of Secretary of State John J. Lyons shows a total of 682,919 motor vehicles, exclusive of motorcycles, registered in New York State last year, an increase of 111,257, or 19 Per Cent. This gives the state a car to every fifteen of its population.

Allegany County now has 4,148 passenger cars, a gain of 622 for the year, 481 commercials, an increase of 191, while its chauffeurs number 349, a gain of 60. There are 35 dealers, 98 omnibuses, 12 trailers, and 113 motorcycles in the county. The sum of $11,437.03 was received from the Secretary of State's office in the division of automobile receipts.

The automobile bureau took in approximately $9,000,000 last year. The year's registration figures offer some interesting comparisons with a year ago. Passenger cars have increased in the state from 446,593 to 524,271, commercials cars from 97,346 to 125,401, dealers from 2,681 to 3,560, chauffeurs from 181,632 to 216,875, motorcycles from 28,561 to 30,092. In New York City, there are to-day 215,782 cars, or 21 Per Cent. more than a year ago, 131,394 chauffeurs, a 22 Per Cent. increase, while commercials cars in the metropolis number 52,128.

ROD AND GUN CLUB REORGANIZE

The Andover Rod and Gun Club, altho not entirely dead, has been in a dormant state for the past two years, mostly on account of the moving from Andover of its officers. The remainder of the organization have pulled the loose ends together and started something.

In the first place they have ordered their fish for this year as stated in last week's News, and secondly have called a meeting for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year, and to place the proposition of purchasing bulletheads for the pond.

The meeting will be held in Henry Stephens' office, next Thursday evening, March 17th. All members are urgently requested to be present.

The following is a list of the present membership of this organization which is open to anyone wishing to identify themselves with it.

Roy Parker, Roy Brundage, Fred Henderson, Andrew J. Fuller, Ray Snyder, Erwin D. Baker, Porter Richardson, C. H. Watson, Frank Bloss, L. E. Howland, Fred Potter, Charles Scott, E. F. Joyce, Glenn Ruger, L. Kenneth Green, Ray Collins, John Mills, John Lever, Clayton Burger, Floyd Christ, John Ryan, E. C. Langworthy, E. F. Stearns, Jesse F. Hunt, Dr. John Common, Floyd Vans, Edward Wilcox, George H. Beebe, Wade Thetge, Thomas McAndrew, Ralph Temple, George Barrett, James P. Cannon, Maynard Scott, Floyd Scott, Arling K. Baker, Fay Boyd, Claire Backus, Charles Baker, C. F. Davis, Jr., Archie Bloss, F. K. Regan, Clark Faulkerson, Grant Shortwood, Ray Church, Edward Horan, Edward Cable, Henry Stephens, Frank Graves, Max Richardson, W. H. Wyckoff, Bartley Joyce, Lee Chapman, Burr Ruger, Arthur Jones.

The Club has application blanks for pheasant eggs, to be furnished by the state, free of charge, to anyone wishing them.

LOCAL HOME BUREAU ORGANIZED

Twenty-five ladies met at the home of Mrs. Agnes Robinson, Wednesday, March 2nd, and organized a Local Home Bureau Association, Miss Woods, the County Home Bureau manager, being present.

The next meeting will be held at the Methodist Church parlors, Tuesday, March 15th, at 10 A. M. A luncheon dinner will be served, each one bringing bread and butter for themselves and one other article of food.

Making paper dress forms will be the principle work of the day and planning for future work.

Every one interested in Home Bureau work is requested to come; those not interested, please get interested.

HATTIE CONYER, Chairman
AGNES ROBINSON, Sec.

A SURPRISE PARTY

About fifteen friends and neighbors surprised Mrs. H. B. Williams, Monday evening, at their home in Worthington, Ohio, being the first surprise party ever given to her.

ANNUAL REPORT VILLAGE OF ANDOVER

Following is the Treasurer's Report of Money Received and Expended for Fiscal Year Ending Feb. 28, 1921

GENERAL FUND

Receipts

Balance on hand March 1, 192000
Mrs. V. Slocum, Col.3,875.00
Mercantile Tax113.15
Income tax474.31
Junk Licenses10.00
County Treasurer229.47
Transferred from Water fund 600.00

Total receipts $5,302.43

Disbursements

March 10. W. E. Chase, police $ 2.50
16. E. C. Langworthy, assessor 11.00
J. H. Backus, assessor 11.00
J. H. Backus, making out treas. report 25.00
J. D. Cheesman, assessor 11.25
E. E. Rogers, assessor 7.00
L. E. Jordan, barn rent 10.00
Brundage Drug Co, paint 24.85
C. L. Earley, attorney 25.00
Richard Hammond, police 75.00

April 16. L. E. Jordan, barn rent 2.50
Allegany Mutual Tel. Co., rental 2.25
28. Richard Hammond, police 75.00

May 19. Richard Hammond, police 75.00
June 12. David Slocum, labor 2.00
Williams Law Book Co., assessment book 11.00
June 13. Richard Hammond, police 75.00

July 19. J. H. Backus, printing 53.55
Williams Law Book Co., tax receipts 2.50
Andover State Bank note 1,500.00
Andover State Bank interest 56.64
Allegany County Mutual Tel. Co., rental 3.35
Mrs. H. Brown, audit for board 9.00

14. Richard Hammond, police 75.00
Aug. 3. E. R. Butt & Co., public accountant 157.14
14. Richard Hammond, police 75.00
18. Andover Hook & Ladder Co., fire alarm 400.00

Sept. 14. Richard Hammond, police 75.00
Alice Clarke, Main & Center St. Bond 6.75
Mary E. Hartrum, Main & Center St. Bond 121.16
Mary E. Hartrum, Main & Center St. Int. 22.21
Mrs. Mae Green Main & Center St. Bond 500.00
Mrs. Mae Green, Main & Center St. Int. 11.25
Mable E. Bundy, Main & Center St. Int. 32.94
Sarah Danes, Main & Center St. Int. 18.00
Sophia Brundage, Main & Center St. Int. 22.50

Oct. 1. Richard Hammond, extra police 11.50
7. C. E. Hann, labor on City Hall 15.70
E. G. Birby, extra police 6.00
Evening Tribune-Times, advt. 2.86
Baker Bros., labor & material 12.53
Edith M. Brainard, tax rebate 8.40
Roy Nichols, draying 1.87
13. Richard Hammond, police 75.00
W. J. Grenolds, paving bond 200.00

Nov. 13. Richard Hammond, police 75.00
Henry Stephens, comp. Ins. 36.14
17. M. J. Gray, extra police 2.00
Dec. 13. Richard Hammond, police 75.00
14. Joe Hemmer, extra police 2.66
The Reporter Co., ad 2.40
16. Walter Edwards, barn rent 18.00
Jan. 7. Allegany Mutual Tel. Co., rental 1.80
J. D. Cheesman, insurance 30.60
Henry Carr, labor 5.00
Henry Stephens, sidewalk rebate 32.00
13. Richard Hammond, police 75.00
Feb. 5. J. H. Backus, printing 15.60
B. B. Hann,