South Hill

April 20.—Another week-end spell of wintry weather, which presumably was the rear-end of the western storm and tornado. We are thankful to have been on the outskirts. Much plowing was done last week, and many had ground ready for sowing.

Mrs. Ella Casey was a Wellsville visitor last week, and accompanied the funeral of John Kilbane from the D. J. McCarthy home to Andover.

Mr. and Mrs. Livermore enjoyed a short visit from their daughter and grand-daughters, who motored from Canistota Monday. The party also called upon Mr. and Mrs. Hurburt.

The "Boys" were all in attendance at Joe Lynch's raising Saturday.

Alfred University

Alfred, April 20.—Miss Mathie J. Vosler, 14, who has spent the past two years in the Near East, has returned to Constantino after several months' stay in Beirut Syria. The unit of which she has charge is co-operating with the Near East Relief Committee in meeting the refugee emergency. Her address is care Near East Relief, via British Army Post, Constantino, Turkey.

At the Wee Playhouse, on May 5, at 8 p. m., the Leukemia Verses, the Agora, the Cercle Francais, and the Cosmopolitan Club will join in producing a really significant program of four short plays. The casts for these performances have been carefully chosen from the personnel of the four clubs and are already hard at work under competent directors.

Assembly

The long-expected and eagerly anticipated Freshman "sing" occurred Wednesday morning in place of the regular Assembly music. The entertainment consisted of vocal solos by Maudie, Edna and Ethel, and two quartets. The quartets were sung by Louise Larr, and a male quartet consisting of Colton, Gibson, Johnson and Ames. Three vocalists, Sanford, Ames and Cunningham, and a concert band, which included the Freshmen, gave an exhibition of the technique of a "sing" which has been often been commended. Much credit is due to the committee and chairman, Mr. O'Keefe, for the effort in presenting such a program.

Elm Valley

Miss Ward, the Home Bureau instructor of Belmont, met the ladies at the chapel, last week Thursday. The work is very interesting.

Mrs. Wm. Howden and children are visiting Mrs. Mary Cole for a few days.

Mrs. Charles Cole was called to Richfield, N. Y., Wednesday, by the sudden sickness of her mother, Mrs. Howden.

Sunny Side

Walter Deery, John O'Hern and Will Sheehan went to Scio with calves the 13th. Several others took calves to market the same week. Thus there are five or six more hauling milk to Borden's milk station, in Elm Valley.

Jerry Harrington, a resident here forty years ago, was calling on old acquaintances and schoolmates. He said things had changed a great deal. Many of the buildings have been torn down and others built, but still he saw many old land marks to remind him of former days.

Miss Mary Deery returned home from Buffalo Monday, April 11th.

John Rockwell was a business caller in Wellsville last Thursday.

Mack and Jerome Shea were in Andover several days last week having a number of pine logs sawed, and hauling the lumber home.

About eight hundred bushels of potatoes were taken to market from this vicinity last week.

We hope the drifters are thru having such poor luck and will complete the well with no more delays.

SOME DEALERS YET NEGLECT TO LABEL THEIR SEEDS

It is evident from seed inspection work now in progress that some dealers in agricultural seeds are not aware of the provisions of the new seed laws requiring the labeling of every lot of seed offered for sale in the state. Purchasers should insist, therefore, upon seed bearing a tag or label which states the purity, germination, and the presence or absence of weed seeds in each lot of seed. Only in this way can the farmer secure the full benefit of the law.

A survey of the seed market is now being made by official inspectors and they will soon be in a position to locate persons unacquainted with the law or those who disregard its requirements.

Large quantities of alfalfa and red clover seed have been imported, but such seed is not adapted to this state. It is essential that the farmers know the source of seed used on his farm.

Due to the high prices which prevailed last year and to favorable weather conditions, many farmers have saved their own seed or expect to buy from their neighbors. Grass or clover seeds from such sources are likely to be unfit for seeding purposes as most farmers do not have the necessary equipment to clean seed properly. Also it should be remembered that the seed law applies to the sale of clover and grass seed on the farm. Only grains and cereals can be purchased on the farm where produced without labeling.

Facts of seed corn made up to the present time indicate that germination of some lots of corn is fairly good. It is highly desirable, however, that all seed stocks be tested before planting.
