BUGLER EARL I. HELMER

Body of Young Hero Arrives in Hornell. Funeral Sunday

The body of Earl I. Helmer, one of the soldier boys who made the supreme sacrifice on the day the 27th Division broke the Hindenberg line, arrived at Hornell Wednesday.

The funeral service will be held Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the Armory, and burial will take place in Hope Cemetery, Hornell.

The body was exhumed from the American cemetery at Bony, France, and brought to this country on the transport Somme, which arrived early last week. Special services were held at the pier at New York, the chaplains of the 27th Division having presided. The body will be held at Sherman H. Crane's undertaking parlors until Sunday morning when it will be taken to the Armory where it will lie in state from 10 o'clock in the morning until the time of the funeral.

The Arthur H. Cunningham Post of the American Legion has charge of the arrangements and the burial will be with full military honors.

The Rev. Burnside Steen, pastor of the Park Methodist Church, will preside. The pall bearers will be members of old Company K, comrades who left Hornell with him.

Bugler Helmer was 23 years old at the time he was killed, September 28, 1918.

He left Hornell with Company K, and was with that organization until it reached Spartanburg when he was transferred to Company G, 108th regiment. He distinguished himself in service. During a battle the buglers are used as runners and it was while engaged in this work that he was killed.

He had made several trips back from the front lines earlier in the day. This time however, his course led close to an abandoned tank which the Germans were shelling heavily. It was near this tank that his body was found.

With the other American dead he was buried in the cemetery at Bony.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Helmer, of Andover. He is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Vera Knight and Misses Helen and Marion Helmer of Hornell, and two brothers, Fred and Clarence Helmer, of Andover.

It is expected that the public will be admitted to the Armory during the services.

WED 50 YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Hann Traveled Life's Journey Fifty Years Together

Last Tuesday, March 15th, was the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Hann of this township. Plans could not be perfected, for reasons unavoidable, for a golden wedding, but never the less friends and relatives were coming and going all the afternoon. The Elm Valley Ladies Aid came in a body, and in the evening the Orders of Eastern Star and Masons of Andover motored to the home, and many were the happy greetings. Each organization, as well as some individuals, left their tokens in gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Hann have had fifty years of life together. Greetings on this golden day may light hearts and sunny weather still attend you on your way. Fifty years to love and cherish, Fifty years to have and hold, Hand in hand you've reached the milestone of the purest gold.

Mrs. Valencia Slocum.

COMMUNITY SURVEY

The Protestant Churches and Sunday Schools of Andover are soon to make a survey of the entire community, following the plans usually adopted by the State Sunday School Association.

Miss Neal, the Deaconess at present working for the Presbyterian Sunday School, first suggested the idea, which was enthusiastically welcomed by the local pastors. We hope for the success of the survey.

By the way, the survey will be made by the local pastors.

You Can Prevent Most Chick Losses

The too frequent heavy death rate among chicks during the critical breeding period, is one of the heaviest drains on poultry profits. Baby chicks are expensive—every one that dies is a real loss that can't be made up. It's better to raise the chicks you have than to replace them with others. There is no reason why you should not grow to maturity practically every good chick you hatch or buy. The secret lies in the feeding from the first meal the original "baby food for baby chicks."

Pratt's Buttermilk Baby Chick Food

If completely nourishes the chicks, resulting in quick, even, healthy growth and development; carries them safely over the dangerous first few weeks. Chicks eat so little during the first six weeks that the extra cost of the perfect chick food, the original "Pratt's", is next to nothing. It is made up many times by the value of the extra weight and the extra value of every chick raised.

Feed them Pratt's Buttermilk Baby Chick Food. If it doesn't save you money back.
