You Can Prevent Most Chick Losses

The too frequent heavy death rate among chicks during the critical breeding period is one of the heaviest drains on poultry profits. Baby chicks are expensive—every one that dies is a real loss that can't be made up. It's better to raise the chicks you have than to replace them with others. There is no reason why you should not grow to maturity practically every good chick you hatch or buy. The secret lies in the feeding from the first meal the original "baby food" for baby chicks.

Pratt's Buttermilk Baby Chick Food

It completely nourishes the chicks, resulting in quick, even, healthy growth and development; carries them safely over the dangerous first few weeks. Chicks eat so little during the first six weeks that the extra cost of the perfect chick food, the original "Pratt's," is next to nothing. It is made up many times by the value of the extra weight and the extra value of every chick raised.

Feed them Pratt's Buttermilk Baby Chick Food. If it doesn't keep your money back.

SECRETARY OF HORNELL C. OF C. QUILTS POST

General Reorganization of Body Likely, Report Says

Hornell, March 29. — The resignation of Albert R. Mundorf, who has been executive secretary for the past two years, was handed in last night. Mr. Mundorf said he resigned to accept a more lucrative position. He has been receiving a salary of $3800 a year and his wife has been employed as assistant secretary at a substantial salary.

Members of the Chamber objected to the heavy operating expenses of the organization. The last fiscal report showed that the chamber had spent more than $12,000 in a year. Some of the members refused to continue to pay dues. It was shown that the chamber had been forced to borrow money to pay expenses, and that it had a cash balance of only $2.36. The revolting members felt that it was far too great an expense for a city of this size.

It is expected that there will be a general reorganization of the chamber.
