

The Cycle of the Seasons

FARMING and BANKING could hardly exist without each other's help. The farmer needs money to purchase implements to till his soil, and the banker needs the farmer's crops for better prices. If he has a bank account and keeps a reasonable average balance on deposit, his credit is established and the banker is able to negotiate a loan for him. When he harvests and sells his crop he does not want to take a risk of loss, so he promptly brings his checks and cash to the bank. Then, if he meets his obligations and manages well, almost every recurring cycle of the seasons finds him in more prosperous and pleasant circumstances.

We thank our farmer friends for past favors and hope to be of more service in the future

To prove that dangerous anesthetics were not necessary in an operation for the removal of the appendix, Dr. Evan O. Kane, of Kane, Pa., aged sixty and one of the most noted surgeons of the state, sat upon an operating table and cut out his own appendix, while doctors and nurses stood by and watched the operation. Dr. Kane applied a local anesthetic.

MAY HEAR

CELEBRATED MUSICIANS
 Andover people may soon have the opportunity to hear the celebrated coloratura soprano Ellen Beach Yaw and our own Franklin Cannon in a joint recital.

They are now filling engagements in the East, having recently delighted a full house audience in New York City's new "Town Hall."

It is hoped by their friends and admirers here and by all our music lovers that in their booking for their return trip to California, it will be possible to include Andover.

HOME BUREAU MEETING

George Vickers Had a Registered Hunter

George Vickers turned his cattle out to pasture, back of the pond, Sunday morning, and when they came back at night there was one missing. They found the animal in the pasture with a bullet hole in her hip. The cow was cold when they found her, showing that she must have been shot early in the day.

This isn't the first thing of this kind that has happened in this locality and an investigation is being made. If people using high-power rifles will not use precaution enough to insure safety to people and property in the locality, there should be a stop put to their use.

DR. EZRA M. COX COMES TO ANDOVER

The Rev. Ezra M. Cox, D. D., of Denver, Colorado, will lecture in the Andover M. E. Church, Friday evening, May 6th. The admission will be free. The theme of the lecture will be "The Building up of the Kingdom of God in the Modern World." The Dr. Cox represents the Methodist Episcopal Church his message will be of interest to all Christians, and all are cordially invited, regardless of denominational affiliations.

Doors will be open at 7:30 p. m. The lecture will begin at 8.

Dr. Cox is doing a most worthwhile and significant piece of missionary work in the Epworth Good Will Industry there. Epworth Mission is located in a community which is 95 per cent. working people with very small wages and is the only institution of a religious character in all that section to extend a ministry to these people. Dr. Cox is handling the thing in a very remarkable way. He is a man of great sacrifice and has in him all the elements of a hero.
